

Neighbors are Wondering.
Requa, Cal., March, '06.
Our 11 year old daughter was treated for 18 months and even specialists for nervous disease in San Francisco declared her incurable; she had as many as 11 epileptic attacks a day, but after taking the first dose of Pastor Koenig's Nerve Tonic they disappeared - the child was almost a skeleton - but now after taking 4 bottles of the Tonic our neighbors are wondering how well she looks again.

Almost Insane.
Clarksburg, W. Va., Feb. '06.
A little girl was so afflicted with St. Vitus Dance, that the physician declared her nearly insane, but after using only one bottle of Pastor Koenig's Nerve Tonic she was able to return to school. We know also of others who used the Tonic with beneficial results.

All are indications of Disordered Kidneys, and if You Have Any of these Symptoms, Bright's Disease May be Hovering Around You.

It does not seem as though it were necessary for Dr. Grady to say one word about his success in ridding people of Kidney trouble in this city. The number so cured is not limited by dozens or scores.

Nor should he be called upon to warn people of their great danger, if they permit these vital organs of the human body to become involved. It is largely upon the faithful performance of the Kidney's function that health and life depend.

Transplanting Vegetables.
In setting out cabbage and celery the top should be shortened severely so as to lessen evaporation. This will make a very vigorous growth, beside preventing the necks which a withered top on a transplanted plant always gives. With each transplanting there will come a large mass of roots so that after being twice transplanted the cabbage or other vegetable will grow without any perceptible check. If the weather is not suitable heel the plants in, covering tops and all for two or three days. Then the roots will be ready to grow at once.

An Application for Tree Wounds.
As an application for tree wounds made to the Colorado State Board of Horticulture recommends the following: Take a quart of alcohol and dilute it in 10 to 15 gallons of water. This will make a liquid of the consistency of paint. Apply this to the wound with a cotton brush, always painting the wound smoothly first with a knife. The liquid becomes hard and excludes the air and is not affected by any kind of weather.

Mr. Morris.
A mission was opened in St. Patrick's church in this village Sunday by the Paulist Fathers McCreary and Hooper of New York City. Services were held each morning this week at five and nine o'clock, and at seven thirty o'clock each evening. Instructions are given, which are followed by a sermon on some important Catholic doctrine. The attendance at the different services has been exceptionally large, nearly every member of the congregation being present at the five o'clock masses. The nine o'clock mass is intended for the children of the congregation, and those who are unable to attend the early morning mass. At both these masses, interesting instructions upon some religious teaching are given.

The Fathers began the hearing of confessions Wednesday, and at the early mass Thursday morning a large number received communion. Thursday evening, the church was crowded to its utmost capacity, it having been announced that Father Hooper, would deliver a sermon on "Intemperance." During his talk Father Hooper, called forth some new and very convincing arguments in support of temperance. During the services total abstinence cards were passed about the congregation, these cards were to be filled out and signed by all who desired to take the total abstinence pledge and coupons attached were to be similarly marked, detached and dropped in a box that was passed in the church for that purpose Friday evening. The large number of coupons returned most forcibly illustrates the effect of the talk on "Intemperance." The kind and true efforts of the Fathers to do good, are meeting with abundant success in every direction. By the large attendance, the most interesting and the large number of those going to confession and receiving communion, their work is given an impetus. The mission will close Sunday, November 21st, and it seems an assured fact, that before the time, every member of the congregation of this church will have made himself at peace with his God.

MODERN FARMING.

PROGRESSIVE METHODS.

