

The Catholic Journal

Vol. VI, No 40.

Rochester, N. Y. Saturday, July 6, 1895.

DIOCESAN NEWS.

From Our Special Correspondents.

Anburn.

Miss Marie A. Galvin, teacher in the Central Grammar school, left last Wednesday for the Thousand Islands, where she will take a six week's course in Prof. Ludlow's School of Expression.

Louis F. O'Neil has returned from Union College. Herrick Allen of the same school is his guest for a few days.

Miss Mary Lawler has returned from Nazareth Convent Academy, Rochester.

Miss Mary Winters, formerly director of Holy Family choir, who has been studying vocal music in New York for the past year, is in town visiting relatives and friends.

The annual Class day exercises were held at the High School on last Wednesday afternoon. The spacious Assembly room could not contain the throngs who wished to attend and many were turned away. The programme follows:

PART I.

1. President's Greeting.....Stuart R. Treat
2. Piano Duet—Grand Sextet, Beethoven
3. Grace E. Copp, Helen E. Barry
4. Oration "How are we to make the Most of Ourselves,".....George F. Snyder
5. Class History—First Year.....Margaret Koon
6. Class History—Second Year.....H. Carl Mersereau
7. Solo "Summer Song".....Lucy A. Sartori
8. Class History—Third Year.....Helen Harmon
9. Class History—Fourth Year.....Harry J. Calhoun

PART II.

9. Duet, Weyfarer, banjo and guitar Stewart
10. G. Garry Hickey, G. F. Snyder
11. Address to Under Graduates.....Sarah I. Wheeler
12. Response.....Harry W. Mead, '95
13. Class Prophecy.....Mattie H. Peterson
14. Class Song, Air—"Nut Brown Maiden" Words by Helen R. Barry.

Owing to the rain the military drill which was to have been held on the campus at the close of the exercises, was omitted.

On last Friday evening the twenty-eight annual commencement was held. The excellent programme which had been prepared was admirably carried out by all the participants. It consisted of:

- Essay, with salutary, "A Recent Discovery in Science,".....Ella Jansen McNeil
- Oration, "Milton's Lucifer,".....Harry John Calhoun
- Quintette—"Lullaby,".....Helen Harmon
- Recitation—"Ulysses,".....Margaret Koon
- Essay—"The Niebelungenlied,".....Margaret Koon
- Piano Duet—"Spanish Dances,".....Josephine Clapp, Alice Beardsley
- Discussion—"Should the United States maintain a great navy," Affirmative, Harold Pulsifer, Negative, Stuart Treat
- Solo—"The Mighty Deep,".....Adelbert S. Baker
- Essay—"Pythagoras,".....Jessie Meaker
- Oration—"Achilles the Greek Ideal,".....Porter Payne
- Declamation, Napoleon's Defeat Victor Hugo
- Charles Thomas Whelan
- Essay with Valedictory—"The Power of Sentiment,".....Jessie Treat Ray

The class of '92 numbers fifty students and is the largest ever graduated from the school. The honor list numbers twelve, and is as follows: 1st, Jessie Treat Ray; 2nd, Ella Jansen McNeil; 3d, Margaret Koon; 4th, Marie Helen Harmon; 5th, Alice Kirkman Hunter; 6th, Jessie Meaker; 7th, Sarah Irene Wheeler; 8th, Gertrude May Becker; 9th, Charles Thomas Whelan; 10th, Harry John Calhoun; 11th, Harold Melville Pulsifer; 12th, Josephine Clapp.

Lyons.

The Misses Flynn of New York are guests of Miss Marie Moraw.

Mrs. John Finnegan is entertaining out of town friends.

Miss Minnie McDonald of Syracuse, is the guest of her brother, F. Mac Donald, in this village.

Miss Mamie Westerman of Brookport, has been the guest of her uncle, Grant Westerman, in this village the past three weeks.

Miss May Halleran, of Warsaw, is the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Frank Taggart.

Antone Knittel lies dangerously ill at his home on Layton street with little hope of his recovery.

The members of St. Michael's congregation are looking forward with great anticipation to the mid-summer festival to be held July 10th.

