A FULL CONFESSION.

NO DOUBT REMAINS AS TO THE GIBBS MURDER.

Clarence Robinson, When Shown, In Cleveland, His Wife's Confession, Breaks Down and Makes a Clean Breast of It. The Woman It Was Who Fired the Fatal Shot.

BUFFALO, Oct. 16.—No doubt remains as to the truth of Sadie Robinson's confession that she it was who killed Montgomery Gibbs, the young lawyer, in this city last April. Her story has been corroborated by both her husband and Snyder, the cousin. Mrs. Robinson has also made further statements, which coincide fully with that of her husband. It was the woman who fired the fatal shot and not her husband as was suspected by the police.

Assistant Superintendent of Police Cusack wired Superintendent Bull from Cleveland that a full confession had been made by Robinson and that as soon as extradition papers could be secured he would bring both Robinson and Snyder to this city.

A press dispatch from Cleveland says: Clarence Robinson, the convicted burglar in the county jail, made a confession which confirms what his wife had already told the police and removes all doubt about the murder of Montgomery Gibbs, the Buffalo attorney, in April last.

When Deputy Superintendent of Police Cusack and District Attorney Kenefick of Buffalo arrived here they were armed with confession which Mrs. Robinson had made to the police at Buffalo. They went at once to the county jail and were shown into the corridor where Robinson was. The prisoner was asked to tell the officers what he knew about the Gibbs murder. For two hours they fired questions at Robinson, trying him first on one tack and then on another. He dodged and squirmed and fought them at every turn.

At first the prisoner showed plenty of assurance, but finally it became apparent that he was giving way under the strain. One of the turnkeys took him aside and urged him to be a man and make a clean breast of the matter. Robinson had admitted that he was implicated in the murder, but declared that his wife fired the shot which killed Gibbs. All of a sudden the prisoner broke down completely. Bowing his head on his hands he began to sob. Then he told his story.

"When we arrived in Buffalo last spring," he said, "we were in want. We lived first at 190 East Eagle street, but during the week before the murder we had a room at 146 North Division street.

"When we started out that night Sadie wore men's clothes and we each carried a 32 calibre revolver. We walked along Delaware avenue. Gibbs approached us and I said to Sadie: 'Here comes a swell guy.'

"He looks too big for us, she said. With that he had almost reached us and, levelling my revolver at him, I ordered him to throw up his hands. Instead of doing so, he struck me with a cane or umbrella. Then he grabbed my right wrist and we had a fight for the revolver. When he laid hold of my wrist, the revolver was fired, but the bullet went into the air. A moment later there was another shot and the bullet entered Gibbs' left arm. He fell toward me and we clinched. Then it was that Sadie pulled her revolver and shot him in the head. He dropped and we started to rob him when we saw some one coming.

"We skipped out, climbing over the hedge fence and running between two houses. We separated and met on a back street. Then we walked around the block and back past the place of the murder, but on the opposite side of the street. They were loading him into a wagon as we went by."

At the conclusion of his statement Robinson broke down and wept bitterly.

In her statement to the Buffalo police Mrs. Robinson claimed that Robinson had fired the three shots and that she did not use her revolver.

Turnkey Abrams has the statement of two persons, however, to whom Mrs. Robinson admitted that she had fired the shot which killed Gibbs. One of them is Bert Snyder. Abrams, with Snyder in custody, will appear before the grand jury in Buffalo on Wednesday.

The authorities here have promised to defer the sentencing of Robinson for 10 days in order to give the Buffalo grand jury a chance to pass upon his case. If he is indicted he will be delivered to the authorities of Erie county, N. Y., for trial.

OLD HOLLAND LAND OFFICE.

Imposing Patriotic Ceremonies at Its Dedication at Batavia.

BATAVIA, N. Y., Oct. 16.—The ceremonies of the dedication of the old Holland land office took place here today in the presence of many distinguished persons and the greatest crowd of people ever assembled in the city.

Among the distinguished guests were Hon. John G. Carlisle, secretary of the treasury; Secretary of State Gresham, Secretary of War Lamont, Secretary of the Navy Herbert, Postmaster General Bissell and Secretary of the Interior Hoke Smith. Besides many other national and state officials.