A New and Promising Industry Inaugurated by a Pennsylvania Farmer.
Timothy Wayne, a farmer in the vicinity of Lancaster, Penn., has started on a new industry that promises to be remunerative. All the farms of Northern Pennsylvania are covered with rocks, and the bowlders are invariably infested with rattlesnakes. Residents of the vicinity have become used to them, but the knowledge that the land is plagued with the reptiles is a detriment, as it makes outside buyers shy. One farmer offered $500 for a plan that would rid his farm of snakes. Methods of all kinds were tried, and the most successful was the use of pigs. The porkers would attack and chew up the snakes, unmindful of bites which apparently had no effect. The snakes, however, soon gave up the fight and when a pig appeared would take to the bowlders.
Wayne has discovered that the peacock is a mortal and implacable enemy of the snake. He placed a pair in a ten-acre lot, and in twenty four hours they had killed fifteen snakes. They would search them out, watching the bowlders as a cat would a mouse. The rattlesnakes he used in making oil which sells for $1 an ounce, and is used to cure rheumatism. Wayne thinks he has a good thing in contracting to clear his neighbors farms of snakes.

Craneberries and Good Roads.
The Mankato (Minn.) Free Press says that the establishment of cranberries is becoming a potent argument for good roads. The daily trip to them with the milk must be made regardless of mud and wet or if the mud be ankle deep, for milk is a perishable product. Then even when the road is dry, the milk of course is injured by the churning received on the journey over the rough roads. The farmer is therefore, beginning to perceive the great money value of road improvement. The Free Press adds that the country is becoming the focus of better roads centers.

Proper Size for the Turkey.
People as a rule do not want small turkeys at no time to lay a banquet table and consequently they pick for something small or not exceeding the standard size. The hen turkeys always sell first simply because they are more suited to the wants of the ordinary family. Then the smallest gobblers go and lastly the pride of the flock, the biggest tom in the lot, and he usually goes at a discount of 2 or 3 cents a pound less than the lesser weights. A turkey that weighs from 10 to 15 pounds dressed in plenty large enough. The people don't want a turkey as big as a hog, but they do want a fat turkey.

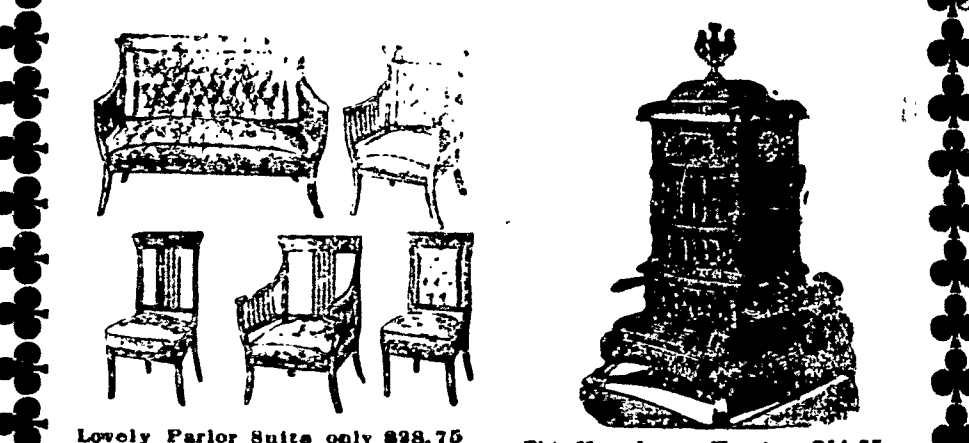

Blanching Celery.
The old method of blanching celery in trenches and blanching the stalks by piling soil around them is not much practiced now. Various expedients have been devised to blanch celery cheaply. Much the best we know is to have the celery planted as nearly as possible on a level surface. When the stalks are large enough, place wide boards against the celery, holding them from falling by piling soil against the outside of the board protection. This will blanch the stalks and leaves without causing rot as soil is sure to do in a rainy season like the present.

Getting Farmers' Views.
A circular has been sent out by the Department of Agriculture, from the office of the assistant secretary, addressed to leading farmers throughout the country, asking for an expression of their views as to what the economic value of the free distribution of seeds by the department has been since the creation of the system by the government in 1882. The inquiry relates particularly to the leading cereals, wheat, oats, rye, barley and other grains as well as to grasses, clover and other plants of economic value to American farmers. Franked envelopes were enclosed with the circular for replies.

$100 Reward $100.
The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address,
