

OUR IRISH LETTER

NEWS FROM ALL THE COUNTIES OF IRELAND.

What is Being Done by the People at Home—Various Items From Every Section of the Emerald Isle.

CONNAUGHT.

GALWAY.

Most Rev. Dr. McEvilly, Archbishop of Tuam, recently made these changes: Rev. Father Kilgarriff, C. C., Killawalla, to be C. C., Tuam; Rev. Father Forde, C. C., Tuam, to Killawalla; Rev. Father McDermott, C. C., Claremorris, to be C. C., Spiddal; Rev. Father McDonnell, C. C., Ballindine, to be C. C., Claremorris; Rev. Father Matthias Lavelle, C. C., Clonberne, to be C. C., Ballindine; Rev. Father Glynn, C. C., Spiddal, to be C. C., Clonberne.

Mr. Thomas B. Kelly, Rockhill, Dranmore, died lately. William J. Rynes of Woodmount, Ballinasloe, died a few days ago after a long illness. He was a native of Tuam.

The funeral of the late Mr. John Canavan of Headford was numerously attended. Interment was in the ancient Abbey of Ross. He was aged 29 years. The funeral service was performed by Rev. Father Creany, C. C., Headford, assisted by Rev. Richard Canavan, C. C., The Neale.

A successful concert came off at Glenamaddy a few days ago. Father Conway organized it. The proceeds will be devoted to the establishment of a parochial library. Not the least pleasing item was the singing of the school children of melodies in the Irish tongue. Father Conway is an accomplished Irish scholar.

A concert and dance formed the joyous celebration of the first day of 1898 in the Workingmen's hall and National association rooms, Ballinasloe. Pictures respectively representing "The Death of Wolfe Tone" and "His Meeting with Napoleon." Appropriate and prettily hand-painted mottoes by Mr. Martin Duran adorned the scenery.

LEITRIM.

Rev. Father Lynch, Kilmore, officiated at the interment of the late Mrs. O'Carroll, who died recently in Dublin, aged 66 years. The remains were conveyed from Dublin and interred in Kilmore churchyard.

The meeting of the Newbridge branch of the Irish National Federation was attended by Mr. P. A. McHugh, M. P., mayor of Sligo, and Messrs. O'Dowd and Flanagan.

The "Devil's Work" is going on in Leitrim. Among the victims of the tyrannical landlords are John McMorror, Latoun; J. Maguire, Killybegh; Mrs. McGorty, of Strangeness; Edward McGowan, who lived on the road between Glenlarnie and Killybegh, though in a dying condition, was dragged from his cabin and placed in an insanitary condition, on the roadside. A painful incident in connection with these evictions is that Francis Binn, 18 years, whose father, residing at Skregg, is under notice of eviction, went last week to Glasgow to earn the rent due. He found employment in Glasgow. On going to his work the second morning he was run over by an engine, cutting off both legs. He died in three hours.

MAYO.

Mr. John Dillon, M. P., attended a meeting in Ballaghaderin under the presidency of the Rev. James O'Connor, Adm., for the purpose of forming a '98 club. The meeting was attended by Nationalists of different shades of opinion, and Parnellites and other Nationalists combined in a spirit of cordial unity. Mr. Dillon said a number of Irish would visit Ireland from every quarter of the world this year, and it was a matter of the utmost importance that they should show their friends from abroad, when they visited the battlefields of '98, that they were a united people, and that they had buried all differences. The '98 clubs offered them a platform on which every Irish Nationalist could stand, and on which all dissension could be buried, and he would impress upon them that in the conduct of their clubs they would avoid anything tending to create dissension.

Andrew Stone, Bridge street, Westport, died Jan. 2, aged 80 years. Mrs. Catherine Flannery, Beltra, died lately aged 82 years. Interment was in Killeen, Glenside cemetery.

ROSCOMMON.

