NEWS DOTS FROM IRELAND

Interesting Paragraphs Concerning the Doings of Our Friends Across the Ocean,

Gathered from All Parts of the Emerald Isle for Our Readers.

CONNAUGHT.

GALWAY.

Influenza, in London, recently claimed a victim in a distinguished Galway man, Judge Digby Seymour, of the English Northern Circuit. He had been representative successively of Hull and Southampton. He was a graduate of Trinity College, and in politics had been by turns both Liberal and Conservative.

The Judges arrived in Galway recently, and the Commission was opened in the town and county courthouses. Justice Johnson presided in the county court and congratulated the grand jury on the peaceable state of the county, and mentioned that there was only one matter of importance, that of firing into a house reported. Justice O'Brien opened the Commission in the town court. There was not a single criminal case, and the High Sheriff presented the Judge with a pair of white gloves.

LEITRIM.

An old and highly respected Leitrim gentleman passed away at an advanced age, recently, in the person of Dr. Nash, J.P., Grouse Lodge, Drumkeeran. He had been dispensary doctor in the Manorhamilton Union, but retired on a pension some years ago. Nominally a Conservative in politics, he was well known to have National tendencies and on more than one occasion gave his vote to the Nationalist side in the Manorhamilton Board-room, where he used to attend as an ex-officio. His charity endeared him to all who knew him. His funeral was largely attended by the representatives of all creeds and classes.

MAYO.

The eviction of seven families in Coogue Middle and adjoining localities, on the Dillon property, was effected recently. The evictions were carried out under the supervision of Messrs. Jackson (under agent). Stewart (land steward), Forbes, Cassidi, Duignan and others. The parties evicted were:—Anthony Kilduff, Pat Davin, L. Conboy, Widow Flynn, Widow McNicholas, Michael Mullen, and Kearney (Liscat). The four first-named were not re-admitted, but the remaining three were allowed back to their holdings as caretakers. In consequence of the extreme poverty existing in the locality the evicted parties will be a burden on the rates, and it is felt that unless the Government comes to the relief of the people in the district some sad tales—similar to those of '48—will be told. Widow McNicholas was re-admitted in consequence of the illness of her child and the fact that her mother was in an extremely delicate condition.

ROSCOMMON.

The Quarter Sessions were opened in Roscommon recently. There being no cases for hearing, the judge was presented with white gloves.

We regret to announce the death of Miss B. Agnes Kenny, daughter of Mr. A. Kenny, Ballygar, which took place recently at the Ursuline Convent. Sligo,

Mr. John Hanly of Smithfield, Elphin, and Mr. Thomas Hanly, Ashbrook, Strokestown, have been appointed to the Commission of the Peace for the county Roscommon.

SLIGO.

The Lord Chancellor has appointed Dr. McNulty, of Skreen, to the Commission of the Peace for the county of Sligo. Mr. James Hannan, Vice-President of the Ballymote Irish National Federation, and Mr. John J. Keenan, T.C., Sligo, have also been appointed to the Commission of the Peace. These appointments have given great satisfaction among the people. Mr. Keenan, who filled the position of civic delegate for Sligo last term, is a thorough Nationalist.

LEINSTER.

CARLOW.

The solemn profession of a religieuse took place at the Presentation Convent, Mooncoin, county Kilkenny, in the presence of a large congregation, including many priests, the nuns of the community, the relatives and friends of the young lady who was to make her final vows, and the people of the parish, in the Parochial Church, adjoining the convent The young lady who received the black veil was Miss Mary A. O'Neill (in religion Sister Mary Gabriel), eldest daughter of Joseph O'Neill, Esq., tobacco manufacturer, Bagnalstown, county Carlow. The Most Rev. Dr. Brownrigg, Bishop of the Diocese of Ossory, presided at the ceremonies.

DUBLIN.

Mr. J. C. Ashlin has been selected as architect for the new lunatic asylum which is to be built at Portrane, at an estimated cost of £200,000.

Scarcely any body of men has suffered so much from the recent outbreak of influenza as the Dublin Metropolitan Police. Close on 100 of the men were laid up, many of them are in the hospitals, while others were confined to their beds at home. The illness, however, is not of a very serious nature. A large number of the clerks in the Bank of Ireland were also down with influenza.

