A CARDINAL NOW

ELEVATION OF MGR. SATOLLI TO THE CARDINALATE.

BALTIMORE CATHEDRAL PACKED WITH DISTINGUISHED MEN.

AN IMPOSING CEREMONY

His Holiness Cables His Congratulations Which Are Read During the Services—Conferring of the Red Hat at Rome the Last Step in the Elevation.

Baltimore, Jan. 5.—The second step in the elaborate ceremony of elevating Francis Satolli, Archbishop of Lepanto and Apostolic Delegate to the United States, to the rank of Cardinal, Prince of the Church, took place in the venerable cathedral here to-day. To-day's ceremony consisted of conferring the beretta which is the cap worn by priests on ordinary occasions and differing only in the case of Cardinals in that it is red. The preceding steps have been the conferring of the zucchetto, or red skull cap, and the administering of the oath. The remaining step is the conferring of the red hat, which must be done in Rome, by the Pope himself, within six months from November 24th, the day upon which Satolli's appointment was made.

The old edifice in which the ceremony took place and in which the first American Bishop was ordained and the first American priest ordained, and which is presided over by the only American born member of the college of Cardinals, was packed to the doors with an audience which numbered among its members many of the most prominent ecclesiastical, diplomatic, legislative, educational and journalistic in America.

Archbishops, Bishops and eminent professors reported the Catholic Church in the congregation. The Vice President of the United States, numerous Congressmen, Senators, Judges and minor officials were present.

The initial step in the ceremonies of the day took place in the palace of the Cardinal shortly after 9 o'clock in the morning when Mgr. Sbarretti presented his credentials to Cardinal Gibbons. These credentials, which came from the Holy See, authorized Mgr. Sbarretti to act as the legate of the Pope, despatching Cardinal Gibbons to confer the beretta and announce to Mgr. Satolli his elevation to the Cardinalate. They were also accompanied by the beretta, which from that moment was in the custody of Cardinal Gibbons.

Cardinal Gibbons in receiving the documents and the beretta responded briefly, expressing his high appreciation of the honor conferred upon him and congratulating Mgr. Sbarretti upon the manner in which he had performed his duties in this country.

While the scene was in progress within the palace the procession was forming in front of Culver Hall, a block away. At 10 o'clock it was ready to start and when formed the participants were arranged as follows: First came the processional cross bearer with the crucifix raised high in the air and flanked on either side by a boy in smock and surplice. Following him were a long line of students from the various Catholic colleges, after which came seminarians from St. Mary's, then priests, then Franciscan monks, in their garb of brown. Following these came the members of the faculty of the Catholic University in Washington in long robes of black, lined with many colored silks, their heads adorned with the shofel-board hat of the scholar.

After these came half a hundred Bishops and a score or more of Archbishops, the purple and gold of their rich vestments glancing in the cold clear air, their immense trains held up by little boys in brilliant vestments, too. In this formation they marched through the Cathedral to Charles Street and passed the palace of the Cardinal where they were joined by His Eminence, who took his place last in the line. Upon his head he wore the red beretta, an exact duplicate of the one which he was soon to confer upon the man who will for some time, at least, share his honors in this country. Upon his shoulders hung the beautiful cloak of ceremonial silk and ermine, with half a dozen tassels and a cardinal's hat.

In this order they swept along up Mulberry Street to the Cathedral again where they filed into the venerable old pile through the main entranceway. Satolli was not in the procession but as the head of it reached the altar he, accompanied by Mgr. Sbarretti, Marquis Scarpitti, the member of the Noble Guard, who brought the cardinal's insignia here, and the priests who had been deputed to assist him in the solemn procedure, entered the cathedral from a rear door, leading from the palace and advanced to the front of the altar. The students and seminarians filed to the right and to the left as they passed in front of the high altar, finding seats on either side. The others in the procession advanced with the sanctuary and took the places reserved for them.

