CONNAUGHT.

GALWAY.

The death is announced, at the Franciscan Monastery, county Galway, of Brother John Smyth, a native of Lismacanigan, county Cavan, after a few days illness, deeply regretted by all who knew him.

J. F. O'Malley passed finally at the recent conjoint examination of the Royal College of Physicians and Royal College of Surgeons. Dr O'Malley is a son of Mr. Peter O'Malley, of Kilmilkin, county Galway.

The projected railway from Loughrea to Woodford, Portumna, and Birr has received universal local support. At Abbey there was recently a union of all parties in furtherance of the line. Mr. Tener, agent to the Marquis of Clanricarde, and Mr. Lewis, of Ballinagar, vied with the venerable Bishop of Clonfert and Father Egan in pressing on the Government to give a free grant for the construction of the railway.

The Killannin parish dispute occupied the Chief Baron and a Dublin special jury, in the Court of Exchequer, for four days, recently. It was an action brought by the Rev. P. Coyne, against the district inspector of Spiddal, county Galway, for £500 for assault and battery committed on him by the defendant inside the Sacristy of the Catholic Church of Killannin, Galway. The Archbishop of Tuam and the Bishop of Galway were examined, and the jury finally found a verdict in favor of the defendant, which will leave Father Coyne to bear a heavy bill of legal costs.

LEITRIM.

With much regret we record the death of Mr. Frank O'Rourke, son of the late Captain O'Rorke, of Dromahaire, who was for many years the courteous and efficient master of Lough Gill steamers. Mr. O'Rorke was for some years a popular assistant in the establishment of Messrs. Robertson & Ferguson, Knox street, Sligo. He married the daughter of the late Mr. Brady, of Wine street, Sligo, after which he removed to Boston, Mass.

MAYO.

At Ballina, recently, an influential deputation waited on the Most Rev. Dr. Conmy, to present him with an address of welcome and a purse of sovereigns on his return from Rome. The deputation was introduced by Dr. Macaulay, chairman of the committee, in an eloquent speech, which was responded to by the Bishop in feeling terms.

Mayo is setting a good example to the rest of Ireland in the matter of reorganization of the National Confederation. The farmers realize that the country's interests and their own are intimately involved in the efforts now being made. The character of the next Land bill will mainly depend upon the organization of Ireland and the pressure it is able to put on the Government.

SLIGO.

The Mayor of Sligo has called a meeting of the inhabitants of the town, to assemble in the Town Hall, to consider what steps should be taken in regard to the street preaching nuisance, which has kept the town in confusion for some months past.

Susan McKenna, a woman of over eighty years, who lived alone in a small cottage at Shannon, Sligo, was found dead in her house. Sergeant Kelly, on being told by a neighbor of deceased that she had not been seen about as usual, proceeded to the house and forced open the door, which was barred on the inside. He found deceased quite dead by the side of her bed. There was a lot of matches and a candle on a table close by, and it is surmised that she must have been retiring to rest when she was seized with a fit.

LEINSTER.

DUBLIN.

Councillor Joseph Hutchinson, No. 9 Merchants' quay, has been appointed High Sheriff of Dublin city.

The Kingstown Commissioners, on the motion of Mr. L. J. O'Brien, have passed a motion petitioning the Board of Trade to grant a Provisional Order to enable them to supply electric light for public and private purposes within their township.

As the final result of the legal dispute over the gas bill for lighting the streets of Dublin the city ratepayers will have to foot the nice little bill of £1,670 to the Gas Company as taxed for the recent litigation. The Corporation's own costs cannot be much less; and, thus, over three thousand pounds have been thrown away in a legal tussle which could have been easily avoided.

KING'S.

Mr. John Carroll, who has been supervisor of Birr district for the past five years, has been promoted to Plymouth, one of the most important English stations in the service. Mr. Carroll's successor is Mr. Patrick Kennedy, who was for some time stationed in Belfast and was formerly in Birr.

A rural postman, named Thomas Hacket, was coming down an avenue of Bellair House, the residence of Mr. William B. Homan Mulock, High Sheriff of King's county, when a collie dog attacked him with great fierceness. The man defended himself as best he could, and in the struggle had his overcoat torn off by the infuriated animal. Luckily, just as he had become exhausted, Mr. Mulock came on the scene with a fowling piece, and shot the dog.

