

Who Is This Man ?

A Matter of Interest To All Physicians and All Sick People.

Sketch of a Portion of the Life Work of a well known Rochester physician. His radical articles on medical practice, not the utterances of a sore-headed crank. He writes from conviction after abundant study and observation.

In view of the somewhat startling articles which have lately appeared in these columns concerning the treatment in vogue for Cancers, Tumors, Ruptures, Piles, Fistulas, etc., etc., in which it has been strenuously argued that the regular surgical is far worse than the disease, articles that are altogether revolutionary in their character, and coming from a physician, who publishes them in a lay journal, must be regarded as "unprofessional"—the query naturally arises in the minds of both the profession and the laity.

Who is this Dr. Grady ?

And what is he driving at in these articles that are more than uncomplimentary to medical practitioners ?

In reply to the first division of this question it may be said that of 16 State Street has been a student of medicine for upward of eighteen years and is on his fourth year at same office.

Dr. Grady has made a specialty of Chronic Diseases and has probably cured more persons during his time than any other physicians in this country, to say the least.

As long ago as 1885 he was a welcome contributor to the Journal of Chemistry. His articles on medical topics in general have always attracted a great deal of attention during the years in which he was a contributor. No article ever printed was more widely reproduced in medical and lay journals than the issue of that celebrated periodical entitled: "The Anatomy and Physiology of the Male and Female Genitalia and Urinary Organs."

Mr. J. Edwards, one of the most level-headed of Bostonians, assured Dr. Grady that his article had been of more benefit to him in the way of promoting his health than all the medical advice he had got from physicians and from all other sources in his life.

Mr. D. Kent, a retired New York banker, was so impressed by the articles referred to that he had it reprinted in pamphlet form for the good of mankind. It was owing to that article that Mr. Kent made Dr. Grady his family physician. Mr. Kent afterwards moved away after having been cured of a severe nervous trouble. Mr. Kent has great confidence in the doctor. It was the result of the doctor's skill in his family that caused him many years after, when his son who was reaching manhood became mentally deranged. The attending physician's prognosis was that the young man was going insane. A consultation was held, the young man failed and pronounced hopeless. Mr. Kent became frightened and advised the physicians to telegraph a complete history of the case to Dr. Grady and requested him to send directions and treatment by wire and letter, putting the case in his hands—the probably of a physician 1,500 miles distant to treat a case of this nature by telegraph. The results were an extraordinary and gratifying as was novel—the taking of such a case from the hands of two home physicians, one a bosom friend of the family, to treat the case from far away by instructions received and carefully followed. The physicians carried out the directions, still holding that in less than two weeks the case would be beyond medical aid. The patient in less than four days was convalescent and the minds of the parents were at ease.

There was no mystery about this but simply an instance of the value of the right treatment in place of the wrong.

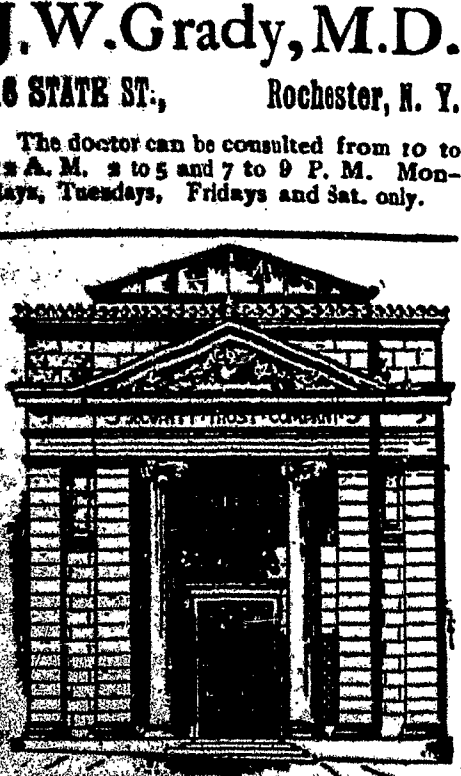

Dr. Grady has since treated many cases by telegraph. Some of them have been as far again as the one above cited.

