A From With Four Wings. The curiosity of tropical Africa is the wonderful flying frog, first described by Bishoff of the equatorial African expedition, which returned to Burope in the fall of 1894. This oddliy of the reptile family is about the size of a common bullfrog and recembles other members of the or ar of betrachiens in every thing but its feet, each of which is webbed and enormously enlarged, so much so set to form splendid substitutes for true wings. The creature has five toes on each of the other two, which makes four separate membranes on each of its hind feet and three on each fore foot, or 14 in all. In his description of it Bishoff says, "Each leg terminates front of Gar-on's store on East Main in a sort of tun, and with these the littie reptile paddles the air like a locest. or like a partially fledged bird testing its pinions for the first time.".

Although somewhat awkward in its flight, the winged frog can dart through the air at a speed of about ten yards per second and can keep itself going forward at that rate for from 10 to 15 seconds. The average distance occurred by these sports of gramhopperlike flight is from 75 to 125 yards, but Bishoff mentions instances where the flying trop go again. cleared sandy stretches 200 yards in width St. Louis Republic.

WONDERLAND THEATER.

The opening of this theater will occur Monday esternoon next. Ex tensive improvements have been made preparatory to the winter season. The house has been renovated in every way. The lobby and vestibule at the head of the stairs and the theater proper has been handsomely decorated in white and gold. The extrance this season to the thester will be made directly from the restibule at the head of the main stairway. This will also forpish an exit for the people occupying the parquette. By this means they will be kept separate from the people in the gallery and balcony, who will leave the theater by the regular exit. In fact everything seems to have been its patrons.

T. G. Scott, the local manager of the Wonderland; in speaking to a season, said: "We propose this year to give a contiguous show. The tires bottle.
