BRITISH BADLY BEATEN.

Defenders of Buluwayo Repulsed and Defeated by Savages.

CAPE TOWN April 25. Further particulars received from Buluwayo in regard to the sortie of the British show that when the Matabele main body was first made out, about four miles west of Buluwayo the enemy occupied a ridge on top of which were earthworks and stone parapets and prepared to receive the British force. Consequently a slight detour was made so as to bring the column slightly north of Buluwayo

The enemy were found to be occupying four miles of well selected positions on the north bank of the Umguza river and after fierce fighting the natives drove the British back and down the bank Cr[illegible] the river in the retreat F. C. Selous had a narrow escape. His horse was k[illegible] midstream and he became entangled in the stirrups. When he extricated himself he was half drowned and would have sunk had it not been for Lieut. Windley, who swam his horse out to the middle of the river, in face of the fire of the enemy, rescued Selous and carried him to the left bank without injury

When the British rallied and drove back the Matabele, as already stated, they were engaged with only a portion of the Matabele force and as soon as these were swarmed over the ridge in large numbers they almost surrounded the British and the latter were compelled to retreat.

The squad of troopers previously referred to in these dispatches as having been for a time quite cut off and only able to extricate itself by a brilliant charge through the Matabele cordon, was Captain Grey's scouts. They were to a certain degree ambushed and almost in the hands of the enemy, when by a desperate rush they extricated themselves

It is now said that both the Hotchkiss and the Maxim rapid fire guns worked badly, and they were only used for a comparatively short time, as the mechanism jammed repeatedly

No correct estimate of the killed or wounded has yet been received, the only statement on this subject made being that of the official report which says that the British loss was very slight and that the Matabele lost heavily The opinion is gaining that the British suffered a bad defeat and that the Matabele loss was not so great as at first rumored.

TREASURY DEFICIT.

For the Present Fiscal Year It Will Reach $25,000,000.

WASHINGTON, April 27 — The treasury deficit for the fiscal year ending June 30 1896, will be approximately $25,000,000. This is the opinion of officials and others best qualified to make an intelligent estimate of the result of the fiscal operations of the year

In his annual estimates sent to congress at the beginning of the present session the secretary of the treasury estimated the receipts from customs during the fiscal year at $172,000,000 So far, with nearly 10 months of the year gone, the customs receipts have reached about $137,000,000, with a fair prospect of increasing to $165,000,000 by the close of the year

The estimate of the receipts from internal revenue sources was $178,000,000. Up to this time they have reached $130,000,000, and it is expected that the figures for the completed year will be about $146,000,000

The receipts from miscellaneous sources are expected to slightly exceed the estimates of $15,000,000, making the total receipts for the year about $327,000,000. The secretary's estimate of the year's expenditures was $333,000,000, which, according to his figures, would leave a deficiency of $17,000,000 The actual expenditures, however, it is now thought, will aggregate about $332,000,000, or $10,000,000 less than Mr Carlisle's estimate in December last, so that the deficit at the close of the year, it is believed, will not show any very material change from Saturday's figures, $25,162,423 This makes the total deficit for the three fiscal years ending June 30, 1896, $136,301,512.

The secretary's estimates at the time they were made were believed by those of long experience in the department to be extremely conservative The receipts from both customs and internal revenue sources, however, have been surprisingly low, and there does not seem to be any immediate prospect of material improvements.

CRIPPLE CREEK IN FLAMES.

One Half of the Mining Town Reduced to Ashes.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Colo., April 27—A fire which has laid more than half of this city in ashes broke out in the Central dance hall. The entire east end of the city, which includes about all the business portion and the Stock Exchange, has been destroyed.

All that remains of the bustling mining town is the western end, which is given up mostly to the houses of the miners and gold operators.

Roughly estimated at this time, the loss will reach about $3,000,000.

China to Build a Railroad.

PEKIN, April 27.—An imperial edict authorizes the building of a railroad from Pekin to Hankow This is to be a grand trunk line and the emperor says that, as the distance is great and the cost immense, he grants the privilege of constructing it to wealthy men in the various provinces who can show a capacity of at least 10,000,000 taels. Government officials are ordered not to interfere with the gains or losses of the company and the promoters are promised tokens of imperial approbation if they are successful. The edict is addressed not only to people in the capital, the provinces and other dependencies of the empire, but also to "our people laboring in other lands."

SENTENCED TO DEATH.

Johannesburg Reform Committee Thus Doomed.

PLEAD GUILTY OF HIGH TREASON

British Authorities Think the Boers Will Not Dare to Put to Death These Prominent Men - Petition For Hammond's Pardon.

LONDON April 29.—The Chartered South Africa company has received a cable dispatch from Johannesburg giving further details of the judgment of the high court at Pretoria in the case of the members of the National Reform committee This dispatch states that in addition to the sentence of death passed upon the leaders of the reform committee 60 other members have been sentenced to two years' imprisonment a fine of £2,000 ($10,000) and three years subsequent banishment.

The dispatch adds: "There is great excitement here (in Johannesburg) and unless the sentences are speedily commuted trouble is expected."