In 1841 the population of the Barony of Frenchpark was 28,850, but when the census was taken last, in 1891, it had only a little over 17,000 persons within its limits. This is the result of British rule in Ireland.

SLIGO.

A meeting of the Bunnadden '98 Centenary club was held last week Mr. J. O'Dowd, president, in the chair.

A demonstration was held at Collooney last week. Rev. Father O'Grady presided and speeches were delivered by John Dillon, M. P.; Mr. Thomas Curran, M. P.; Alderman Colliery, M. P.; Mr. P. A. McHugh, M. P.; the mayor of Sligo, Rev. Father Quinn and Mr. John O'Dowd, county delegate. On the motion of Rev. Father Quinn, seconded by Mr. John Keane several resolutions dealing with the '98 centenary were adopted.

On Sunday a musical and operatic entertainment was given by the pupils of St. Anne's Ursuline convent, Sligo. Most Rev. Dr. Clancy, Bishop of Elphin, was present. Previous to the opening of the entertainment there were striking and beautifully arranged tableaux vivants, in which Miss Flood represented the Christ Child; Misses McCarthy, O'Sullivan and A. Gallagher, the Cherubs; Misses Dolan, K. McHugh, O'Kelly, M. Kennan and D. Dolan worshippers, and Miss Tesse O'Connell, the Angel of the New Year. The effect, with colored limelight, the beautiful background and artistically arranged hangings, was such as not to be easily forgotten.

LEINSTER.

CARLOW.

Garrett Nolan of Carlow, died in Bray, January 7, deeply regretted. Interment was in Moone, county Kildare, funeral cortege long.

Mr. James Connolly, who erected the Town hall in Carlow, died of pneumonia in Dublin a few days ago. Interment was in Glasnevin.

DUBLIN.

Miss M. Farrell, Dublin, was recently received into the Sisterhood of the Most Holy Cross at the convent of the order in Bolton, England. Her religious title is Sister M. Bertrand.

Mr. William Ludwig's '98 concerts in Dublin, during past weeks, were patronized to a great extent. Almost every class, from the professional to the artisan was represented.

The reverend president and committee of St. Teresa's Temperance association, Dublin, entertained their friends and supporters in Coppinger row during past week. Upwards of three hundred were present.

Mr. William Field, M. P., for St. Patrick's division of Dublin city, was recently presented with $5,000, a silver service and an illuminated address by the members of the Butchers' association in Liverpool, England, for services rendered in parliament to those who deal in cattle.

The Centenary of Fingall on January 17 opened in the Rotunda, Dublin, the grand bazaar and fete organized to obtain funds to renovate the old historic church of St. Michael and John. The title of the entertainment is Helvetia. The church is one of the oldest in Ireland, and its bell was the first heard tolling joyously when the Catholic Emancipation Act was passed. In 1815 it was erected in the place where was once the famous Smock Alley theatre. Within its walls for many years lived and officiated that true Irish priest, Rev. C. P. Meehan, author of "The Flight of the Earls," "Rise and Fall of the Irish Franciscan Monasteries," and several other works of considerable importance in Irish literature. The Most Rev. Dr. Walsh, archbishop of Dublin, made the address and said that he was born in the parish and in that church had made his first confession and first communion. It was in this parish that Handel, a giant in the world of music, found appreciation and solace when he left London dejected in spirit and broken in fortune. In this locality he rendered his oratorio of the "Messiah," which ever since has held a foremost place in the world of sacred music. That "Helvetia" will be a great success is confidently anticipated by its promoters.

KILDARE.

By the death of Mr. Laurence Conway, Cootea, father of Michael Conway of Kill, a few days ago, at the ripe age of 96 years, one of the few links in the historic parish of Blackditches or Boystown, with a past generation, passed away. The family gave one martyr to Ireland—Capt. Conway—who was murdered by the Yeomen in '98, in which he actively participated. The funeral of Mr. Conway on Monday to Ballyboys was attended by great numbers.