F. D. Fleming of this city is spending a week at his old home in Meriden, Conn.

The excursion to Niagara Falls last Thursday was largely attended by residents of Lyons, all of whom report a most delightful time.

Westport.

Miss Louise Hummel of New York is spending a few weeks in town with her cousin, Miss Kittie Wesley.

Miss Aggie Graney of this village, spent a few days last week in Auburn visiting friends.

Barney McManus of Auburn, was in town Thursday and Friday of last week visiting relatives.

E. H. Pease of Auburn, spent Sunday in town with his wife.

Mrs. Patrick Leston and children of Auburn, spent a few days last week in town with her sister, Mrs. M. J. Conway.

Caledonia.

Mr. George Shanefer aged 27 years, died on Sunday evening of consumption at the residence of his aunt, Mrs. Englerth. His death is a peculiarly sad one. He came here only five weeks ago from Germany, in hopes of improving his health. He leaves a father and mother in Germany. The funeral was held Wednesday morning. Interment at Scottsville.

Dr. J. A. Morrissey returned last Friday from Ann Arbor college, where he has completed a four years course in medicine.

Miss Nellie Markey of Java, is the guest of Miss Kittie Graney.

Miss Nellie O'Brien, of LeRoy, spent Sunday with her sister, Miss Mary O'Brien, of this village.

Miss Anna Connor visited her sister at Niagara Falls last week.

Mr. P. O. Graney, who has been traveling salesman for Orator Woodruff for the past year, has returned home.

There was no public celebration of the Fourth here, only the annual picnic of Olaf McNaughton at the State Hatchery.

Churchville.

George Owens visited friends here Sunday.

Miss Ella Greene is visiting her sister, Mrs. Thomas Kenan.

P. Sheridan and his wife were here Sunday.

Lawyer Keenan and his brother, James Keenan, both of Rochester, were the guests of their friends here Sunday.

Miss Margaret Brady returns to Geneva Tuesday.

Mrs. John Cunningham, of Buffalo, is spending the summer with her father, Mr. P. McDermott.

Ithaca.

Dr. J. P. Fahy left on Sunday night for New York to remain three months.

The marriage of George Quilligan and Mary McMahon took place last Wednesday. The bride was attired in a gown of steel Henriette, and was attended by Miss Lizzie Mone, who was dressed in a delicate gown of pink. John Maloney of Fifth street was best man. The happy couple are receiving congratulations.

Miss Anna Brost is visiting friends in Elmira.

Miss Rose Tuck of Owego, is visiting Margaret Burns.

Ovid.

Miss Mamie Hanratty of Auburn, is home for the summer vacation.

Miss Anna Hanlon, of Auburn, is spending this week at her home here.

Misses Lizzie Murphy, Kate Oraven and Mary Rafferty, of Ithaca, are spending their vacation at their homes here.

There are a number of fresh-air children expected from New York to spend a few weeks.

Mt. Read.

Miss Mary L. Dorey one of our popular young ladies, and assistant organist, left here last week for Troy, N. Y.

It seems now quite evident that some of our young people are making arrangements to visit the Catholic Summer School at Plattsburgh, N. Y., this season with their parents.

Miss Veronica Frowel of Rochester, in company with her aunt, Mrs. Patrick Fagan, of Chicago, spent Sunday visiting their relatives, Mr. and Mrs. D. Hagerty of Barnard Crossing.

We regret to learn of the sad and sudden death of Miss Maggie McGarry which took place last Sunday morning at 10 o'clock in her home at Barnard's Crossing. She bore her sickness with great patience and resignation and humbly bowed to the will of God; but it leaves a desolation in their humble home. A sad and lonely father, is now deprived of his loving child and house-keeper.

The bereaved father has the sympathy of all. The funeral took place Tuesday morning at half past nine at Holy Cross church, Charlotte. Interment was at Holy Sepulchre Cemetery. May she rest in peace.

Truena at Cut Prices.

The Duke Drug Co. will for the next sixty days sell you a truss and fit same for $1. Don't buy until you call on us.