There seems to be a misunderstanding as to the number of members of the reform committee who have been sentenced to death Mr Chamberlain said Rhodes, Phillips Farrar Hammond and another whose name he had forgotten When he was asked if it was Leonard, he replied "No," so it was presumed that it might be Fitzpatrick another English member of the committee

But, later in the day the under secretary of the colonial office, the Earl of Selborne, announced in the house of lords that a cable dispatch had been received from Sir Hercules Robinson, the governor of Cape Colony, confirming the announcement that the sentence of death had been imposed upon Rhodes Phillips Farrar and Hammond and making no mention of a fifth member of the committee as having been sentenced to death Thus it appears that Mr Chamberlain was in error.

While Mr Chamberlain's announcement of the sentencing of the reformers caused a sensation inside and outside of parliament and was eagerly discussed in the lobbies, where it is thought to have increased the gravity of the situation in South Africa, there is an inner ring of politicians who are inclined to think that the whole matter is the result of a deal between the prisoners and the Boer authorities and that the former obtained the assurance that their sentences would be commuted, before they pleaded guilty to the charge of high treason.

Of the condemned men, John Hays Hammond, manager of the De Beers mines, is an American, but Mr Chamberlain, when he was first arrested, assured the state department that his interests would be looked after by Great Britain as if he was a British subject

Colonel Francis W. Rhodes is a brother of Cecil Rhodes, formerly premier of Cape Colony, and an officer, official or unofficial, of the British Chartered South Africa company

Percy Farrar is a newspaper proprietor and owner of Country Life, published at Johannesburg

Lionel Phillips is the president of the chamber of Mines of Johannesburg

Mr Chamberlain's secretary, Mr Wilson, was questioned by a representative of the press as to what steps would be taken by the British government to save the life of Mr Hammond

Mr Wilson said that no communication regarding Mr Hammond had recently been received from Washington, nor had the colonial office been approached by the United States embassy Therefore Mr Wilson refused to make public the nature of the steps which would be taken in Mr. Hammond's behalf until Mr Chamberlain had seen the United States ambassador, Mr Bayard on the subject

Petition For Hammond's Pardon.

WASHINGTON, April 29—When Senator Stewart who is a personal friend of Mr Hammond, heard of his conviction, he immediately set to work to prepare a petition in Mr Hammond's behalf, which he circulated among senators and members of the house The petition is addressed to President Kruger and is a plea for pardon It sets forth the high character of the accused and states that his family and associations here were of the best, and while it is conceded by the petitioners that the crime to which he has pleaded guilty is a most serious one and directed against a government for which the signers have a high regard, they will ask, as an act of clemency that the offense be condoned and the prisoner liberated The petition was signed by all to whom it was presented.

FATAL FLAMES IN TEXAS.

One Life Lost and Heavy Damage Done to Property.

PARIS, April 29—A disastrous fire involving a loss of life and $250,000 worth of property broke out in the 3-story building of J. K. Bywaters on South Main street. In a short time the flames spread to the warehouse of M. E. Allen & Co., the Clements building and Hotel Peterson. The fire raged for six hours, when the firemen succeeded in getting it under control.

John Saulsman, a tie inspector from Winster, I. T., who was occupying a room in the Bywaters building, was suffocated and burned to death. There is a suspicion that he was murdered and the building set on fire to conceal the crime.

While the firemen were playing on the flames, a wall fell, crushing S. H. Ramsey and Louis Rootche, the former fatally and the latter seriously.

The Hotel Peterson was the largest in North Texas, outside of Dallas and Fort Worth, and was valued at $60,000; insurance, $20,000.

Threatened Strike In Toronto.

TORONTO, April 29.—Dissatisfaction exists in the Bricklayers' union here and unless terms can be arranged with the bosses it is probable that a strike will be ordered. Last year wages were reduced from 21 cents to 18 cents per hour and it is to raise this price that the union now threatens to order the men out. There are about 600 men in the Toronto union and if a strike is ordered it will affect all labor connected with the building trades.

Joke Leads to Suicide.

DUNVILLE, Ont., April 29.—Some young men in sport told Frederick Tice, aged about 70, a farmer, living near here, that he was to be arrested for assaulting his brother. He replied that the constable would find a dead man. The young men thought nothing of the remark, but Tice at once got a rope and hanged himself.

WILL STAND BY HIS SON.

Father of Hildreth, the Alleged Train Wrecker, Thinks He Is Innocent.

ROME N. Y. April 28—The work of selecting a jury in the trial of the boy train wreckers was continued here.

J. Homer Hildreth of New York, father of J. Watson Hildreth, in company with Attorney Sayles, visited his son at the jail. Jailer Owens took the boy into the front parlor of the jail residence, where an affecting scene took place between the father and the boy. The former embraced his son affectionately and tears filled the eyes of both.

After a consultation of 10 minutes, the boy was taken into the courtroom when the court convened and the work of securing two jurors to complete the panel was commenced

The elder Hildreth will remain here during the trial and sit beside his son in the courtroom

Two more jurors were examined and the old panel was exhausted without securing any more than the 10 jurors sworn in last Friday Work of examining the extra panel was then commenced

One juryman was secured out of 21 examined, making 11 in all There are 10 of the extra panel left from which to secure the 12th juror

J. Homer Hildreth, father of the boy who is on trial, made the statement that he would stand by his son, believing from what the latter said that he is not guilty of the crime alleged against him. He says that even at the present time his son is unable to realize the situation owing to the excitement through which he has passed and to the imprisonment, which has told heavily upon him.