The services were opened by a selection by the Sixty fifth regiment band, followed by a prayer by Right Rev. Arthur C. Coxe, bishop of Western New York.

Music by a chorus of 100 voices then entertained the vast crowd assembled, after which the dedication poem was read by its author, John H. Yates. More music followed and then Dr. J. W. Le Seur, chairman of the committee of arrangements, arose and in a few well chosen remarks introduced Secretary Carlisle.

The secretary was warmly applauded by the assembled crowds. When the noise had somewhat subsided, the secretary, bowing in recognition of this hearty greeting, proceeded to address the gathering in a speech appropriate to the occasion.

The secretary's address was listened to throughout the hour he occupied with the most profound attention and many times was interrupted by hearty applause. He reviewed the history of the Holland purchase, dwelt feelingly upon the stirring times through which the edifice had passed and paid a high tribute to his distinguished predecessor, Robert Morris, at the mention of whose name a storm of applause was given.

The secretary's remarks were earnest and patriotic throughout, and when he had concluded after alluding in terms of warmest praise to the patriotic spirit which had prompted the work exemplified here today, he was again heartily cheered.

The ceremonies concluded with a musical selection and a closing prayer and benediction by Rev. Philos G. Cook, the oldest clergyman on the Holland purchase.

SMALL SIZED RIOT.

Cloakmakers, a Contractor, His Wife and a Policeman Involved.

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—A small sized riot occurred in Delancey street. Morris Cohen, a clothing contractor in a small way, has not been on good terms with the union men for some time past. His wife has also aroused the enmity of the cloakmakers by conducting a non union boarding house.

She was attacked by several of the strikers and Cohen, to protect his wife, fired several shots into the crowd.

Policeman Healy discovered the trouble. Forgetting that he did not have on his uniform, he attempted to arrest the participants.

The members of the mob thought he was a nonunion man and the officer was roughly handled, his left shoulder being dislocated. It was necessary to call out the reserves before the trouble came to an end.

Starts From Brooklyn to Walk to Chicago Against Time.

BROOKLYN, Oct. 16.—George Peterson, a Norwegian, who is 23 years of age, started from the city hall on a tramp to Chicago, where he hopes to arrive in 35 days. His idea is to beat the record of the French journalist, who did the distance in 45 days a year ago. He started without a cent, having only the good wishes of success from a few friends. He wore a heavy suit, a sweater and thick soled shoes and carried the American flag in his right hand.

His route will be up the Hudson to Albany, to Buffalo and along the lakes. Like the Frenchman he will beg his way.

Observe Mars This Week.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—The opposition of Mars this week will excite general interest. Our neighbor will not be quite so near as in August, 1892, but the difference is not very great (40,000,000 miles against 35,000,000), and the planet will be so much further north and so much higher in the sky, that the astronomers will really have a much better chance at it than they did two years ago. It is reasonable to hope for interesting results and the possible solution of some very puzzling problems.

PATENTS

FOR INVENTIONS.

Equal with the interest of those having claims against the government is that of INVENTORS, who often lose the benefit of valuable inventions because of the incompetency or inattention of the attorneys employed to obtain their patents. Too much care cannot be exercised in employing competent and reliable solicitors to procure patents, for the value of a patent depends greatly, if not entirely, upon the care and skill of the attorney.

With the view of protecting inventors from worthless or careless attorneys, and of seeing that inventions are well protected by valid patents, we have retained counsel expert in patent practice, and therefore are prepared to Obtain Patents in the United States and all Foreign Countries, Conduct Interferences, Make Special Examinations, Prosecute Rejected Cases, Register Trade-Marks and Copyrights, Render Opinions as to Scope and Validity of Patents, Prosecute and Defend Infringement Suits, Etc., Etc.

If you have an invention on hand send a sketch or photograph thereof, together with a brief description of the important features, and you will be at once advised as to the best course to pursue. Models are seldom necessary. If others are infringing on your rights, or if you are charged with infringement by others, submit the matter to us for a reliable OPINION before acting on the matter.