CATHOLIC SOCIETIES.

A. O. H.

Wednesday—Division 3, 6
Thursday—Division 1, 7

Div. No. 7, A. O. H. held a well attended meeting, Monday evening, July 1st. They initiated two new members. Under the good and welfare of the order, Bro. Patrick Cullen, of Div. No. 1, an old and true Hibernian, addressed the meeting. His words were few but well worthy of attention. Bro. Cullen has occasionally attended meetings of this division since it has been organized, and his presence at all times is welcomed by the members.

The brothers of Div. No. 2 will take notice that the low initiation fee was closed July 1st. Any person who wishes to become a member now will have to pay the regular initiation of three dollars.

All brothers are requested to attend the next meeting of Div. No. 2, which will be on July 15th. Matters of importance will come before the meeting.

C. R. & B. A.

CALENDAR FOR NEXT WEEK
Monday—Council 25.
Tuesday " 18-27.
Thursday—Council 23
Friday " 39.

Council 27 will hold a progressive euphoric party Tuesday evening at their rooms 82 State street. Members of sister councils are cordially invited to attend.

C. M. & B. A.

CALENDAR FOR NEXT WEEK.
Monday—Branches 58-81.
Tuesday " 12, 53, 139.
Wednesday " 34, 55, 117, 131.
Thursday " 80.
Friday " 87.

Dennis H. Dooley, of Branch 139, is rejoicing over the arrival of a young son.

Danville.

Misses Anna and Lizzie Welch, have gone to Fort Wayne, Ind. for a month's visit.

The Alumni of St. Patrick's school, with Pastor and Teachers, picnicked at Long Point, Oneonta Lake, Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Dougherty of Oandis, Seneca County, have been spending a few days with their son Rev. J. T. Dougherty.

Despite the storm last Wednesday evening a large crowd assembled in O'Connell Hall to listen to the entertainment, which reflects much credit on teachers and pupils the following is the interesting programme:

- Sailor's Song.....Chorus
Welcome.....James Calahan, Belle Byron
My Aunt's Heiress—Dialogue.....Girls
Pantomime.....Six Grandmothers
Recitation.....Belle Byron
Days of Washington, Six Boys and Six Girls
Dance Song.....Marie Byron
Dance Song.....Twelve Boys
Recitation—Love of Country John Sullivan
Trade Song.....Eighteen Boys
Opera—Queen Flora's Dream.....Chorus
Beaumont, Queen Flora.....Chorus
Mary Murphy, Attendant Stella
Lillies, Butterflies, Fairies, Daisies, Nightingale
Recitation.....Maude Griffin
Valedictory.....Grace Brogan
Dance on the Sands.....Chorus
Address.....John Sullivan

Pelops.

Rev. J. P. Brophy has been assigned to St. Patrick's Cathedral, Rochester.

At the fifth annual banquet of the Phelps Union and Classical School Alumni association which was held in Gibson hall on June 25th, over 250 guests were present. Rev. Father O'Neil was the speaker of the evening and delivered an address on Education and Citizenship in a very able manner. An enjoyable time was had by all.

Trumansburg.

Mr. and Mrs. James Kennedy, of Ithaca, were calling on friends on Sunday last.

Miss Maggie Murphy was visiting her parents in Elmira last week.

The Rick Brothers are spending a week's vacation with their parents.

Miss Bridget O'Neil spent Sunday in town.

Mrs. Julia Shea was spending a few days last week with Mrs. Cusick, of Jacksonville.

Miss Julia O'Donnell was calling on friends in the city on Sunday.

Seneca Falls.

Mrs. James Greer is entertaining his sister, Miss Margaret Hooley, of Troy, Pa.

Miss Margaret Costello and Miss Theresa McKee are home from the Albany Normal school.

Miss Lizzie McGuire, of Aurora, is visiting relatives in this village.

George Jones, who has been teaching at King's Ferry, is home for vacation, and his sister and Kate Rafferty, who have been teaching in Cayuga are spending their vacation at their home.

OUR ROMAN LETTER.

The Holy Father—Receives Many Pilgrims at the Vatican.