The decorations within the church were of a simple character, save at the altar, the beauty of the paintings which the walls are adorned with rendering other embellishment unnecessary. Upon the altar, however, the ladies of the congregation had spent their best efforts, and the result was a novel and beautiful beyond compare. Great festoons of evergreen drooped gracefully from the tops of the massive columns at the rear of the altar, and twisted around their columns to the floor. Equally graceful loops of crows-foot and hawthorn from the arched over each of the smaller altars at the sides. The tabernacle was fairly hidden beneath a shower of cardinal roses, symbolic, not only of the robes of the priest, but also of the joy of the occasion. Grouped everywhere about the altar were ferns and scarlet geraniums, palms and pink hydrangeas, and such a wealth of other beautiful blooms and blossoms as must have exhausted all the capacious hot-houses for miles around. The altar itself was literally overrun with strands of amalia, and from hundred interstices among the green, scarlet, pink and cardinal power gleamed scores of waxen tapers, twinkling like stars in the argument and producing an effect both beautiful and impressive.

Upon either side of the great auditorium two thrones had been erected, one for the old, grey-headed Cardinal, and the other for the new Cardinal. Both were hung with the rich colors of the Princes of the Church, and both were profusely adorned with amalia, laurel and evergreen, draped around the sides and looped back from the front.

As the procession wound its way down the center aisle the organ, a full orchestra and a chorus of fifty voices rendered a triumphal march. When Cardinal Gibbons reached the altar, he bowed low to Satolli who returned the salutation, and each, accompanied by his assistant priest and deacons of honor, sought the throne upon which he was to rest during the greater part of the ceremony. That of Cardinal Gibbons was on the Gospel or left side of the altar; that of Satolli upon the Epistle or right side. The deacons, eight in number, were as follows: Assistant priest to Cardinal Gibbons, Very Rev. Dr. A. L. Magrini, Superior of St. Mary's Seminary; deacon of honor to Cardinal Gibbons, Very Rev. Dr. William O'Brien Fardow, provincial of the Jesuits, and Very Rev. Dr. W. H. O'Connell, Rector of the American College at Rome; assistant priest to Cardinal Satolli, Rev. Dr. Kennedy, of Philadelphia; deacon of honor to Cardinal Satolli, Rev. Edward J. McGovern, of St. Cecilia's Church, Brooklyn, N. Y., and Rev. Edward J. Haas, of St. Bernard's Seminary, Rochester, N. Y.; deacon of the Mass, Rev. M. J. Higgins, of St. Mary's Church, Barre, Vt.; deacon of the Mass, Rev. J. J. Deacon, of the Mass, Rev. George Dougherty, of St. Augustin's Church, Washington.

With the exception of Drs. Magrini and Fardow all of those serving in the mass were students of Cardinal Satolli when he gave instruction in dogmatic theology at the Propaganda in Rome.

When the two persons most prominent in the ceremonies of the day had taken their places Marquis Scarpitti, clad in the scarlet, gold and white uniforms of the Noble Guard, wearing high top boots and sword and helmet on, advanced from his position near the center of the altar and deposited on the left hand of Cardinal Gibbons the Cardinal's documents and the beretta. Then he crossed the altar and stood in front of the throne occupied by Satolli, lifted his helmet and falling back, took up a position to the right of Satolli. On the same side stood Eugene Kelly, of New York, and on the opposite side of Satolli's throne stood Charles Astor Bristead, also of New York, Chamberlains to the Pope. Both were clad in the regulation black cloth swallow-tail coat and the low cut vest of evening dress. As soon as all the principal actors in the spectacle had assumed their positions Dr. Scarpitti, of the University at Washington, advanced, and in Latin, read the following document to Satolli from the Pope:

