ST. MICHAEL'S

St. Michael's church choir presented the following letter with a handsome book case to their director, Mr. Fred O. Pohl, on the occasion of his 24th anniversary:

"Today is the twenty-fourth anniversary of your natal day, and we should do injustice to our feelings were we to permit the occasion to pass without expressing our most sincere congratulations and uniting in wishing you many happy returns of the day.

"Aside from the near tie of friendship and companionship which exists between us, we shall ever cherish with feelings of gratitude the remembrance of the many favors and kindness we have received at your hands. Consequently it is only natural we should feel a grateful interest in each return of this your happy anniversary. Fortunate indeed are you to be held in so high esteem among us at yet the youthful age; you can review your past life with satisfaction, for, after all, there is no happiness so complete as that afforded by looking back upon a well spent life.

"Birthdays are the milestones which mark the progress of the traveler along the difficult highway of life, and happy is the individual who can pass each one without a sigh of regret or a feeling of interest in the future.

"We kindly request your acceptance of the accompanying present as an emblem of high esteem and perpetual friendship on our part. Please receive it in the spirit in which it is tendered.

"With our best wishes for your future happiness and prosperity, we remain,

"Sincerely yours,
"ST. MICHAEL'S CHURCH CHOIR"

Six Young Ladies Received into the Order of the Sisters of St. Joseph.

Right Reverend B. J. McQuaid received six young ladies into the Order of the Sisters of St. Joseph at Nazareth convent last Saturday morning. Their names are: Miss Elizabeth Ryan, Rochester, now Sister M. Corona; Miss Ida Winters, Rochester, now Sister M. Amata; Miss Anna Comboy, Auburn, now Sister M. Romana; Miss Anne Cortin, Moravia, now Sister M. Hilary; Miss Mary Dalton, Clifton Springs, now Sister M. Anthony; Miss Mary Hogan, Rochester, now Sister M. Felix.

Seven novices having lived under the rule of the order for two years pronounced their first annual vows. Their names are: Sisters Gerard, Lydia, Oleta, Afra, Loyola, Amanda and Otilia.

The mass was celebrated by our Right Reverend Bishop, who delivered a beautiful address to those entering on a new sphere of life. His words were touching and fraternal, inspiring them with lofty hopes and aspirations, encouraging them to give to God's service the best life-deeds they could perform.

The following obargmen were present in the sanctuary, viz: Rev. J. F. O'Hare, D. D., V. G.; Father Nolan, D. D.; Breen, D. D.; Kiernan, Hickey, Hughes, Stratton, Garvey, O'Hanlon, Staub and Farron.

Cook Opera House.

At the Cook, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, and Monday and Wednesday matinees, September 7th, 8th and 9th, the successful farce "A Baggage Check," will be given.

The company this season includes such favorites as: Little Melrose, the Bowery girl, her original part; Louis Martinette, the acrobatic comedian, whose work as Billy Butts, a Yank of no importance, was one of the hits last season; Charles A. Graywin, late of "A Railroad Ticket" company; Frank Daniels' company; Thomas E. Evans, as Robin Steele, whose character impersonation of a tramp are devoid of the usual vulgarity commonly seen by the amusement loving public; Charles A. Morgan, James A. Marcus and other favorites comprise the cast.

"At Coney Island" is the significant title of the new play which inaugurates the starring career of Mathews & Bulger, and which will be seen Thursday, Friday and Saturday evening and Saturday matinee, September 10th, 11th and 12th. There is in the title itself a refreshing degree of newness, and a play dealing faithfully with life at this bewildering seashore resort, must possess an element of diversion that will be received with favor by theatregoers generally. Mathews & Bulger promise not only a complete three act play, devoted to a phase of life at Coney Island, but also a faithful reproduction of many of its chief features and some new effects which will render the picture true to life.

Academy of Music.