Report of a Wonderful Cure.

ROME, ITALY.

In order to give a proof of his special satisfaction with the work of Benedictine restoration that is soon to be effected in Brazil by the Monks of Maredsous, His Holiness has directed a Brief to Father Gerard Van Caloen, to whom has been entrusted the carrying out of this noble and fruitful plan.

In this document Leo XIII. expresses the desire that the Catholics of Belgium will contribute by alms to the success of the above-mentioned restoration. He also exhorts those chosen souls whom God calls to His service in Catholic Belgium to enroll themselves under the banner of St. Benedict, in order to devote themselves to the religious and moral regeneration of those vast regions where there is a great want of good religious and good priests for the good of the people.

Recently, His Holiness, accompanied by His Maggior-domo, the Maestro di Camera, the Cameriere Segreto, Participanti, together with the Swiss and the Noble Guard, was borne in the portantina to the Sala Ducale. After spending some time in prayer, he assumed the sacred vestments and celebrated Mass, assisted by the Pro-Prefect of Papal Ceremonies, the Private Chaplains and Clerks. The musical parts were rendered by the Papal Chorists under the direction of the Commendatore Mustafà.

After the Mass of the Holy Father another Mass of Thanksgiving was celebrated, according to custom, by one of the Private Chaplains. At the end of it the Holy Father took the Papal Stole and imparted to all the Apostolic Blessing. He then withdrew for a few moments for some reflection. He returned to receive a considerable number of pilgrims and other persons who had been admitted to his Mass. There were present two large groups of pilgrims, one from Austria, the other from the Tyrol. The former was under the direction of Prince Lowenstein, the second under that of M. Wirtele. The pilgrims were more than 800 in number and belonged to the most distinguished classes. Prince Lowenstein was unfortunately slightly indisposed and could not assist at the reception; his place was therefore, taken by the Prince's son. There were also present—Mgr. Popiel, Archbishop of Warsaw; Mgr. Klein, Bishop of Lemberg; and Mgr. Hoting, Bishop of Osnabruck. After the reception of the pilgrims the Holy Father admitted to his presence some two hundred other persons of various nations. Amongst these latter were Lord Braye with his son, and a little party of Divines from the College of St. Outhberts, Ushaw, England. After the audience, the Holy Father was borne along the first loggia di Raffaello where the pilgrims and others were awaiting his passage. He stopped to speak with each of them and admitted them to kiss his hand. When at length he had reached the end of the long line of his visitors he was carried to his private apartments.

On the morning of May 8th, in the Church of S. Lorenzo a Damasco, after the prayers which it is customary to offer on that day to Our Lady of Pompeii, there was announced to a large concourse of people there assembled an account of the following miracle: the intercession of the Virgin of the Rosary of Pompeii. Helen Chabatis, aged 18, daughter of the lawyer Giuseppe Chabatis, had been for two years suffering from paralysis in the left leg. She was so crumpled in order to walk. By its aid she was seen entering the church on May 7th. On the next morning she rose and to her great joy found that she could walk quite easily without aid of any kind. The family had made a Novena to the Madonna di Pompeii in order to obtain the long desired favor, and Helen had in a special manner fulfilled it with so much trust that she felt certain that she would be cured upon the 8th of May. Many of those who frequent the church testify to the fact, since with their own eyes they saw the young lady for whom they had long felt compassion unexpectedly walking about with the greatest facility. While announcing this cure, we leave the merits of the case entirely under the judgment of competent ecclesiastical authority. Crowds of people have since flocked to the church, where it is to be seen the crutch which has now been rendered unnecessary.

There is a striking coincidence about this wonderful cure which is of a pleasing nature. When Zola was in Rome a speech was made at the banquet given him by the Italian Liberal Press Association. Amid much laughter, Pompili was compared to Lourdes, the only difference being that whereas Lourdes had become famous by the hallucinations of a poor country-girl, Pompili had been rendered famous by a lawyer. The young lady of whose cure I now speak is the daughter of a lawyer. It almost seems as if Our Lady were taking a holy and gracious revenge for the insults then cast upon her clients.