Members of Naas Sacred Heart sodality choir presented Rev. J. Conroy with a salver and a silver-mounted walking stick, when he left Naas for Thurles, the scene of his future ministrations, for some time at least.

We regret to chronicle the death of Rev. Brother P. K. Meehan, at Naas Christian schools, Wednesday. Deceased's illness was only of a few days' duration. Brother Meehan was one of the Brothers who opened the Naas schools 26 years ago.

KILKENNY.

Mrs. Catherine Rowe, Toon cottage, Castlecomer, died Dec. 29, to the deep and widespread regret of all who knew her. Funeral was numerously attended.

At a recent meeting of the Callan board of guardians, James Cahill and William O'Brien had adopted a resolution demanding that the government establish a Catholic University in Ireland.

KING'S.

A branch of the '98 Centenary association has been established in Edenberry, of which Mr. William Kennedy is president and W. Barry secretary. At the last meeting Mr. W. Costelloe gave a lecture on '98.

The death was lately announced of Dan Gunn, who was the first person prosecuted under late Chief Forester's Coercion Act. Dan Gunn's offense was ringing down rackrenters and evictors. Dressed in green sash and streamers he followed through the town a land-owning lady then visiting Birr, who was in trouble with her tenants. Dan undertook to boycott her and defy the Coercion Act. He died in Birr Hospital and was accorded a public funeral, the bands of the Catholic Young Men's society playing the "Dead March from Saul." The procession on leaving the workhouse hospital, made a detour of the streets of the town, and was joined by a large and most respectable assemblage of mourners. Congestion of the lungs was the cause of death. It is remarked that within the past few months the deceased's health began to fail, he expressed a wish that he might live to see the present year, the second '98. In this hope he was gratified.

LONGFORD.

Mr. Farrell presided at a recent meeting of the Longford branch of the I. N. F., at which the secretary, Mr. Thomas Duffy, expressed the hope that this year would be characterized by an absence of differences among Nationalists which had existed in the past. He complained that the farmers did not extend to the organization the support expected. He could not understand why they had lapsed into a state of indifference, allowing the persecutors of the country an opportunity to trample them under their iron heels once more.

Mrs. McManus, Main street, Longford died lately in the 68th year of her age. Thomas F. Kerrigan, who was known for years among the Irish societies of New York and vicinity as the Irish piper, is dead. He was born in Longford 55 years ago, and came to the United States in 1856.

On Thursday the death took place of Mrs. Maria Clarke, mother of Mr. Peter Clarke, Lanesboro, at the age of 85 years. Interment took place on Sunday at the family burial ground two miles from Lanesboro. The funeral cortege was one of the largest seen for a considerable time.

LOUTH.

Samuel George Teeling, son of Samuel Teeling, Drogheda, will soon be admitted to the bar, having passed his examination a few days ago.

MEATH.

A meeting of the committee of the Kells branch of the Irish Financial Reform league was held in the Town hall, Kells, recently. Mr. John Sweetman presided.

QUEEN'S.

The fortnightly meeting of Castle-town branch of the '98 Centenary association was held on Sunday. Mr. M. J. Codd, president, in the chair.

WESTMEATH.

Richard Hammond, son of Robert Hammond, Milligan, died recently in Rosario, South America.

At the early age of 80 years has just died Mr. F. B. Featherstonhaugh of Balladerry. Interment was in the family burial place, Carrick.

WEXFORD.

Sir Thomas Grattan Esmonde, M. P., and Father Kavanagh, the learned Franciscan and historian of '98, have consented to deliver orations on famous Vinegar Hill to celebrate the effort the gallant men of Wexford made to sever the connection with England. It will be a great time, truly.

Father Henry W. Cleary of North Wexford, alumnus of St. Peter's diocesan school, has been appointed editor of the New Zealand Tablet.