After a general renovating and furnishing up of the Academy of Music, Manager Cook announces its re-opening for the regular season of 1896-'97, on Monday, September 7th, Labor day. Conducting this house for the general public, aiming to please the masses, catering to all classes alike, care has been taken to book a varied line of attractions, so as to please different tastes, at the same time nothing will be presented under the management that is inferior or that is the least objectionable and has not met the approval of the principal critics. We are proud to state an excellent list of companies have been engaged for the coming season, including operas, melodramas, society plays, musical comedies, farces, scenic spectacles, extravaganza, colored organizations, sensational dramas, vaudeville and novelty companies, arranged to follow each other in close succession, alternately, with change of bill at least once every week.

The attraction for the opening week, beginning with a Labor day matinee, will be the favorite melodramatic actor, Daniel A. Kelly, in the strong sensational play "Outcasts of a Great City." This play is the most popular one in Mr. Kelly's extensive repertoire; being of that style that appeals to the masses, giving as it does a true insight into life in the great metropolis.

In "Outcasts of a Great City" Mr. Kelly has introduced an effect that promises to be a novelty, an extremely startling one, namely, a spirit cabinet or ghost illusion—an improvement on the once famous Paper Ghost Effect. This novel feature will be introduced incidentally in the last act as Inspector Byrnes Third Degree, or method of eliciting a confession from the villain. In addition is a realistic Brooklyn Bridge scene and a marvelous railroad effect with a long train of cars full of people. Mr. Kelly's company includes Helen Desmond, the charming emotional star, and Little Mona, the brightest child on the stage.

Wonderland Theatre.

Wonderland Theatre opened its doors last Monday for the season of '96 and '97. The pretty little theatre has been thoroughly renovated, and the patrons will find it in ship shape. Mr. Moore has issued the following letter to the public:

To the people of Rochester: "Upon reopening the Wonderland Theatre this season I desire to state to the people of Rochester that it is my intention to meet the conditions of the times and to provide first-class amusement at the lowest possible price. I realize that the proprietors of places of amusement must take into consideration the fact that the national condition or trade and wages is rapidly approaching such a point that they must reduce the cost of amusement or the people cannot afford to buy it. Entertainment must be considered in the same light as commodities, except that it is not a necessity in the strict sense of the word, and is therefore the first thing that a man who finds that his wages are year by year growing smaller is forced to curtail. A man who is getting less for an hour for his labor surely cannot afford to pay for an hour for an entertainment. As a firm believer that wages in this country will decline until they are practically on a level with the wages paid in the old countries, I have come to the conclusion that it is high time that means be found for furnishing amusement to the people at a much smaller cost. Civilization is not falling backward. The poor and middle classes of people must be given just as good entertainment in point of quality, to-day, that they were ten or twenty years ago, when their wages enabled them to pay a higher price for entertainment. This can be accomplished in but one way. That is to make up the loss through the reduction in the price of admission to a place of amusement in numbers who attend. As a pleasure in amusement for cheap prices of admission I have always contended that the numbers who attend a show should govern the price of admission, and not the quality of the performance. Just as good entertainments can be given to 5,000 people at 10 cents each as can be given to 1,000 people at 50 cents each. The show is just as much concerned in the economic question of the day as anything else. In fact it must be the first individual business to feel the effects of what we call hard times, but in reality is an inevitable condition of the present social system.

My proposition to the people of Rochester is to make the prices at Wonderland Theatre 10, 25 and 50 cents and to provide them all the time, wholesome, clean, entertaining, in fact, the very best vaudeville that can be procured in the country. I propose to make Wonderland the playground for children, the reading place for their mothers, a place where the workingman may bring his whole family and be amused and entertained by the best quality of entertainment at a price which will not seriously affect his savings. Hoping that the people of Rochester will co-operate with me in this economic enterprise, I remain,

Yours truly,
J. H. Moore.
Miss Alice Raymond, the celebrated comedienne will be at this theatre next week with a strong company of artists.