The new Parliament is to meet upon June 16th. The news has evoked little public interest, though the journals of the country have naturally occupied themselves with the coming event. The immense Catholic majority will, of course, remain a silent spectator in the approaching battle, and all the attempts which have been made during the past months to induce them to go to the urns and thus support the Conservative Party will be proved to have been futile.

A very pleasant afternoon was thus provided for the English-speaking Colony in Rome by the local Augustinians of St. Patrick's. It had been fully announced that the Right Rev. Monsignor Nugent, of Liverpool, was to give a conference upon a subject to which for so many years he had devoted a loving and ardent care: "The Wages of Sin, or the Destitute Street Children." The distinguished prelate was introduced to his numerous audience by the Very Rev. Father Walsh, LL.D., Assistant General of the Augustinians. The conference was one of a most pathetic character. Mr. Nugent described his long and wide experience among the poor, their ways, manners, and misdeeds, and the conviction produced upon him by their surroundings that so work could be more noble than that of endeavouring to better the lot of these little ones of God's family. He rejected the theory of hereditary degeneration as false and unscientific. He showed by examples and proofs that among these outcasts of society there are to be found moral and intellectual gifts. Many cases they seem to be the victims of their apparent surroundings, but he ascribed to the evil influences of their unhealthy surroundings and bad example. He concluded with a powerful exhortation to love the children of the poor, and to strive in every way to better their sad condition. After the conference all those who were present were invited to a most welcome refreshment by the Irish Augustinians, which did honor to their well-known hospitality.

Cardinal Hohenlohe, being ill, spent the other day with the Most Rev. Blanc, met O'Leary, who was the present. At the end of the dinner the Cardinal proposed that the success of the Premier. He said that in a few words which he produced a profound impression. He once there is the usual death of public opinion that takes place in Italy upon any occasion when the relations of the Pope and O'Brien are touched upon. The enemies of O'Brien alone accuse him of conspiring with the Vatican. O'Brien's party claim a triumph. All agree that the Vatican and the Catholic Party are very displeased by the affair.

PATRICK RYAN

Spring's Sweet Flavors
Are not more delicious than the pies, cakes, tarts, crackers, etc., at O'Leary's Bakery, 20 State St.

Advertisements in the Journal.

Catholic Summer School at Plattsburgh, N. Y.

Since the publication of the programme for 1895, the following addresses have been made: Boston one week, beginning July 15, by Mrs. Helen Harmon; the Cooking College, at Plattsburgh, beginning July 21 (address to be announced later), by Brother Patrick (Dr. O'Leary), of the Training School, Waterville, Ireland.

Vaico Culture one week, beginning August 5, by Allen L. O'Brien, State Normal School, Plattsburgh, N. Y.

Drawing one week, beginning August 12, by Miss Sarah Dwyer, Superintendent of Drawing in the public schools of Bridgeport, Conn.

These special courses will be conducted in the Assembly Hall on the grounds of the Catholic Summer School of America, Plattsburgh, N. Y. The programme is as follows: The first course, in the morning, will be devoted to the study of the principles of drawing, and in the afternoon to the study of the principles of painting. The second course, in the morning, will be devoted to the study of the principles of sculpture, and in the afternoon to the study of the principles of architecture. The third course, in the morning, will be devoted to the study of the principles of music, and in the afternoon to the study of the principles of literature. The fourth course, in the morning, will be devoted to the study of the principles of history, and in the afternoon to the study of the principles of geography. The fifth course, in the morning, will be devoted to the study of the principles of science, and in the afternoon to the study of the principles of philosophy. The sixth course, in the morning, will be devoted to the study of the principles of religion, and in the afternoon to the study of the principles of ethics. The seventh course, in the morning, will be devoted to the study of the principles of politics, and in the afternoon to the study of the principles of economics. The eighth course, in the morning, will be devoted to the study of the principles of law, and in the afternoon to the study of the principles of medicine. The ninth course, in the morning, will be devoted to the study of the principles of agriculture, and in the afternoon to the study of the principles of commerce. The tenth course, in the morning, will be devoted to the study of the principles of industry, and in the afternoon to the study of the principles of art.

