

PROCRASTINATION

IT THE Thief of Time

Don't procrastinate, but do something for yourself at once. Your delay is not only costing you time, but money also. Disease is a hard taskmaster when once it gains possession of the human body. A small fire is easily trodden out, which, when left to itself, rivers cannot quench. Look to your physical health, for a sound mind can only dwell in a sound body. There is no one so able to restore your natural faculties as the expert specialist, Dr. Grady, who has made those delicate troubles, especially diseases peculiar to men and women, a life study. He will give you his time and attention free of charge if you will call on him for consultation at office or by mail.

- HOPE -

Victims of malignant Blood Poison and Scrofula were formerly looked upon as lost. Fearful of contagion, their friends denied them companionship and medical ignorance denied them hope. Their life was worse than death and their only relief the grave. Many such cases were specially sad from the fact that the sufferers contracted disease by accident or heredity and through no fault of their own.

Modern civilization looks with sympathetic consideration upon all cases of blood poisoning, and medical science, after groping for centuries in darkness, has finally evolved a cure. Despair vanishes like an evil spirit. Hope shines forth like a glorious sunrise.

Deafness Cannot be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound and imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless this inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

THE STORY OF '98.

where near as many. They were wretchedly armed and were practically without ammunition, but all accounts agree in stating that they fought with desperate bravery even long after it became apparent that they were doomed to defeat. The inhuman General Lake directed that every body captured should be killed, and hundreds of people, women and children as well as men, were butchered by the soldiery. A few days later Father John Murphy was taken and burned alive. Father Philip Roche had previously been murdered, and Father Michael Murphy had fallen, bravely fighting at the battle of Arklow a few days before.

Gradually the force of numbers began to prevail against the heroic Wexford men. Nevertheless they marched across Killaroe, through a portion of Meath, crossed the river Boyne into Leath and had got within seven miles of the city of Dublin when they were defeated by a combination of the British forces from the capital, Mullingar, Edenderry and elsewhere. But their final stand was a heroic one and worthy of the campaign they had fought during the preceding two months. The insurrection commenced in Nassau on May 28 may be said to have concluded at Longwood on July 12. Upward of 20 battles in addition to those mentioned were fought in that time.

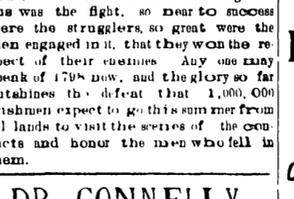

Meanwhile the men of Down and Antrim had been giving battle to the British troops in the north, although their struggle was not near as desperate or prolonged as that of their Wexford brethren. It ended early in June, and Henry Joy McCracken and other leaders paid for their patriotism with their lives.

In August, after the spirit of the people had been broken, portions of the long expected French expedition landed at Killala, and after carrying every thing before them for a while they finally surrendered in the latter part of September. They had arrived too late to be of any effective service in the fight against England.

Of the patriots of 1798 Tomed died in Killala jail and is buried at Rodens town, where his grave is a shrine. Father Murphy took refuge in the village of Tallow, County Carlow, after the dispersion, with a faithful friend named Gallagher. They were soon apprehended. Gallagher was lashed and then hanged in Father Murphy's pockets a part of his sacred vestments were found. He was whipped with the cat of nine tails. His head was cut off, his body stripped and thrown into a barrel of burning pitch. The bones were gathered and buried at the door of Callaghan's, a Catholic. The head was fixed on a pole at the door of the chapel.

The youth who witnessed all these things—Robert Emmet—wooded martyrdom. In Glasnevin cemetery, under a gravel walk, unmarked, but shaded by a giant birch tree, lie the bones of Emmet, with whose death the last spark of 1798 flickered and died. While it lasted the insurrection was a conflagration that for six weeks threatened the empire of Great Britain, sweeping from end to end of the Emerald Isle. So glorious was the fight, so near to success were the strugglers, so great were the men engaged in it, that they won the respect of their enemies. Any one may speak of 1798 now, and the glory so far outshines the defeat that 1,000,000 Irishmen expect to go this summer from all lands to visit the graves of the confidants and honor the men who fell in them.
