Funeral of Miss Madden.—St. Joseph's Church to be repaired and new windows to be put in.

ST. BRIDGET'S.

Miss Mary A. Madden died on Friday, the 2nd, at about 4 o'clock A. M., at her late home, No. 358 North St. Paul street.

Her death occurred as a sudden shock to her large circle of friends, as she had been ill but a few days. She attended church on the Sunday preceding her death. Early in the week she complained of a severe cold, but it was not until Wednesday that her case took a turn for the worse. Pneumonia developed rapidly and efforts to save her life were unavailing.

The deceased was at one time a teacher in No. 9 school. She was much interested in the charities of the church and often participated in literary entertainments.

She is survived by three sisters, Mrs. John Brophy, of Elmira, Julia and Agnes, and one brother, the Rev. M. T. Madden, of Trumansburg, N. York.

The funeral was held on Monday morning at 10 o'clock from St. Bridget's Church.

Solemn High Mass of requiem was celebrated by Rev. Thomas Hendrick, of St. Bridget's Church, with Rev. J. J. Donnelly of Victor, as deacon; Rev. Felix O'Hanlon, of Clifton Springs, as sub-deacon, and Rev. Wm. Gleason, of the Church of the Immaculate Conception, as master of ceremonies.

In the sanctuary were Very Rev. James F. O'Hare, D. D., V. G., of the Immaculate Conception; Rev. J. P. Stewart, M. R., of St. Mary's; Rev. A. A. Hughes, of the Cathedral; Rev. J. FitzSimons, M. R., of Lima; Rev. Jas. O'Connor, of Seneca Falls, and formerly pastor of St. Bridget's; Rev. J. W. Hendrick, of Livonia; Rev. Angelo Lugero, of Penn Yan; Rev. Thomas L. Rosier, of St. Mary's Hospital; Rev. Martin Hendrick, of Avon, and Rev. Richard O'Donnell, of St. Bridget's Church, Buffalo. Rev. M. T. Madden, of Trumansburg, a brother of the deceased, escorted his sisters among the mourners.

The choir of St. Bridget's sang the musical selections under the direction of Thomas F. Kearney, of St. Mary's choir, and assisted by Mrs. Kate C. Mahon, Mrs. Charles E. Cunningham, Mrs. Vogt, directress, and Chas. Mitzy, of Corpus Christi choir; Mrs. J. B. O'Connor, Prof. Eugene Bonn, of the Cathedral choir; M. L. Hughes, director of the choir of the Immaculate Conception; Miss Catharine Moran, Miss McCarthy, Charles Lane, and the Polyhymnian quartette, composed of Thomas F. Kearney, W. J. Kane, W. F. Fredmore, and P. E. Kearney.

Mrs. Mahon sang "Dies Irae," and Mrs. Cunningham sang for an offertory "O Salutaris."

At the close of the Mass Vicar-General O'Hare pronounced the last absolutions. As the cortege passed out of the church the Polyhymnian quartette sang "Life is Gone." The interment was at Holy Sepulchre cemetery, where the services were conducted by Rev. T. A. Hendrick. The bearers were James Fee, M. Stupp, Thomas Galvin, Patrick Moagher, R. J. Lennon, and John J. Heveron.

ST. JOSEPH'S CHURCH.

St. Joseph's Church is to be thoroughly renovated and improved. Already generous members of the congregation have offered to donate new windows to the church. These it may be said, will be handsome and elaborate. To defray the expense of the other improvements it has been decided to hold a grand fair during the month of May next. The various societies connected with the church will assist the congregation in this undertaking and do all in their power to make it a grand success. The wine room will be in charge of Branch 81, C. M. B. A.

ST. MARY'S.

The Lenten services on Wednesday evening were largely attended, the church being packed to the doors. Rev. Owen Farron preached an eloquent sermon.

Miss Cook is a Rochester girl, her family being old members of St. Patrick's parish, and a graduate of Nazareth Academy Class of '91. Since her graduation Miss Cook has held the position of governess in the family of Mr. Joseph Cunningham, and has studied voice culture under Mrs. B. Hamy.

BUY THE SHAMROCK.

The following beautiful lines will touch a tender chord in many an exiled Irish patriot's heart:

Buy the shamrock, avonoe, from the poor little girl,
In the dawn of the morn I found it.
On a patriot's breast it is purer than pearl.
With the gold of a good heart around it.
Buy a shamrock, again! it's the emblem of God.
With the dew on its leaf, like a tear in His pity for men, it was culled from the sod Of the beautiful meadows of Erin.

The thistle may do for the braw bonnie north;
The rose to the Saxon is sweeter;
The Weichman may value the lock at its worth.
But the shamrock than all is completer.

And so it's the shamrock I offer to you;
And wear it to-day for the glory
Of the dear little isle of your own, where it grew.

And the preacher who gave it a story,
'Twas on Tara the saint made it holy and blest,
An emblem forever to Erin;
Ah, do let me pin it here on your breast!

There is not a pease so cheerin'
For it speaks of your mother, and father, and all,
It speaks of the land you were born in;
It tells of the beautiful voices that call
From the earth to eternity's meadin'.

It's a tongue that is preaching, for ever, or rhone;
The leaves of it could not be meeter:
They are Faith, Hope and Charity, set on the throne.

Of its stem, there is nothing completer;
They are hearts, sure, as perfect as ever was seen,
Will you buy? and God bless you this morning!
Ah there now you're decked with the loveliest green
That ever a breast was adornin'!

MONEY FOR CHARITIES.

It is well known that there were two amendments adopted by the late Constitutional Convention in regard to education and charities which were regarded as conflicting. It was held by some that the educational amendment forbade the appropriation of money even to the teachers in charitable institutions.

City Attorney Rodenbeck Monday sent to City Auditor Mann his opinion in the matter of the city paying out money for the support of sectarian schools in orphan asylums. Mr. Rodenbeck decided that the claims of the teachers of the several schools partly under sectarian or institutional control are valid.

It will be recalled that a few days ago Auditor Mann refused to audit the accounts of the teachers of the Rochester Orphan Asylum, St. Joseph's Orphan Asylum, St. Mary's Orphan Asylum, St. Patrick's Orphan Asylum, the Church Home, the Industrial School of the Sisters of Mercy and the Home of Industry. The salaries of these several teachers amounted in all to $720. Now that the City Attorney has decided that the claims are valid, the money will be paid to the teachers upon application.

The City Attorney in his opinion first reviews the act of the Legislature which gave Boards of Education right to distribute school money for the support of incorporated orphan asylums, and then cites the case of St. Patrick's Orphan Asylum against the Board of Education of Rochester, in which it was held that that and like institutions were entitled to share in moneys raised in this city, or received for school purposes, except certain moneys received from the State, in a rateable proportion to the children taught by them with the other children of the city attending the public schools under the charge of the Board of Education, precisely the same and upon the same principles as if they attended such schools.

"So far as the statute goes, the City Attorney stated, 'the institutions mentioned are entitled to the amounts allowed them by the Board of Education. I believe that this statute has not been repealed by any provision of the Constitution. Section 4 of Article IX, of the Constitution, which prohibits the use of public moneys for sectarian educational institutions, has no application to the question under consideration. The orphan asylums mentioned are not schools or institutions of learning within the meaning of that section. They are charitable institutions provided for the care, maintenance and education of the fatherless and motherless children of our city. But if Section 4 of Article IX, of the Constitution is applicable its provisions are so far modified by Section 14 of Article VIII, as to raise the prohibition which it contains so far as the institutions under consideration are concerned. The two sections must be construed together to get at the intention of the Constitutional Convention."
