ERIN'S SAINT.

His Memory Honored throughout the Diocese - Religiously and Patriotically - An Eloquent Panegyric by Rev. Felix O'Hanlon.

ST. PATRICK'S CATHEDRAL, ROCHESTER.

At St. Patrick's Cathedral at 10:30 o'clock Sunday morning Pontifical High Mass was celebrated by Bishop McQuaid with Rev. James P. Kiernan assistant priest; Rev. Dr. Hanna, of St. Bernard's Seminary, deacon; Rev. Father Hughes, sub-deacon; Rev. James J. Hartley and Rev. Felix O'Hanlon, deacons of honor, and Monsignor De Reggo master of ceremonies.

Rev. Father O'Hanlon delivered the panegyric on St. Patrick. Father O'Hanlon sketched the history of St. Patrick and said that to the work of the saint was due the steadfastness of the Irish people in the faith, notwithstanding all persecutions.

Members of the Cathedral congregation say Father O'Hanlon's eulogy of the apostle of Ireland was one of the most eloquent they ever listened to.

ENTERTAINMENTS GIVEN BY AUBURN CATHOLIC SOCIETIES.

In the rooms of several of the Catholic societies Monday evening there was appropriate observance of the feast of St. Patrick. The Ladies Auxiliary held forth at the rooms of Division No. 1, A. O. H., and gave a good time to all their friends.

Following the rendition of the programme plentifully filled boxes were auctioned off and quite a sum realized for the organization. There was much merriment during the sale and it with regret that the party broke up shortly after midnight.

Lycium hall in Green street was crowded Monday evening. An entertainment arranged in honor of St. Patrick was given by the children of St. Mary's school and it was a big success. All the participants acquitted themselves most creditably.

The spacious hall of Division No. 2, A. O. H., held a large gathering Monday evening. A pleasing programme had been arranged and the evening was attentively listened to. John J. White made a most acceptable master of ceremonies.

MY READ.

Last Sunday was observed here by old and young, it being the feast of our Patron Saint.

Our Rev. Pastor, after reading the gospel of the day, commented on our apostle's life, and made some very pleasing remarks which seemed fitting, considering the love he bears his good parishioners. He labored among them for many a year. He wished to remind them of the early years who emigrated from that same island of saints and crossed the seas to find themselves in oppression and tyrant rule to find a new and independent home in this new world. Many of them located here when a vast wilderness. So, indeed they brought their faith with them to a foreign shore.

We see the inclination of the Irish people manifested in their lives. Where will you find in history a parallel of the change which came upon the Irish people from Paganism to Christianity, so their country became an island of saints, the order of the monastery, and of the teaching, order of learning, not only for their own people, but for the thinking men of all other nations. Their schools and monasteries, with their treasure, were destroyed by the Danes. However, few were preserved by the fugitive monks. Then came the Cromwellian days of the infamous Penal Laws that deprived her of her liberty; tried to drag her from her faith. The Irish man said you may take all, but we will suffer or die rather than give up our faith. God magnified that little nation, and the very ships that carried her emigrants to foreign shores were the means of spreading the seeds of their religion. So they went to other lands to teach the Cross, as it has been taught to them, and they never forgot the land where they saw the Cross for the first time.

Let us then be true men and women, true to the Cross, and true to the Shamrock.

DANVILLE.

The A. O. H. entertainment on Monday evening was a decided success. Mr. Burgess delivered his noted lecture on "Meters." There was music by Prof. Hall and Sweet, and by the Crescent Mandolin, and last, though by no means least, the laughable farce "The Irish Tutor." The following participated: Misses Alice Rowan and Matilda Barrett, Messrs. Dowling, Kelly, Morgan, Connor and Brogan. After the entertainment a banquet was held in Music Hall, and the visitors from surrounding towns were hospitably entertained by the members of the Branch.

Sunday, March 17th, the Ancient Order of Hibernians received Holy Communion in a body in St. Patrick's Church.

CALEDONIA.

The Rev. Wm. Harrington, of the Industrial School delivered a very eloquent lecture on St. Patrick before a very large audience at Opera Hall on Monday evening. After the lecture the drama "The Danger Signal" was very creditably rendered, and called forth much applause. The following is the cast of characters: Mr. William Moore, Mr. Walter Farrell, Mr. James Graney, Daniel Dougherty, Andrew Lee, George Wood, Patrick Quinn, Misses Alice Kelly, Mary Lee, Jennie Martin, Katie Garvey.

TRUMANBURG.

The festival and lecture given in the Opera House last Monday evening was a success. The lecture was delivered by Father O'Neil of Phelps, on the life and works of St. Patrick, and will long be remembered.

OLYDE.

The A. O. H. of Clyde, attended Holy Communion in a body, at nine o'clock mass on St. Patrick's day. A very eloquent sermon, on St. Patrick was given by Rev. J. J. Gleason. In the evening a special programme was rendered by the members of the society, which consisted of solos and speeches. This society is increasing very rapidly, and it is the wish of this congregation that this grand and Catholic society may forever prosper in their good work.