In New Ross workhouse just now is an interesting inmate named Mrs. Mary Leamy. Though Mrs. Leamy is over 100 years of age she is strong of frame and lively of intellect. She was born in Rosbercon in 1798, and there, under the careful supervision of Schoolmaster Kelly, she learned to read and write. The school was beside the present chapel of Rosbercon. Mrs. Leamy is blind. The dear old lady will in all probability live for several years.

"The Colleen Bawn" was played by the Newtonbarry Dramatic club recently, the funds to be devoted to establishing a brass band. Not the slightest hitch occurred.

WICKLOW.

Thomas Kennedy, aged 78 years, died recently at the home of his daughter in Halrghleigh, deeply regretted.

MUNSTER.

CLARE.

At the Ennis quarter sessions, opened by Judge Kelly, there was only one case, which, he said, was a simple one of larceny. The jury found a true bill, and the foreman added that he had been asked to read a resolution which the jury desired to place on record. His honor—Has it anything to do with this case? Foreman—No; it has not. His honor—Then I won't listen to it; I won't listen to anything outside this case. Mr. Harris asked was the resolution about anything political. Foreman—It is congratulating ourselves upon our district becoming more peaceable. His honor—I join with you there. The foreman then read the following resolution: "We, the grand jury, assembled at Ennis quarter sessions, the 10th day of January, 1898, are much pleased to find that we have only one case before us at sessions, which truly indicates the present peaceable condition of this district of Ennis, the chief town of the county of Clare." His honor—I am glad to hear that. Mr. Harris—We all concur with that, although we are generally talked of as being the worst of any county in Ireland. We are exceptionally free from crime at present. The foreman added that they were all delighted to have his honor back with them again. His decisions were always fair and most impartial. His honor—I do my best always. The jury were then dismissed.

TIPPERARY.

The death recently of Mr. Thomas McGrath, Tipperary, was deeply deplored. He conducted a baking and confectionary established in the town. For some time previous to his demise he suffered from a complaint that required an operation to relieve him. For this he went to Dublin, and died in the Clermont street hospital.

Rev. John Scanlon, pastor of Cloughquarter, will soon commence the erection of a new church. The town needs it much. Rt. Rev. Dr. McRedmond, Bishop of Killaloe, has given a twenty pound note sterling as a prize.

WATERFORD.

Mrs. Julia Power, Barronstrand street, Waterford, died recently. She was sister of Mr. Michael Downey, and mother of Mrs. McNamara, whose son was drowned by a boating accident not long ago.

The funeral of the late Thomas Power, Ballydough, was numerously attended. Interment was in Bath-gormack cemetery.

The dead body of Martin Phelan, aged 80 years, was found in the river Suir, at the clock tower, Waterford city, last week. Found drowned was the verdict of the coroner's jury.

Dr. William Lewis Mackesy of Ladyfane, Waterford city, died Jan. 17, at Dunmore. He was a son of the late Dr. "Joe" Mackesy, and brother of the present Dr. George Mackesy.

Daniel Sullivan, Ballyvolge, was killed lately by a fall off his horse when coming from the races in Aghena. The fatality occurred near his home.

William Driscoll, laborer, Cork road, Middleton, died on January 7, aged 105 years. He was a laborer on Lord Middleton's estate for over 40 years, and was granted a pension and a free residence two or three years ago. He frequently recounted among his friends some of the historic incidents which followed the Act of Union.