KILKENNY.

Miss Elizabeth Doheny, Corrstown, Ballycallan, has been appointed manageress of the Kilmanagh Co-operative Creamery, at a salary of £60 per annum.

At a special meeting of the Kilkenny County Infirmary, Very Rev. Dean Hare presiding—for the vacant position of intern nurse there were three applicants—Bridget O'Meara, Blackmail street; Mary Murphy, Bonnettstown; and Elizabeth Tyndall, Kelgreny, all highly recommended. On a vote being taken Miss O'Meara was elected.

KING'S

Among the subscriptions to the Irish Parliamentary Fund recently acknowledged is one of £42 from the united parishes of Birr and Carrig.

It is stated that the military authorities have decided on carrying into effect their long threatened intention of discontinuing Birr Military Barracks as the headquarters of a battalion of infantry.

LONGFORD.

Mr. Wm. Kenny, solicitor, Longford, has been appointed solicitor to the Longford Board of Guardians, in room of Mr. R. V. Maxwell, who resigned in consequence of being appointed Clerk of the Crown and Peace for the county.

LOUTH.

A collision occurred recently in the Boyne river, at Drogheda, by which the steamer Ethiopian, belonging to Captain Thomas Long received very extensive damage. On that afternoon, at about two o'clock, the Ethiopian was lying at anchor in the river at a point nearly opposite to Banktown. The steam collier, Home Force, was going up the river, well under steam, and ran into the Ethiopian, striking her amidships, and cutting her nearly across. The stricken vessel rapidly filled, but was successfully beached to prevent her obstructing the waterway.

MEATH.

The many friends of the Rev. P. Callary, P.P., Trim, will be glad to learn that he is fast recovering from his recent severe illness.

WEXFORD.

At last reports there were six cases of smallpox under treatment in Enniscorthy.

The Lord Chancellor ... pointed Mr. James O'Gorman, Killegney, a justice for the Petty Sessions District of Clonroche. Mr. O'Gorman is a popular and respected Nationalist.

WICKLOW.

Mr. Chick Bourke, R.M., held an inquiry into the charge preferred against James Cotter, of 33 Mainland street, Little Bray, of having murdered the infant child, Ellen Cotter. The magistrate said there was not any direct evidence, but there was no doubt that the child came by its death by drowning, and circumstancial evidence pointed out the prisoner as being the person guilty of the crime. He would, therefore, return the case for trial at the next Commission for the county Dublin.

MUNSTER.

CLARE.

Intelligence reached Ennis of a shooting outrage at Lissofin, between Ennis and Tulla, where a farmer named Garvey, who was returning to his dwelling, at Caherlohan, had four shots fired at him. By some extraordinary chance he escaped unhurt and reported the occurrence to the police. No arrests have yet been made. The outrage is freely condemned in the district, which has hereto been a very peaceable one. The affair is attributed to Garvey's having taken a farm in the neighborhood.

CORK.

Serious charges of butter frauds are being investigated in the Cork Police Court.

The War Office authorities have definitely decided to acquire, by compulsory powers, 7,000 acres of mountain land, near Mitchelstown for a military shooting range.

Dr. Tanner, M.P., has conveyed to the Postmaster-General the views of his constituents at Macroom as to the desirability of turning the Macroom Post Office into a main office. The Postmaster-General has promised 'to give the question his best consideration.'

KERRY.

Mr. Edward R. Murphy, the Kerries, Tralee, has been appointed to the Commission of the Peace.

Mr. W. L. Burke has been promoted, from the managership of the Killarney branch of the National Bank, to the more important post of manager of the Waterford branch, rendered vacant by the sudden death of the late manager.

A Castleisland correspondent states that a number of armed, masked men recently fired into the house of Jeremiah Kelliher, at Cordal, Castleisland. The man attacked is a brother-in-law of Boyle, Lord Ventry's keeper, who gave evidence that led to the conviction of Twiss, who was executed recently in Cork jail.

LIMERICK

At the last Abbeyfeale Petty Sessions, Timothy D Danagher, charged with having shot Timothy Shea, at Athea, was remanded for a week. Shea, the injured man, has somewhat improved. The bullet has not been found, but it is surmised, though not medically certified, that he is out of danger and likely to recover. At the last meeting of the Athea branch of the Irish National Federation a resolution was passed vigorously condemning the outrage.