Write your troubles if living away from the city. Thousands cured at home by correspondence and medicines sent as directed.

Elmira.

Mrs. Henry MacGoughran and sister, Miss Louise Murphy of Rochester, were at the home of their father, Daniel Murphy of West Clinton street, during the week.

The third degree will be exemplified by Elmira Council Knights of Columbus in this city, Decoration Day. State Deputy John J. Delaney will be present, and a large number of visiting Knights are expected.

Last Sunday morning at 6 o'clock Rev. Father O'Dwyer, united in marriage at St. Mary's church, Miss Nellie Hurley and Patrick Mitchell, both of this city. After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents on Connelly street. The young couple afterwards left for an Eastern wedding tour.

An elaborate musical service was listened to by the congregation of St. Peter and Paul's last Sunday morning at the 10:30 mass, it being the farewell service of the organist Miss Nellie T. Horgan, who for several years has presided at the organ of the church. Portions of Guonod's and Giorzi's masses were sung, with solos by Miss Letitia Horgan, Mrs. Robert Pilkington, Miss Jennie Whipple, Messrs. Joseph Manning, Martin L. Milan, James P. Richardson and Edward D. Horgan. The choir of St. Peter & Paul's enjoy an enviable position among the choirs of the city, and owes its present development almost wholly to the tireless energy of Miss Horgan. As before announced in these columns, Mr. Martin L. Milan, will succeed Miss Horgan.

Forty Hours Adoration services were held at St. Mary's church, commencing Sunday morning and terminating Wednesday. Many visiting priests were in attendance, and an unusually large number of communicants approached the sacraments. Miss Brady's choir rendered special music, and the church was most beautifully adorned with May flowers.

At St. Patrick's church last Sunday morning Rev. Father Bloomer spoke on the all important War question, and likened the volunteer soldier of the present day with the Christian martyrs of yore, ever willing and ready to lay down their lives on the altar of a just cause.

The big benefit performances, held at the Lyceum Theatre, during the week, terminating this day, have been a great success, and a nice sum realized for the families of the absent soldiers. Never before in this city has such an aggregation of talent been allied as in this benefit. The War drama, produced under the author's direction, Mr. George Hoskyn, was most beautifully staged, the ladies and gentlemen of the cast delightfully surprising their most sanguine admirers. The grand patriotic chorus of 200 choir singers from the different city choirs, under the leadership of George Morgan McKnight, fairly electrified the audience with their superb work. The shading, attack and even balance of the chorus was commented upon from all sides. Especially noteworthy was the male chorister, rendering with fine feeling that old time college favorite, "The Soldier's Farewell." Other numbers rendered were "The Star Spangled Banner," "America," "To Thee O Country." The tableaux arranged by Artist A. E. Tolles, were truly works of art, and a decided innovation.

While wheeling on Tuesday last P. H. Mack, of Sheehan, Dean & Co., a well known southside gentleman, collided with a team and was quite badly injured. He is now rapidly recovering.

While going west on his train and waiting for passenger train No. 3 to pass, he started to walk from the depot to his train not noticing some cars that were being pushed ahead of it he was caught under the cars and badly injured. The left hand and foot were crushed and he sustained internal injuries from which he died Wednesday morning after being brought to this city and taken to the home of his parents. Mr. Brown leaves a wife and two month's old child.

A new and much needed addition to the parochial residence is soon to be built.

R., each High School girl furnishing a potted plant for that purpose and the three military companies of the High School in attendance. In the afternoon exercises will be held at the Lyceum. Prof. E. W. Hufferd of Cornell, will be the speaker of the day.

Our new church is rapidly nearing completion, being ready now for the pews which will soon arrive. Our evening last week it was lighted with its two hundred and fifty incandescents, to show the beauty of the windows from the outside.
