MARK ERMEL'S SINKS.

Her Kaito Crew Rescued With Difficulty by La Bourgogne.

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—The French line steamer La Bourgogne, which arrived here, brought into port Captain Ahrens and 11 of the crew of the German bark Kaito, which was abandoned in a sinking condition on July 23 in latitude 42.31, longitude 52.15. Captain Ahrens stated that the Kaito sailed from Carnarvon for Shetland, N. B., in ballast on June 23. Fine weather was experienced after leaving port, but on getting out into the Atlantic the wind freshened and increased until it blew a strong gale from the westward, causing a very heavy sea, in which the Kaito labored and strained so heavily that she sprang a bad leak. All hands were compelled to work the pumps constantly, but in spite of their efforts the water gained in the hold. On July 23, when the pumps were sounded, it was found there was 10 feet of water in the hold.

Bad weather continued and it became evident that the Kaito would soon sink. Signals of distress were hoisted and a sharp lookout kept in the hope of sighting some passing vessel. For nearly 48 hours not a single sail nor the smoke of a passing steamer could be seen on the horizon. On the morning of July 28 the La Bourgogne came in sight and at once bore down on the disabled vessel.

A lifeboat was quickly lowered. The sea was running high and Lieutenant Money, who was in charge of the boat, was knocked overboard. He was rescued with considerable difficulty. Another boat was lowered and soon the entire crew of 13 men were transferred to the steamer amid the cheers of the passengers.

The Kaito was an old vessel. She was built in Quebec in 1866 and was registered 659 tons.
