TERRIBLE COLLIERY ACCIDENT

Mine in England Flooded and 20 Lives Are Probably Lost

LONDON, Jan. 15.—An accident has occurred at the Big Lake colliery at Audley, North Staffordshire, by which it is thought at least 20 persons lost their lives.

Two hundred and thirty men and boys were at work in the colliery when there was a sudden rush of water from the old workings.

About 70 men reached the shaft and were promptly hoisted out of danger. The pumps were promptly put at work and rescuing parties descended into the mine.

The news of the accident spread with great rapidity and a wildly excited crowd was seen gathered about the pithead.

It was not long before some of the miners came to the surface and every fresh arrival at the mouth of the pit was greeted with cheers.

By 5 o'clock 100 of the men and boys had been rescued. Of the 20 who were thought to have been killed, 12 were in the lower workings when the mine was flooded and that they had been drowned.

The rescuers, according to their estimate, saved the bodies of 12 of the dead.

THREE SOLDIERS DROWNED

Crowd witnesses the accident, but unable to do them.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—The United States soldiers left in Ning sea fort in front with the intention of capturing the fort.

The soldiers were taken by surprise and the Chinese fired at them as they were in the moving line.

They drifted for some time, when a heavy wave swept the boat, throwing the three men into the water. They succeeded in getting on the keel of the boat and tried piteously for help.

Although there was a crowd of people on the shore, no assistance could be rendered, and one by one they fell into the water and were drowned.

PATENTS FOR INVENTIONS.

Equal with the interest of those having claims against the government is that of INVENTORS, who often lose the benefit of valuable inventions because of the incompetency or inattention of the attorneys employed to obtain their patents.

Too much care cannot be exercised in employing competent and reliable solicitors to procure patents, for the value of a patent depends greatly, if not entirely, upon the care and skill of the attorney.

With the view of protecting inventors from worthless or careless attorneys, and of seeing that inventions are well protected by valid patents, we have retained counsel expert in patent practice, and therefore are prepared to Obtain Patents in the United States and all Foreign Countries, Conduct Interferences, Make Special Examinations, Prosecute Rejected Cases, Register Trade-Marks and Copyrights, Render Opinions as to Scope and Validity of Patents, Prosecute and Defend Infringement Suits, Etc., Etc.

If you have an invention on hand send a sketch or photograph thereof, together with a brief description of the important features, and you will be at once advised as to the best course to pursue. Models are seldom necessary. If others are infringing on your rights, or if you are charged with infringement by others, submit the matter to us for a reliable OPINION before acting on the matter.
