A TOWN WRECKED.

SCENE OF DESOLATION AND DEATH AT PHILLIPS, WIS.

The Dead List Now Numbers Nearly a Score. Property Loss Over a Million. Neighboring Towns Come Nobly to the Rescue With Provisions and Funds. Several Bodies Missing.

MINNEAPOLIS, July 30.—The terrible scene at Phillips, Wis., all description—the blackened faces of those who fought to save their homes starved with bloodshot eyes at the head of ruins which marked their once happy homes.

Not since the terrible forest fires destroyed Peshtigo has anything occurred which will compare with the scene of ruin here.

A committee of citizens from Ashland arrived with a special train of provisions. It was the first material relief to arrive and it arrived just in time to keep the people from actual suffering from want of food.

The provisions were given out in small quantities, so as to make them last as long as possible.

Men and women walk the streets all but grimed with dirt, and are begging for food.

One church, a town hall and some small buildings are all that is left standing. They were immediately converted into shelter for the destitute, but only a few of the women and children could crowd into them.

A vast multitude had to remain without shelter and food, but they brought in from neighboring towns and improvised huts are being utilized.

Gov. Peck and his staff have arrived from Madison. A dozen cars of provisions have arrived from various cities and the organization for relief has become complete.

Gov. Peck met with the committee at the town hall and offered many suggestions. He brought a large quantity of sheeting with him, which is being made into tents. Great crowds of soldiers who were chased out of their city by the flames Friday are returning to look over the ruins.

Already lumber is being shipped in for the purpose of rebuilding and operations have already begun. The local relief committee organized with W. W. Duxbury as chairman, E. H. Hudson as secretary, E. H. Winchester, treasurer, W. H. Wilson, chairman of the committee on correspondence and information.

It is a remarkable coincidence that all of the terrible fires in northern Wisconsin have occurred July 27. It was only July 27, 1882 that Iron River, in the extreme northern part of Wisconsin was totally wiped out by the flames. All the state responded promptly to the call for aid.

Fairfield, on the Saginaw river, was almost totally wiped out by fire July 27, 1882, and now comes the total destruction of Phillips on Friday, July 27, 1884.

Two more bodies have been recovered from the river where the terrible hole was cut. Those of James Locke and one of his children.

The benchouse on which the desperate men, women and children took refuge was shoved from the shore. Before it had gone the section of the flames drew it right up into a furnace of fire. The boats were either overturned or the people jumped. It is now estimated that 15 bodies are still in this place. It is supposed that the bodies of several children are buried under the ruins of the wagon and feedtrough, which, it is claimed, gave way while they were trying to escape from the flames to the peninsula which runs out into the lake, approaching closely the location of the John R. Davis Lumber company plant.

Mrs. Cliss who was picked up after clinging to a raft returned last for an hour, finding it empty and it is thought she will recover.

The list of the larger losses approximately: John R. Davis Lumber company, $50,000; Fayette Shaw Tannery company, $10,000; Wisconsin Central company, $30,000; Jump River Lumber company, $30,000; city and county property, $75,000; Filfield Manufacturing company, $50,000; Duluth South Shore and Atlantic Rail way company, $10,000; F. This is not counting the $50,000 loss to the residents owned by the city. WELLMAN, ALLRIGHT.

Spoken by a sealer in Far Northern Waters.

LONDON, July 28.—Carl Siewers, the Norwegian Arctic enthusiast, has received a telegram from the captain of the Erling, a Norwegian whaler, who has arrived at the island of Tromsø, Finnmark, Norway.

The captain of the sealer said in his dispatch that near Amsterman island, lat. 84 N and long 9, the Erling spoke the

CAPTAIN PEDERSEN OF THE JARL.

Ragnvald Jarl, the steamer which was conveying the Wellman or American Arctic expedition to the edge of the pack ice.

The Ragnvald Jarl, in reply to signals, asked to be reported at the nearest place the Erling touched at, saying that all were well on board.

The Ragnvald Jarl, the captain of the Erling, also reported, had been beset by pack ice, which had delayed her progress considerably.

It is said that Captain Pedersen, Wellman, and his party were in a fix of the pack ice, and that they are now well on their way to the North Pole.

POLICE OFFICERS CONVICTED.

Captain Doherty and His Wardens Dismissed From the Force.

NEW YORK, July 27.—Police Captain Michael Doherty of the Leonard street station is a private citizen. So also are his wardens, Bernard Mehan and John Hook, who served under him in the Fourth precinct of Fifth street station.

After having deliberated an hour and 20 minutes the police commissioners found Captain Doherty and six wardens Hook and Mehan guilty of the charges preferred against them of receiving "bribe money" from Mrs. Augusta Thuroff for permitting her to continue her disorderly house at 23 Second avenue.

The broken officers immediately delivered their resignations to President Martin J. Louis J. Grant said he should appeal the case to the supreme court and predicted that all three would be back on duty in six months.

President Martin announced: "Officers Emmanuel Meyer and David Mallon are suspended from duty pending their trial on the charge of receiving money from Mrs. Thuroff on a promise of protection of her business."

He then added: "I am directed by the board to prefer charges against sergeant Mack Kowak, E. J. and Charles W. King, Mrs. Thuroff's bodyman and the sergeants will be suspended from duty."

Three Children's Terrible Death.

HARTFORD, Conn., July 30.—Raymond, 9; LeRoy, 7; and Freddy, 4, the children of James W. Gannon, a locomotive engineer on the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad who have been missing since Thursday afternoon, when they went to bathe in the Connecticut river, were found dead in the closet of a freight car standing on a siding back near the ninth street crossing at their home.

After numerous searches for two days Chief of Police Bill O'Brien ordered the freight car and railroad property searched and two policemen were drawn to the caboose by the smell of decomposing flesh. In the trunk of a closet, shut by a spring lock, they found the three bodies entirely nude and badly decomposed. The inquest by Medical Examiner Fuller discovered no evidences of foul play and he gave a verdict of accidental death by asphyxiation.

The bodies were newly packed and the children went in to play, a pack of canvas being found in the closet. It is supposed they closed the door and could not open it, and soon suffocated in the stifling hot air of the narrow enclosure.

Coxyette Leaders Desert.

WASHINGTON, July 27.—Large and indignant delegations from the industrial armies encamped about Washington applied at the room of the house committee on labor, not to urge their bills, but to plead for assistance. They expected that, if they were not helped, they would be abandoned, their leaders had deserted them and they sought congressional aid to return to the place whence they had come.

Coxyette men said that their leader had left them in the lurch. Kelly's men averred that their leader had drifted away several days ago and that they did not expect to see him again, while Fry's men said their leader had probably abandoned them. The men who were brought from the Pacific coast by Kelly were particularly indignant and expressed a fervent desire to tar and feather their general, Mr. McCann, told them there was not the slightest chance of a government appropriation for their return and sent them to the local superintendent of charities.

Defaulter Love Arraigned.

WATKINS, N. Y., July 31.—John W. Love, the defaulting cashier of the First National bank of this place, who was captured in Chicago, was arraigned here. He is charged with embezzling money belonging to the bank obtained by the issuing of certificates of deposits. Bail was fixed at $25,000 and the prisoner committed to the Chemung jail at Elmira, and was taken there in default of bail. The examination was then adjourned until Aug. 4 at 10 o'clock at Commissioner Bentley's office in Horse Heads. He will be taken before the United States grand jury at Buffalo on Sept. 17 and if indicted there, will probably be tried at Auburn in November. His shortage is now fixed at $70,000. Love claims he had no accomplices, and that his money was lost in speculation.
