The reason given for their removal is that business has been very dull, and the company has issued orders to have their expenses reduced. The regular day operator was kept.

The tour through Ireland was made by means of seventy well selected views of the principal points of interest in the Emerald Isle. These views were shown with the aid of McAlister's celebrated Metropolitan Stereopticon, and were explained by the Rev. Thomas F. Hickey, of Moravia, N. Y. O'Connell Hall was crowded to its utmost capacity last Sunday evening, the occasion being a lecture given by J. W. Burgess, the Danville Breeze man, on the evils of intemperance. Mr. Burgess came at the request of the St. Patrick's Total Abstinence Society, who evidently knew how to attract a crowd. The people expected a good lecture, and were not disappointed. "Joe" was in good trim and his address was filled with good sound sense, interspersed occasionally with some fun. The audience were greatly interested and thought the lecture too short. Another time we hope to hear him again.

COOK OPERA HOUSE.

In "A Nutmeg Match," which will be the sensational attraction at the Cook Opera House during the half-week beginning with the Washington's birthday matinee, Thursday, Messrs. Litt & Davis have a play with many claims to popularity. It represents an interesting and attractive side of rural life in New England and a character that at once engages the attention, in Cinders, an uneducated but sterling country girl. The action of the piece is distributed through four acts and the climax is reached in the great pile-driving scene, where one of these monstrous machines is seen in full motion. There is also a real boiler and engine, the former with a full head of steam on.

Of "The Dazzler," the New Orleans Times-Democrat says:

"The Dazzler" was here last year. It was good then; everybody who saw it went away highly pleased. This year it is better. The piece is the same rollicking laugh-provoking piece which was seen last season; but few changes having been made; but the people are much better than those who faced the footlights then. From the time the curtain went up on the first act until it fell amid the wild cheers of the audience at the close of the performance there was not a moment allowed for anything else but the most bitious laughter. People cried through the exertion of laughter so long and heartily, and every member of the company was accorded his just share of applause.

"The Dazzler" will be seen at Cook's Feb. 19, 20, 21.

THE WONDERLAND MUSEE THEATRE.

The attractions arranged for this amusement place for the coming week, will be of a novel character.

In the Lecture Hall every stage will be filled with something interesting and instructive. The one particular feature will be "Me and Him," who will appear at every performance in their laughable burlesque boxing bouts. On another stage, Strasburger and his canine paradox, and trained monkeys will perform new and interesting tricks. Chas. Tripp, the armless man, will be seen on another stage.

One of the brightest programmes ever seen here has been arranged for the Theatre and will be composed of such artists as Charlie Diamond, the Milanais Monstrel, and the originator of the Harp song and dance "Dale," clever musical wonder; Bowen Brothers, the gymnasts on the horizontal bars; and the three Droles, grotesques, who will close the show with their pantomime.

There will be other artists of renown to complete a show of unusual length and merit. Four performances are given daily at this house. Everything shows a vast improvement since the change of management.
