NOT SO HARD AS ET SERMS. The idea of being able to lavent some thing strikes most people as being very difficult; this delusion the Company wishes to dispel. It is the simple things and small inmoney, and the complex ones are selde profitable. Almost everybody, at some time or snother, conceives an idea, which, if patented, would probably be worth to him souture. Unfortunately such ideas are usually dismissed without thought. The simple inventions like the car window which could be cally life up and down without breaking the manney back, the sance pan, the collar bettien; the rank lock, the bottle stopped, the snow above; are things that almost part that almost way of shoppying upon. everyous sees some way of improving upon, and it is these kind of inventions that bring the greatest returns to the author. The prize we offer will be paid at the end of each month, whether the application has een acted upon by the Patent Office or not. Every competitor must apply for a patent on bis invention through us, and whether be mecures the prize or not, the inventor will have a valuable patent.
