NEWS DOTS FROM IRELAND

Interesting Paragraphs Concerning the Doings of Our Friends Across the Ocean, Gathered from All Parts of the Emerald Isle for Our Readers.

CONNAUGHT. LEINSTER.

GALWAY.
 At a largely attended meeting of the Woodford Tenants Defence Association, held recently, Mr. Hogan in the chair, the following resolution was passed by acclamation.—"That we, the evicted tenants of the Olanrickard estate, desire to place on record our feelings about the low legal cunning by which we have been deprived of our bravest defender in the English House of Commons. When the rack-renter attacked us, ten years ago, William O'Brien was the first to come to our help and advocate our cause, both in and out of it. During these ten years he has never ceased to plead with tongue and pen in our behalf. Again and again we have been imprisoned for defending our homes and families, and again and again Wm. O'Brien has been imprisoned for helping us. All the lawyers' quibbles in the world cannot make us forget the long, long months that, for our sakes, he has spent in the dreary cells so familiar to ourselves, with Messrs. Healy, Chance, and Co. were enjoying the free air and sunshine. In fighting our own battle here we have been fighting for the tenant-farmers of Ireland, and we call on all parties to join us in keeping up that fight."

DUBLIN.
 The Dublin Gazette announces that the salary of the Clerk of the Crown and Peace for Dublin county shall for the future be £200 a year.
 A private soldier of the 1st Royal Dragoon Guards, named Frank Smith, recently committed suicide by cutting his throat with a razor in a ward of the Royal Infirmary, Phoenix Park, Dublin, while insane from illness.

KILDARE.
 Considerable excitement was caused in Athy, recently, by the extraordinary conduct of a man named Prim, whose family reside in Offlay street. Prim, who had been in jail for some time past, in default of finding bail to keep peace toward his wife, by some means managed to get into the back yard of the dwelling-house early on the morning, and as soon as the back-door was opened he got inside the house and at once proceeded to break the windows, furniture, and shop fittings. After some time a number of men entered the house and conveyed him to the police barrack. He was, next day, brought before the magistrates, and on a doctor's certificate was committed to the lunatic asylum, as a dangerous lunatic.

LEITRIM.
 A dispatch from Carrick-on-Shannon states that a man named Francis Flynn, a farmer residing at Fearglass, was murdered, near Mohill, recently. He was leaving Mohill, with a horse and cart laden with provisions, when two men dragged him out of vehicle, and killed him to death. Two men named Cannon and Higgins—the latter a mill-owner and road contractor—were arrested immediately after the occurrence on a charge of having caused Flynn's death.

KILKENNY.
 The Mayor of Kilkenny sat in his office to secure the nomination papers received for the vacant Councillorship in St. John's Ward. The Town Clerk said only one paper had been lodged, and in it John Morrissey, of Ballybough street, shopkeeper, was proposed. There being no other nomination, the Mayor declared Mr. Morrissey duly elected. Mr. Morrissey said as there was no opposition he was much obliged to burgesses for electing him.

KING'S.
 Probate of the will of Sir Patrick O'Brien, of 10 Bryansdown square, Brighton, England, formerly M.P. for King's county, 1852-'85, who died on the 25th April last, aged 72 years, leaving personally valued at £730, has been granted to his widow, Dame Ida Sophia O'Brien, daughter of Captain Parib, R. N.

LONGFORD.
 At the Longford Quarter Sessions, an evicted tenant on the Edgeworth estate, named Nicholas Canlog, was charged with having taken forcible possession after his eviction. The evicted tenant pleaded guilty, and said he had laid out over £1,000 on improving the land. Judge Curran let the prisoner out on his own recognizance.

MEATH.
 The death is announced of Mr. P. M. Sourin, at his residence, Garbalaugh, Duleek. The deceased was for many years a foremost patron of the Irish Turf, and in his time owned many noted race-horses. Of late years the handsome "cherry and shamrocks facings" have not been seen in public; and last spring Mr. Sourin disposed of most of his stud.

WESTMEATH.
 The Rev. M. Fitzsimon, the esteemed and revered pastor of Kinnefad, died recently, having been ordained in the year 1840. Shortly after his ordination, in 1861, Father Fitzsimon was appointed to a curacy in the parish of Kells, in which his epiritual labors continued for the space of twenty-five years. From this parish he was appointed to the parochial charge of the parish of Kinnefad, where he labored with a zeal and a devotion rarely excelled. The funeral of the deceased pastor took place in Kinnefad, and was the occasion of a great demonstration on the part of the people.

MUNSTER.
CLARE.
 Dr. Brew, of Ennistymon, was recently tried at, while on his way to Ruan fair, but he was uninjured, and he does not believe the shots were intended to harm him.

At the opening of the Ennis Quarter Sessions, County Court Judge Kelly congratulated the Grand Jury, on the peaceable condition of the county, and said he hoped it would continue. In returning "no bill" in the only case sent before the Grand Jury, the foreman, Mr. Studdert, Gibson, said he was directed by them to say that they accepted with grateful thanks his Honor's remarks upon the quiet state of the county.

