WEXFORD.

The disappearance of a farmer named James Murphy, of Tomfarnoy pear Enniscorthy, coupled with other facts which have come to light, render it almost a matter of certainty that he has met his death through a end drowning fatality in the Sisney. Murphy was to English cortby, on November 21. The last seen of him was when he was going in the direction of the quar, it was dusk, and about that time a local gardener who was passing up the opposite quay heard shouts apparently of somebody in the water. When it became known that Murpby was missing, the connection of the incidents became obvious and a mearch was made; but, up to last accounts the body had not been