"Although unworthy, being constituted by Divine mercy in the sublimity of the Apostolic See and by virtue of my office, having care of the welfare of the Catholic Church among our chief solitudes is that the college of our venerable brothers, the Cardinals of the Roman Church, should be kept brilliant by most distinguished men, as the dignity of that most splendid order demands. For this reason we have determined to inscribe in their number, for your great piety, your zeal for the Catholic faith, your learning, prudence and other most admirable qualities and gifts of mind, lead us to hope that your ministry will be one of great use and benefit to the church of God. To you, therefore, created by us a Cardinal of the Holy Roman Church, we send on one of the insignia of this sublime dignity, the red beretta, by our beloved son, Donatus Sbarretti, one of our private Chamberlains in order that, when it shall have been conferred on you you may understand by the mark of brilliant purple, that you, having been raised to the Cardinalate, must ever stand firm and invincible against all dangers for the church of God, even to the shedding of your blood, precious in the sight of the Lord. We sincerely hope that you will receive kindly and treat with all consideration the person whom we send to you, both because of the mission he is fulfilling and for our sake. We desire, however, that before you receive the beretta you should be all making like the oath which will be presented to you by the said Donatus Sbarretti and return it with the sign of the cross other power."

"Given at St. Peter's, Rome, under the seal of the Fisherman, on the 24th day of November, 1923, in the eighteenth year of our pontificate.

(Signed) "C. Card. de Ruffini."

The document was then shown to Satolli by Cardinal de Ruffini, who was seated to the right of the altar. Satolli, who was seated to the left of the altar, received the document with a look of intense interest and joy. He then turned to the Cardinal Chamberlain and said: "I am very glad to receive this document from the Pope. It is a great honor for me to be elevated to the rank of Cardinal. I will do my best to serve the church of God with fidelity and devotion."

Cardinal Gibbons then turned to Satolli and said: "I am very glad to see you elevated to the rank of Cardinal. It is a great honor for you and for the church of God. I will do my best to serve the church of God with fidelity and devotion."

Cardinal Gibbons then turned to Satolli and said: "I am very glad to see you elevated to the rank of Cardinal. It is a great honor for you and for the church of God. I will do my best to serve the church of God with fidelity and devotion."

Cardinal Gibbons then turned to Satolli and said: "I am very glad to see you elevated to the rank of Cardinal. It is a great honor for you and for the church of God. I will do my best to serve the church of God with fidelity and devotion."

"Our Beloved Son, Health and Apostolic Benediction.

"Following in the footsteps of our predecessors, the Roman Pontiffs, we have always been desirous that the College of Cardinals should abound with men whose religion and virtue and brilliant gifts of mind should correspond with the great splendor and dignity of that college.

"We have therefore thought well to create a cardinal of the Holy Roman Church, our venerable brother, Francis Satolli, titular Archbishop of Lepanto and delegate of the Apostolic See in the republic of the United States of North America, whose piety, learning, devotion to the Roman See, zeal and industry in cultivating the field of the Lord have been so plainly manifest to us that we have deemed him worthy of so great an honor.

"Now, however, since some one must be chosen to confer the beretta, one of the insignia of his new dignity, we have determined to commit that office to you, beloved son, wherefore by our Apostolic authority by these presents we commit to you the office of conferring in our name, on our beloved son, Francis Satolli, created Cardinal of the Holy Roman Church, the red beretta, which we have sent him by our beloved son, Donatus Sbarretti, one of our private Chamberlains, observing all and singly the laws which are prescribed by the rights of the church, and we therefore concede and impart to you by the same Apostolic authority and by these presents all the faculties which may be necessary or opportune. All apostolic constitutions and ordinances, even though they might need special and individual mention and derogation to the contrary notwithstanding.

"Given at St. Peter's, Rome, under the seal of the Fisherman, on the 24th day of November, 1923, in the 18th year of our pontificate.

(Signed) "C. Card. de Ruffini."

"To Our Beloved Son, James, Cardinal Priest of the Holy Roman Church, Gibbons, by Apostolic Delegation, Archbishop of Baltimore."

The reading of the Papal brief having been finished, Mgr. Sbarretti advanced to a point in front of Cardinal Gibbons' throne and delivered an address in Latin. When Mgr. Sbarretti had finished speaking Cardinal Gibbons responded briefly, in Latin and then turning toward the throne occupied by Satolli spoke in English as follows:

Your Eminence: I regard it as a great honor and privilege to be chosen by the Holy Father to act in his name and representative in conferring upon you the beretta which you have been asked to receive.