Recent deaths in Cork—Foley—At Fever hospital, Jan. 8, Margaret Foley, Coolecum, Charleville, sister of the Rev. D. Foley, Middleton, Corban—Jan. 8, at Rockboro' road, Robert Corban. Parker—Dec. 8, at Bermuda, in her 82d year, Mary Parker, a native of Tallow, county Waterford, and for 84 years a resident of Youghal county Cork. O'Flaherty—Jan. 8, at Tralee, James O'Flaherty, father of Rev. M. P. O'Flaherty, O. P. Fitzgerald—At Ballinbrittigh, Carrigtwohill, Jan. 8, Patrick Fitzgerald, at an advanced age. Springer—Jan. 11, at Fair street, Mallow, Bridget McCarthy wife of F. J. Springer, aged 21 years. Kavanagh—Jan. 11, at 9 Mount Kennett, Limerick, Mary Kavanagh. Cross—Jan. 12, at 47 Dominick street, John Cross. Mullane—Jan. 11, at 20 Clarence street, Bartholomew Mullane. Lyons—Jan. 11, at Waterville, Dr. Thomas George Millerick. Carroll—Jan. 12, at Youghal, Patrick Carroll, aged 88 years. Forde—Jan. 12, at Fergus, Mrs. Julia Forde, aged 69 years. Galway—Jan. 10, at 17 South terrace, Georgiana Galway. O'Mahony—Jan. 9, at the Mountain house, Glan-akilly, Michael O'Mahony, aged 67 years. Murphy—Dec. 15, at Denver, Col., late of Farrerferries, Cork, Julia Murphy. Burke—Jan. 14, at Shamrock Lawn, Douglas, Richard Charles Burke, in his 82d year.

ARMAGH.

On the opening of the centennial year of '98 an imposing demonstration was held in Keady. Bands from Clontibret, Tamloght, Darkley, Corran with the local band, formed in processional order and paraded the streets. In the evening a magnificent torch-light procession, organized by the Michael Dwyer '98 committee, paraded the principal streets of the town. The funeral of the late Miss Theresa Hoy, Thomas street, Armagh, took place last week. The remains were conveyed to St. Patrick's cathedral.

CAVAN.

A largely attended meeting was held at Shercock lately for the purpose of establishing a branch of the '98 Centenary association. Martin Brennan was moved to the chair, and a resolution proposing to establish a branch in the district was adopted with great enthusiasm and a great number of persons were enrolled members.

KERRY.

Mrs. Kearney of Ballyard, near Tralee, was found drowned in Cluhane pool lately. She went into Tralee to pay the rent, and on the way lost her money. It is supposed that her mind became unbalanced when she found herself unable to pay the rent.

P. Buckley, principal teacher of Shandrum National school, Kenmare, has obtained the degree of B. A. at recent examination in Trinity college, Dublin. He was awarded the first Reid exhibition prize of £40 a year, tenable during his undergraduate course.

LIMERICK.

Col. George Spaight, Derry Castle near Killaloe, died recently. He belonged to the family of Spaight, well known in Limerick city for many years.

The members of the Irish Independent League in Limerick city have formed a new club.

An independent club was lately established in Limerick city. Mr. John Earles, presiding at the meeting.

A great demonstration was held in Bruff on Sunday to demand the restoration of the Christian Brothers' teaching institution to the town. Some reason, unknown to the people, caused their removal by the pastor, Very Rev. Dr. McNamara. The chair was taken by Mr. John Carroll, chairman Killmallock Board of Guardians, on the motion of Mr. John Bunn, seconded by Mr. John O'Donnell.

TIPPERARY.

The death recently of Mr. Thomas McGrath, Tipperary, was deeply deplored. He conducted a baking and confectionary established in the town. For some time previous to his demise he suffered from a complaint that required an operation to relieve him. For this he went to Dublin, and died in the Clermont street hospital.

Rev. John Scanlon, pastor of Cloughquarter, will soon commence the erection of a new church. The town needs it much. Rt. Rev. Dr. McRedmond, Bishop of Killaloe, has given a twenty pound note sterling as a prize.

WATERFORD.

Mrs. Julia Power, Barronstrand street, Waterford, died recently. She was sister of Mr. Michael Downey, and mother of Mrs. McNamara, whose son was drowned by a boating accident not long ago.

The funeral of the late Thomas Power, Ballydough, was numerously attended. Interment was in Bath-gormack cemetery.

