THE CATHEDRAL

Rev. E. J. Hanna, of St. Bernard's Seminary, was the celebrant of the solemn High Mass last Sunday. Bishop McQuaid spoke feelingly of the Theological Seminary's work, and said that the institution was not yet what he would have it, or what it would be if he were spared a few years longer, if his people did their duty. He urged all to contribute liberally toward the maintenance and enlargement of the Seminary. He then preached on the Rosary.

H. H. EDGERTON

Candidate for Mayor.

A leading citizen of Rochester, and one of the largest contractors and builders in the city is H. H. Edgerton, who was born April 16th, 1847, at Belfast, Allegany Co., N. Y.

His early education was obtained in the public schools of his native town, and at eleven years of age he came with his parents to Rochester, completing his studies at the Free Academy. In 1865 he entered the lumber business with his father, Ralph H. Edgerton on the Island, now occupied by the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company, and upon his father's death in 1868, succeeded to the business, which he conducted successfully until 1880, when he sold out his interest to Chase & Otis.

After closing out the lumber business he entered the field of contracting and building, with which he has been prominently identified ever since. Among the large number of buildings which he has built we mention the following: The Government Building, the Wilder Building, Atling & Corey's Building, St. Michael's Church, Third Presbyterian Church, the South Wing of the Elmira Reformatory, St. Bernard's Seminary, and Western House of Refuge for Women at Albion, while numerous other large buildings in the city speak volumes for the range of his abilities and resources. In business circles his standing is among the first, and confidence in his business integrity is generally recognized as well as his ability to accomplish and carry out any contract in the building line of whatever magnitude. His past achievements, and the general satisfaction given by the work already accomplished, is an sufficient guarantee that he will continue to maintain in the future his well-earned reputation as one of the leading contractors of the city. He has held many positions of trust, both public and private. He was for several years President of the Builders' Exchange, a member of the Board of Trustees of the Chamber of Commerce, and is connected with several business enterprises, a large employer of labor, and has always held the respect and good will of his employees, and it is hoped Mayor will bring the same facilities to bear on a central business which has made his private business successful.