A laborer named John Browne, residing at a place called Knockadaniv, four miles from Brosna, committed suicide by cutting his throat with a razor. The unfortunate man lived five hours after the infliction of the wound, and was attended by Dr. Aherne, of Brosna, who did all that could be done to save his life. The wife of the deceased affirms that he had been more or less mentally deranged for some time previously.

TIPPERARY.

Mr. John Dempsey, a general trader, residing near Clonmel, committed suicide recently, by cutting his throat.

A new organ was opened at the Church of St. Mary's, Clonmel. The Most Rev. Dr. Sheehan, Bishop of Waterford, was present.

James Henry Foote, said to be a native of Tipperary, an army sergeant in the Pay Department, has been committed for trial at Berwick, England, charged with the manslaughter of his wife, who, according to the medical evidence, died of a fractured skull.

WATERFORD.

The new water supply will be in Dungarvan before the end of April. Good progress is being made with the works.

The contest for the Aldermanship of the Custom House Ward, Waterford, rendered vacant by the disqualification of Capt. Toole, resulted in the election of the Parnellite candidate. The fight lay between Mr. M. C. Murphy and Mr. Richard Hearne, J.P., both sitting Councillors for the Ward. Mr. Murphy was elected.

ULSTER.

ANTRIM.

In the Record Court of the County Courthouse, Justice Andrews opened the Commission of Assize for the county of the town of Carrickfergus; and the Grand Jury having been re-sworn he congratulated them on the fact that there was not a single criminal case to go before them. The High Sheriff (Mr. Woodside) then presented the Judge with a pair of white gloves.

ARMAGH.

At the Armagh Assizes, Patrick Cullen was indicted that he killed one Susan Telford, an old woman, aged about 75 years, who lived with her daughter, Jane Telford. Their relations were of such a character as to be the talk of the neighborhood and a source of much annoyance to the mother. On last Christmas Day the prisoner, Cullen, came to Telford's house, and the old woman ordered him out. He refused to go, a quarrel ensued, and the old woman went out and threw stones at the door. Prisoner at this stage assaulted the old woman, and she died a few days after. The jury, after a short retirement, found a verdict of manslaughter, with a strong recommendation to mercy, and the prisoner was sentenced to five years' imprisonment.

DERRY.

In Derry, recently, as Mr. Justice Gibson was being driven in the High Sheriff's carriage from the courthouse to the Judge's temporary residence, accompanied by an escort of mounted police, the horse of a constable named Osborough fell and rolled over the rider, crushing his leg. Justice Gibson at once stopped the carriage, got out and insisted on the wounded man being placed therein, and driven to the infirmary, the Judge walking to Dacre Terrace in his judical robes. The policeman, it is stated, was not seriously hurt.

DONEGAL.

At the Assizes, in Lifford, recently, James O'Donnell, James Green, Thomas Green, and James Harley were found guilty of an assault on James O'Donnell and Hugh McGarvey. There was a cross case, and Judge Gibson allowed the prisoners out on bail, which was forthcoming.

George Alcorn was found guilty of stabbing John Alcorn, his cousin, in a dispute over a right of mountain, on 6th December last. The Judges sentenced him to four months' imprisonment, and to find sureties for two years' good behavior, himself in £100, and two surities of £250 each.

DOWN.

Another case of hydrophobia in the County Down is reported. A youth was bitten by a Russian terrier dog, which became rabid, and he was sent to the Pasteur Institute, Paris, for treatment.

MONAGHAN

A movement is on foot to light the town of Ballybay with the electric light.

TYRONE.

The National festival was celebrated in Stewartstown by the turn out of the local flute band, which paraded the streets. On reaching the head of North street, on their way to Ardboe, the police were drawn across the other roadway, under the command of the Head Constable Montgomery, from Monaghan, to the number of twenty-four. The bandsmen attempted to pass through the ranks, and were repulsed by the police. Mr. O'Neill, J. P., then appeared on the scene, and stated that they had a legitimate right to go that way. The bandsmen then moved forward, and the police thereupon battoned them. Several persons were seriously injured from batton strokes.