LOUTH.

In Dublin, recently, the case of Mary White against T. Byrne was set down for hearing in the Exchequer Division, before Master Pigot and a jury of six, for the purpose of assessing damages. The action was brought by a young woman living in Dundalk against a sea captain, to recover damages for breach of promise of marriage, and judgement has been allowed to go by default. There was no appearance for the defendant. Only four jurors answered to their names, and the hearing of the case had to be adjourned. Master Pigot fined the absent jurors £2 each.

MEATH.

In the Landed Estates Court, Dublin, before Judge Madden, the estate of Mr. B. Fullam was put up for sale, the petitioner being J. J. Dalton, the unsuccessful candidate for the parliamentary representation of Meath. Mr. Fullam, accompanied by Father McIntee, Donore, was present. For lot 1, Mr. J. Carew, Kildangan, bid £500. Mr. Brown said he did not think it sufficient; he'd like to get an opportunity of private offers. Mr. Carew increased to £800, but the Judge said the sale could not be re-opened. For lot 2, the bidders were Mr. Carew and Mr. Collins, on behalf of Mr. Fullam. The hammer fell at £1,130. Mr. Fullam's last bid being £1,120.

WESTMEATH.

Recently Most Rev. Dr. Nulty returned to Mullingar from Rome, and after his arrival was waited upon by a deputation of the most influential citizens of the town, with kind inquiries for his health. The Bishop had suffered from a slight indisposition, and on this account could not bear the fatigue of replying to the address which was presented to him. The presentatation of the address was consequently deferred till the night of the banquet, and for the same reason the usual torchlight procession was dispensed with.

WEXFORD.

"A Wexford Tenant Farmer" writes, drawing attention to the liberal treatment of his tenantry by Sir John Talbot Power. Notwithstanding that Judge Bewley, chairman of the Land Commissioners, thinks himself justified in increasing rents, this landlord, who knows from actual contact with the people the true state of affairs, has, through his agents, voluntarily granted to all his tenants, on the Lampton estate, a reduction of 20 per cent on their rents. Sir John Power's brothers—Mr. James Talbot Power and Mr. Thomas Talbot Power—have imitated this good example in their dealings with the tenants on their Wexford estates, and have given the same abatements.

WICKLOW.

An extensive farmer named Thomas Fair, who resides in the townland of Drumcaw, recently met with a serious accident while working in a quarry. He was raising material to repair a road, and while so engaged had undermined an embankment, when suddenly he was precipitated to the ground by a fall of stones and clay, by which he was almost completely buried, no part of his body being visible but his head. Fortunately, it was about midday, and two of his children went to the quarry to call him to his dinner, and having given the alarm, the neighbors gathered and rescued the unfortunate man in a very weak and exhausted condition. On recovering consciousness he was conveyed home, and remains in a critical condition, some of his limbs being badly injured.

MUNSTER.

CLARE.

Recently a fire broke out in the extensive six-storied premises situated on the Lower Leamore quays, Kilrush, and in the short space of an hour from the commencement of the conflagration the stores were completely gutted. The damage is estimated at about £2,000. Mr. H. S. Vandeleur, Kilrush House, is the owner of the stores, but he had leased them for a term of years to Mr. Simon McAuliffe, of Knock, a large fishery proprietor. The latter, it is stated, has the premises fully insured.

CORK.

At the Police Office, Cork, Constable Stanley was presented with the bronze medal of the Royal Humane Society for saving life.

The vacancy on the Board of Directors of the Cork and Macroom Direct Railway, caused by the death of Mr. Denny Lane, has been filled by the appointment of Alderman E. J. Julian.

A new bell, weighing thirty cwt., has been set up in St. Patrick's Church, Bandon. The tone of the bell is deep and sonorous, and shows that the greatest care was taken in its construction.

KERRY.

The project for the construction of a line of railway to Waterville, in continuation of the existing line to Valentia, took practical shape recently, when a meeting of the promoters, representative and influential in character, was held at Waterville. The scheme has been under consideration for some time by some influential residents of the district, who believe that incalculable benefit would be conferred on a wide district by the proposed line.