The programme is as follows: The first course, in the morning, will be devoted to the study of the principles of drawing, and in the afternoon to the study of the principles of painting. The second course, in the morning, will be devoted to the study of the principles of sculpture, and in the afternoon to the study of the principles of architecture. The third course, in the morning, will be devoted to the study of the principles of music, and in the afternoon to the study of the principles of literature. The fourth course, in the morning, will be devoted to the study of the principles of history, and in the afternoon to the study of the principles of geography. The fifth course, in the morning, will be devoted to the study of the principles of science, and in the afternoon to the study of the principles of philosophy. The sixth course, in the morning, will be devoted to the study of the principles of religion, and in the afternoon to the study of the principles of ethics. The seventh course, in the morning, will be devoted to the study of the principles of politics, and in the afternoon to the study of the principles of economics. The eighth course, in the morning, will be devoted to the study of the principles of law, and in the afternoon to the study of the principles of medicine. The ninth course, in the morning, will be devoted to the study of the principles of agriculture, and in the afternoon to the study of the principles of commerce. The tenth course, in the morning, will be devoted to the study of the principles of industry, and in the afternoon to the study of the principles of art.

The programme is as follows: The first course, in the morning, will be devoted to the study of the principles of drawing, and in the afternoon to the study of the principles of painting. The second course, in the morning, will be devoted to the study of the principles of sculpture, and in the afternoon to the study of the principles of architecture. The third course, in the morning, will be devoted to the study of the principles of music, and in the afternoon to the study of the principles of literature. The fourth course, in the morning, will be devoted to the study of the principles of history, and in the afternoon to the study of the principles of geography. The fifth course, in the morning, will be devoted to the study of the principles of science, and in the afternoon to the study of the principles of philosophy. The sixth course, in the morning, will be devoted to the study of the principles of religion, and in the afternoon to the study of the principles of ethics. The seventh course, in the morning, will be devoted to the study of the principles of politics, and in the afternoon to the study of the principles of economics. The eighth course, in the morning, will be devoted to the study of the principles of law, and in the afternoon to the study of the principles of medicine. The ninth course, in the morning, will be devoted to the study of the principles of agriculture, and in the afternoon to the study of the principles of commerce. The tenth course, in the morning, will be devoted to the study of the principles of industry, and in the afternoon to the study of the principles of art.

The programme is as follows: The first course, in the morning, will be devoted to the study of the principles of drawing, and in the afternoon to the study of the principles of painting. The second course, in the morning, will be devoted to the study of the principles of sculpture, and in the afternoon to the study of the principles of architecture. The third course, in the morning, will be devoted to the study of the principles of music, and in the afternoon to the study of the principles of literature. The fourth course, in the morning, will be devoted to the study of the principles of history, and in the afternoon to the study of the principles of geography. The fifth course, in the morning, will be devoted to the study of the principles of science, and in the afternoon to the study of the principles of philosophy. The sixth course, in the morning, will be devoted to the study of the principles of religion, and in the afternoon to the study of the principles of ethics. The seventh course, in the morning, will be devoted to the study of the principles of politics, and in the afternoon to the study of the principles of economics. The eighth course, in the morning, will be devoted to the study of the principles of law, and in the afternoon to the study of the principles of medicine. The ninth course, in the morning, will be devoted to the study of the principles of agriculture, and in the afternoon to the study of the principles of commerce. The tenth course, in the morning, will be devoted to the study of the principles of industry, and in the afternoon to the study of the principles of art.

