Work on the new chapel and sacristies has been making rapid progress during the past month. During the last week of March the floors were completed and the marble wainscoting have been put in place and electric wiring completed. The chapel will be completed for use on Easter Monday, but the new altars will not be placed in the chapel immediately. One of the side altars of the church will be temporarily placed in the chapel. The work of removing the wall at the rear of the high altar of the church will be commenced Easter Monday, but the tinting of the walls of the chapel will not be undertaken until late in the summer, when they will be thoroughly dried out.

The old burying ground in SS. Peter and Paul's churchyard is to be done away with and all the bodies are to be removed to Holy Sepulchre cemetery. The ground was used long before the present church edifice was erected thirty years ago. After the church was built it was not used extensively, and for the past twenty years no bodies have been interred there. It was decided to remove all the bodies to the Holy Sepulchre cemetery, and during the winter part of the work was done.

The Lenten services at this church are very well attended both Wednesday and Friday evenings—Wednesday evenings especially, as Father Ranber devotes Wednesday evening for an instructive and appropriate sermon. HOLY ROSARY.

The Forty Hours Devotion began at this church last Sunday at high mass. The church was beautifully decorated, a profusion of potted plants and cut flowers being arranged in the body of the church and palms and cut flowers banking the altar. The floral decorations were contributed by the congregation and artistically arranged by the sisters of Nazareth Convent.

Fifteen little girls, dressed in white, and carrying baskets of flowers, headed the procession, and scattered flowers in the aisles. The choir under the leadership of J. P. McSweeney, and with Mrs. McMahon presiding at the organ, rendered excellent music. In the evening Rev. Father Gleason delivered the sermon.

HOLY FAMILY.

The funeral of school commissioner Matthias Schomer was held at 8:30 o'clock Monday morning from the residence, No. 515 Lyell avenue and from the church at 9 o'clock. The services at the church were largely attended. Requiem high mass was celebrated by Rev. D. Laurens.

Many floral offerings attested the esteem in which the deceased was held by his friends. Beautiful floral pieces were sent by the Board of Education Independent Order of Red Men, L. C. B. A., Knight of the Macabees, Genesee, Rochester and Bartholomay breweries, Coroner Kleindienst, Supervisor Howard and many others. FIFTY YEARS A PRIEST.

The Head of the Great Paulist Community Celebrates the Golden Jubilee of His Ordination.

Very Rev. Augustine F. Hewit, D. D., superior of the Paulist fathers, celebrated recently the golden jubilee of his priestly ordination. Father Hewit was born in Fairfield, Ct., in November, 1820, and is consequently nearly 77 years old. His father, Rev. Nathaniel Hewit, was pastor of a Presbyterian church in Fairfield. His mother was a daughter of Senator James Hillhouse. He was named Nathaniel Augustus, but when he became a Redemptorist he adopted the name Augustine Francis.

He graduated from Amherst College, Massachusetts, in 1839. The following year he entered the theological institute of Connecticut at East Windsor. In 1842 he received his preacher's license in the Congregational church, and it was then that a most interesting period of his career began. He did not find in the Congregational church what he longed for and he turned his eyes towards the Protestant Episcopal church; so within a year he was in Baltimore studying under bishop Whittingham. In 1843 the movement started in Oxford by Dr. Pusey and the late Cardinal Manning was making itself felt in the United States. Young Hewit was in the thick of the fight. He was ordained a deacon in the Episcopal church in 1843. But he was gradually leaning Romeward, and his tendency was noted by his ecclesiastical superiors. The missionary committee, shortly after his ordination as deacon, refused to allow him to accompany Bishop Southgate to a new mission in Constantinople, on the ground that he had too strong a Catholic bias. The influence of the Oxford movement upon him continued to increase, and in 1845, the year that Cardinal Newman became a Catholic, Mr. Hewit also left the Episcopal church and went to Charleston, S. C., to study under Bishop Reynolds. After two years of study Bishop Reynolds ordained him priest.

It was originally his intention to do parish work, and for three years he was attached to the diocese of Charleston, S. C. Then he decided that his vocation was to be a member of a religious community, and in 1851 he became an associate of the New York Redemptorists and one of the priests attached to the Church of the Holy Redeemer in Third street that city.

In 1857 Father Hewit and a number of his associates conceived the idea of establishing a new order especially adapted to the work of making converts among native-born Americans. For the purpose of furthering the project Rev. Isaac T. Hecker was sent to Rome. Pope Pius IX., on March 6, 1858, issued the decree creating the Institute of Missionary Priests of St. Paul the Apostle. The first asylum of the order in New York city was in the house of George V. Hecker, the millionaire miller, who was a brother of Father Hecker. Their first mission was in Watertown, N. Y., and then they went to New York city. During the summer the Congregation of Missionary Priests of St. Paul the Apostle was organized, and arrangements were begun for the foundation of a religious house and church, with a parochial charge annexed. On June 19, 1859, Archbishop Hughes laid the corner stone of a church at Fifty-ninth street and Ninth avenue.

The work of the Paulist fathers was prosecuted vigorously, and it met with the greatest success. In 1865 Father Hewit gave up active missionary work and devoted his time to theological and literary studies. As a result of these he is considered one of the chief authorities on church history, theology and philosophy. He is an accomplished linguist also. When Father Hecker died in December, 1888, Father Hewit was elected superior of the order. Of the five founders of the order only Father Hewit and Father Dehon are living. Father Hewit has been intimately connected with the Catholic University since its beginning. He was an ardent advocate of it, and until a year ago was one of the lecturers there. It was by his motion that the students of the Paulist order go there to college, and through his efforts the Paulist fathers established the College of St. Thomas Aquinas at the university. In 1886 Father Hewit was made doctor of divinity by Amherst College, and the Pope has also conferred the same degree upon him. He has written many books and pamphlets, the best known of which are the memoir of his friend, Father Baker, "Reasons for Submitting to the Catholic Faith," "Life of Princess Borghese," "Life of Damoulin-Borde" and his editions of the "Complete Works of Bishop English."