LIMERICK.

The directors of the Waterford and Limerick Railway have decided to extend their locomotive and carriage building works in Limerick. Owing to the growth of traffic, the present arrangements are unable to cope with the amount of work in repairing and making new stock. At present the company spend about £30,000 a year locally, and it is anticipated that the extended works will give employment to a large additional number of hands. It is expected the contract for building the new works will be put in hands immediately.

TIPPERARY.

Patrick Dwyer, the husband of the woman Bridget Dwyer, who died in Cashel Workhouse recently from fracture of the skull, was brought before Mr. Joyce, in the Courthouse, Cashel, on a charge of having murdered his wife, and was held to await the result of the investigation.

WATERFORD.

Four desperate assaults, three imperilling life, occurred in Nenagh recently. In one instance a man named Kennedy got into a row with another man named Bourke, and in the course of the struggle Kennedy got his finger almost bitten off, and his hand so badly injured otherwise that one of the main arteries was severed. Another man named Cunningham sustained desperate stabbing injuries. He has declined to disclose the identity of his assailant. The third case was one in which a woman named Bonfield had her arm broken while interfering in a quarrel which occurred between her son and a man named Patrick Slattery. The fourth assault was committed by two men named Gleason on a man named John Ryan, of Castlewaller. The lives of three of the injured persons cannot be certified out of danger. The authors of the assaults, excepting in the case of Cunningham's assailant, are in custody.

ULSTER.

ANTRIM.

The Press Association says a full meeting of the Clyde and Belfast Master Engineers was held in Glasgow recently. The proceedings were private and the only information given to the press was that the masters had decided to abide by the conference proposals in the shipyard strike.

ARMAGH.

Recently news reached Armagh of a fatal accident which took place at Milford, by which an old man named Terrence Morgan lost his life. It appears that deceased, who was a carter in the employment of Mr. R. G. McCrum, mill-owner, was engaged loading coal at a deep coal pit, when he somehow fell headforemost into the pit, sustaining terrible injury. Dr. Gray, Armagh, was speedily in attendance on the unfortunate man, but, notwithstanding all efforts to save him, he died in a few hours.

DERRY.

At Tullyavin, Moville, Mr. William O'Doherty coroner for Inishowen, held an inquest touching the death of a little girl named Jane Coyle, daughter of a laboring man. On the previous Saturday night, during the absence of the father, the deceased and a younger sister were seated at the fire, when an improvised oil lamp fell on the floor, and the oil igniting caught the elder girl's clothes. The jury returned a verdict of death from burns, and added a rider calling upon the Legislature to restrict the manufacture of cheap lamps.

DOWN.

The Newry Board of Guardians recently accepted with regret the resignation of Mr. Joseph Bell, for over forty years their clerk, and it was decided to appoint his successor in three weeks time. As requested, the retiring clerk laid before the meeting a return of his salary and emoluments, from which it appeared that the total remuneration amounted to £425. After a long and heated discussion it was decided that the salary of the new clerk should be £250, inclusively of all emoluments, a proposal that it should be so arranged as to amount to £350 being negatived by 17 votes to 15.

MONAGHAN.

An alleged shooting affray has taken place in the townland of Conigore, about three miles from Clones. Two commercial travelers, it is stated, were driving along the road in the direction of that town, and came into collision with a man named Haughton, who was driving a horse and cart. One bullet touched him and others struck the cart. Two arrests have been made.

TYRONE.

At Strabane Petty Sessions, Head Constable Dunbar said a very bad feeling had sprung up between the members of the two rival football teams—the "Harps" and the "Reserves." There had been serious conflicts in the streets, and these culminated when the police had to be called out to quell the disorder. The chairman (Mr. Herdman) said that if, after being warned, the football-players renewed the disorder, the police would have the sanction of the magistrates to at once proceed with a prosecution.

All the copper tubes in the English torpedo boat destroyers of the reserve fleet at Portsmouth are to be taken out and galvanized steel tubes substituted. The copper fittings have broken down in a number of the boats that have been tested.