The dead body of Martin Phelan, aged 80 years, was found in the river Suir, at the clock tower, Waterford city, last week. Found drowned was the verdict of the coroner's jury.

Dr. William Lewis Mackesy of Ladyfane, Waterford city, died Jan. 17, at Dunmore. He was a son of the late Dr. "Joe" Mackesy, and brother of the present Dr. George Mackesy.

The Nationalists of Waterford fittingly commemorated the coming of historic '98.

ULSTER.

ANTRIM.

The Cavohill tavern, Belfast, was lately sold for $22,600.

Miss A. Clory, Belfast, recently entered the Order of Sisters of the Most Holy Cross, Mount St. Joseph, Bolton, England. Her religious title is Sister M. Martina.

The funeral of Mr. Edward Lavery took place from Chapel Hill, Lisburn, last week. The funeral cortege was very large and representative. The remains were borne from the house to St. Patrick's church, the funeral service being conducted by Father Leahy.

ARMAGH.

On the opening of the centennial year of '98 an imposing demonstration was held in Keady. Bands from Clontibret, Tamloght, Darkley, Corran with the local band, formed in processional order and paraded the streets. In the evening a magnificent torch-light procession, organized by the Michael Dwyer '98 committee, paraded the principal streets of the town. The funeral of the late Miss Theresa Hoy, Thomas street, Armagh, took place last week. The remains were conveyed to St. Patrick's cathedral.

CAVAN.

A largely attended meeting was held at Shercock lately for the purpose of establishing a branch of the '98 Centenary association. Martin Brennan was moved to the chair, and a resolution proposing to establish a branch in the district was adopted with great enthusiasm and a great number of persons were enrolled members.

DERRY.

Mr. E. F. Vesey Knox, M. P., addressed a meeting in St. Columba's hall, Derry, lately. There was a very large attendance, the spacious hall being crowded in every part. The Rev. Hugh McMenamin, Adm. St. Columba's, presided.

A meeting was held on Saturday in Ballyseoulin to establish a '98 club. There were 50 members present. Mr. Jas. Soullin was elected to the chair.

A beautiful stained glass window has been erected in St. John's church, Killowan, Coleraine, to the memory of the late Patrick and John McLaughlin, of Waterside and Carrhall, respectively.

DONEGAL.

An inaugural meeting to establish a branch of the Gaelic legion in Ballyshannon, was held in the Male Nation schoolhouse, College street, a few days ago. The attendance was large and representative.

Sympathy will flow out from many a humble Irish cottage in Donegal and the west of Ireland to Mrs. Ernest Hart on the death of her husband.

DOWN.

An explosion of gas occurred in Railway street, Ballynahinch, lately in a shop occupied by Mr. Norwood, barber, and as a consequence the house was wrecked and many persons seriously injured.

FERMANAGH.

Mrs. Jane Devlin of Mary street, Enniskillen, died suddenly lately.

For the past week lough Erne has risen to a great height, the water covering most of the low-lying land around Enniskillen. The water gates at Belleek cannot be lowered much more than they have been, as the result would prove injurious to the Ballyshannon bridge, through which a large volume of water is running. Should the water continue increasing Castle Island will be covered.

MONAGHAN.

Mrs. Annie Murphy of Bath street, Carrickmacross, died 9th inst., deeply regretted. Interment was in Killarney churchyard; funeral cortege long.

Miss E. Curran, Monaghan, was received lately into the order of Sisters of the Most Holy Cross, in the convent of the order at Bolton, Eng. Her name in religion is Sister M. Hyacinthe.

TYRONE.

A sample of the heroism of the Orangemen in Ireland and elsewhere: On New Year's day, while Tyrone was full of jubilation in celebrating the one hundredth anniversary of 1798, one or two Nationalist bands traveled by the Clogher Valley railway to Augher. The bands and friends returned by the same route. When the train was nearing the station the driver observed large stones on the track. The cowcatcher was slightly damaged.