CORK.
 At the meeting of the Clonakilty Town Commissioners recently, Mr. D. O'Leary was unanimously re-elected chairman, a position which he has filled for the past twenty years.
 A melancholy case of suicide occurred a few days ago, near Tullylease, a young girl, daughter of a respectable farmer named Foley, putting an end to her existence by hanging herself in a barn attached to her residence. It is generally supposed that the mind of the unfortunate young girl was more or less affected for some time past. She was barely twenty-one years of age, and was a good and industrious girl.

KERRY.
 A special meeting of the Killarney Town Commissioners was held recently, for purpose of electing a chairman for the ensuing year. Mr. Leonard was elected by one majority over Mr. T. T. O'Connor, Mr. Sheehan, the previous chairman, having declined again to be a candidate.

LIMERICK.
 A fatal drowning accident occurred recently at the floating-dock, Limerick. Patrick O'Grady, aged 28, laborer, was engaged with some others floating wood from the western to the eastern side of the dock, and was standing on a temporary raft when he fell between the wood into the water. He was unable to get to the surface, and though assistance was given with all promptitude to extricate him, when brought on shore every effort made to resuscitate him, proved of no avail. Dr. Shanahan assisted in the effort, but in the end had to pronounce life extinct.

TIPPERARY.
 A report was received in Nenagh, to the effect that a farmer named Tobin had been killed near his own house, about three miles outside the town, in a dispute with another on the previous night. The parties are said to have been on unfriendly terms for some time, and a series of disputes culminated in a desperate encounter, in which Tobin's assailant used a bill-hook, with which he is alleged to have struck Tobin on the head, inflicting injuries of a serious nature.

WATERFORD.
 At the last Dungarvan Quarter Sessions a very young man named Magrath was charged with embezzlement. The jury disagreed, and he was put back to the assizes.

The Dublin Gazette announces the appointment of Charles Nugent

Mumby, Esquire, of Clonkoshraffe, County Waterford, to be Deputy Lieutenant, vice Colonel Hillier, deceased.

ULSTER.

ANTRIM.
 Mr. J. J. Kelly, B.L., editor of the Irish News, Belfast, has been appointed a Resident Magistrate of the county of Clare. It is needless to state that Mr. Kelly is a Nationalist, and the journal that he has edited with so much ability has long been the leading exponent of a National opinion in the Northern Capital.

ARMAOH.
 Mr. J. F. Small, Coroner, recently held an inquest in Newtownhamilton, on the body of Mr. Warrington, a merchant in Newtownhamilton, and agent for Sir William S. H. Kaye, late Under Secretary, Dublin Castle (who owns several townlands in that district), who had died suddenly in a trap, while being driven to Armagh to seek medical advice. Dr. Swann, of Newtownhamilton, deposed that the deceased was suffering for some time past from fatty degeneration of the heart. Verdict accordingly.

DERRY.
 Mr. James Kilroe, of Magherafelt, has been sworn in a Justice of the Peace for the county of Derry.

DONEGAL.
 A few days ago, a young man named Robert McCausland, of Carrigans, had a narrow escape from being drowned at Bundoran. It would appear that a Mr. Eakins, a student at Magee College, Derry, took advantage of an excursion to Bundoran, and having met with Mr. McCausland, they decided to have a bath in the open sea at the "Fairy Bridge," beyond Bundoran. The tide was a considerable distance out at the time, and Mr. McCausland was the first to get into the water, but being unable to swim, Mr. Eakins saw him struggling in a place beyond his depth, and then heard the call for "help." Mr. Eakins divesting himself of his shirt carried it in his hand until he was able to throw it to his companion, who fortunately caught the shirt, and was thus dragged out of deep water.

DOWN.
 It has been intimated to Mr. Patrick Fitzgerald, of Dromore, that the Lord Chancellor has appointed him to the Commission of the Peace for the county Down. Mr. Fitzgerald will sit at Dromore and Dromara. The appointment is a popular one.

MONAGHAN.
 Recently, at the weekly meeting of the Castleblaney Poor Law Guardians Mr. T. P. M. J. P. presiding, an official letter was read from the Local Government Board, refusing sanction the election of Mr. Patrick Prusty, as a master of the workhouse of Castleblaney Union and directing that the Guardians proceed to a new election without delay. After some discussion it was agreed to adjourn the matter for a month.

TYRONE.
 At Cookstown Petty Sessions, recently, a man named McCann, living at an evicted farm at Triskea, charged a young man named James McCourt, of Euseult, with assault and threatening language in Rockfair. The evidence was that McCourt was selling cattle, and when McCann came up to help a friend to buy, the accused called him a landgrabber, a rogue, and other names. The Resident Magistrate said there could be no evidence for the defence, but Col. Lowry, L.D., said they should hear both parties, and the bench unanimously decided to hear the evidence, the Resident Magistrate remarking that he was surprised that magistrates who were not lawyers should venture to differ from him on a technical point. Col. Lowry said they were not bound by his opinion. Ultimately McCourt was ordered to find security to be of good behavior, or to be imprisoned for one month.

Killing with neatness and dispatch appears to be the result fully achieved by the latest inventions in fire arms and ammunition. A Swiss officer named Hebler is alleged to have invented a bullet which, propelled by 2½ grammes of powder (about 4 grains) will penetrate 9 feet of wood at a distance of 1,400 yards. At 6,000 yards (nearly 3½ miles) it still has force enough to imbed itself in a wooden target. A pretty big yarn, but possibly true.

When a man says he likes to be absolutely alone when he is sick, he lies.