The programme is as follows: The first course, in the morning, will be devoted to the study of the principles of drawing, and in the afternoon to the study of the principles of painting. The second course, in the morning, will be devoted to the study of the principles of sculpture, and in the afternoon to the study of the principles of architecture. The third course, in the morning, will be devoted to the study of the principles of music, and in the afternoon to the study of the principles of literature. The fourth course, in the morning, will be devoted to the study of the principles of history, and in the afternoon to the study of the principles of geography. The fifth course, in the morning, will be devoted to the study of the principles of science, and in the afternoon to the study of the principles of philosophy. The sixth course, in the morning, will be devoted to the study of the principles of religion, and in the afternoon to the study of the principles of ethics. The seventh course, in the morning, will be devoted to the study of the principles of politics, and in the afternoon to the study of the principles of economics. The eighth course, in the morning, will be devoted to the study of the principles of law, and in the afternoon to the study of the principles of medicine. The ninth course, in the morning, will be devoted to the study of the principles of agriculture, and in the afternoon to the study of the principles of commerce. The tenth course, in the morning, will be devoted to the study of the principles of industry, and in the afternoon to the study of the principles of art.

The programme is as follows: The first course, in the morning, will be devoted to the study of the principles of drawing, and in the afternoon to the study of the principles of painting. The second course, in the morning, will be devoted to the study of the principles of sculpture, and in the afternoon to the study of the principles of architecture. The third course, in the morning, will be devoted to the study of the principles of music, and in the afternoon to the study of the principles of literature. The fourth course, in the morning, will be devoted to the study of the principles of history, and in the afternoon to the study of the principles of geography. The fifth course, in the morning, will be devoted to the study of the principles of science, and in the afternoon to the study of the principles of philosophy. The sixth course, in the morning, will be devoted to the study of the principles of religion, and in the afternoon to the study of the principles of ethics. The seventh course, in the morning, will be devoted to the study of the principles of politics, and in the afternoon to the study of the principles of economics. The eighth course, in the morning, will be devoted to the study of the principles of law, and in the afternoon to the study of the principles of medicine. The ninth course, in the morning, will be devoted to the study of the principles of agriculture, and in the afternoon to the study of the principles of commerce. The tenth course, in the morning, will be devoted to the study of the principles of industry, and in the afternoon to the study of the principles of art.

The programme is as follows: The first course, in the morning, will be devoted to the study of the principles of drawing, and in the afternoon to the study of the principles of painting. The second course, in the morning, will be devoted to the study of the principles of sculpture, and in the afternoon to the study of the principles of architecture. The third course, in the morning, will be devoted to the study of the principles of music, and in the afternoon to the study of the principles of literature. The fourth course, in the morning, will be devoted to the study of the principles of history, and in the afternoon to the study of the principles of geography. The fifth course, in the morning, will be devoted to the study of the principles of science, and in the afternoon to the study of the principles of philosophy. The sixth course, in the morning, will be devoted to the study of the principles of religion, and in the afternoon to the study of the principles of ethics. The seventh course, in the morning, will be devoted to the study of the principles of politics, and in the afternoon to the study of the principles of economics. The eighth course, in the morning, will be devoted to the study of the principles of law, and in the afternoon to the study of the principles of medicine. The ninth course, in the morning, will be devoted to the study of the principles of agriculture, and in the afternoon to the study of the principles of commerce. The tenth course, in the morning, will be devoted to the study of the principles of industry, and in the afternoon to the study of the principles of art.

The programme is as follows: The first course, in the morning, will be devoted to the study of the principles of drawing, and in the afternoon to the study of the principles of painting. The second course, in the morning, will be devoted to the study of the principles of sculpture, and in the afternoon to the study of the principles of architecture. The third course, in the morning, will be devoted to the study of the principles of music, and in the afternoon to the study of the principles of literature. The fourth course, in the morning, will be devoted to the study of the principles of history, and in the afternoon to the study of the principles of geography. The fifth course, in the morning, will be devoted to the study of the principles of science, and in the afternoon to the study of the principles of philosophy. The sixth course, in the morning, will be devoted to the study of the principles of religion, and in the afternoon to the study of the principles of ethics. The seventh course, in the morning, will be devoted to the study of the principles of politics, and in the afternoon to the study of the principles of economics. The eighth course, in the morning, will be devoted to the study of the principles of law, and in the afternoon to the study of the principles of medicine. The ninth course, in the morning, will be devoted to the study of the principles of agriculture, and in the afternoon to the study of the principles of commerce. The tenth course, in the morning, will be devoted to the study of the principles of industry, and in the afternoon to the study of the principles of art.