SPAIN SUES FOR PEACE

The Spanish government has at last had enough honor, and has sued for

The proposition was formally sub mitted to the president at 3 o'clock Tuesday atternoon by the French ambassador, M. Jules Cambon, who had received instructions from the foreign office at Paris to deliver to the United States government a tender of peace formulated by the Spanish minister.

It is said that the proposition submitted for Spain was quite general in in its terms and confined to the one essential point of an earnest plea that negotiations be opened for the purpose of terminating the war and arriving at terms of peace. The communication of the Spanish government does not suggest any specific terms for peace nor any reference made to Cubs, the Phillipines, Porto Rico or other Spanish possessions. It is the evident purpose of the Madrid authorities to first learn if the United States would treat on the subject of peace and after that to take such terms as the two parties might suggest. Neither was there any suggestion from the Spanish ambassador that an armistice be established, pending peace negotiations.

Spain may be, it is not likely that hostilities will abate for some time to come, and Porto Rico and Manilla will be won before peace can be de-·clared.

The report of Capt. Aubert, charged by the French minister of marine to anguire into the disaster of La Bourgogne, says the crew did all humanly possible to organize a rescue, and that if outrages were committed they were by foreign sailors among the steerage passengers. The report completely vindicates the crew.

Company F, of the 33d Michigan volunteers, are more than enterprising. With. Gen. Shafter's consent, the first American newspaper published in Cuba was issued Tuesday. It was edited and printed by members of the company and bore the title "Company F Enterprise."

Miss Jessie Schley, daughter of Charles Schley of Milwaukee, and a cousin of Commodore Schley with Gen. Shafter, was snubbed in Madrid and requested to leave. Miss Schley recently arrived in Madrid on a peace mission, without the approval of her father, but neither the Queen Regent nor any responsible person would receive her.

COOK'S.

There remains but one more week of the remarkably successful summer dramatic season played at Cook Opera house by the Stuart Stock company, headed by Jessie Bonstelle. The engarement has been a success from the start; the production each week has brought a triumph for the leading lady and high praise for the company. FROM POVERTY TO WEALTH

John Knight, Once a Slave, Now man of Wealth.

The richest and most powerful man socially and politically in the Republic of Guatemala is John Knight, a negro, who was born a slave in Alabama and who was sold from the public slave block as late as March, 1860.

Knight was an exceptionally bright boy. He never saw his father, who was sold into a distant State before he was born. The family to whom Knight belonged gave him an education, and at the age of sixteen the boy was sold ground, and thy children who are in for $1,600, a high price, considering that the sale occurred in November 1860, the very time of Lincoln's elec-

Knight remained with the family of his new master until the close of the war. In common with thousands of other slaves, he then declared his freedom. He walked to New Orleans, and for the first time in his life went away from his master's properties. In New Orieans he worked as a wharf laborer for a firm which handled fruits from ('entral America He saved? his money Every one about the wharves knew John Knight, the most capable and inrying on a profane traffic. A revolution in which Ramon Banchez had been deposed, was just at its close John Knight saw what hard work and an opportunity to gain the favor of the new administration would do for himself. He proposed that for a concession of some 50,000 acres of land suitable for pineapple and banana growing he would go to New Orleans and get the wholesale fruit dealers, who ruled the American market thirty years ago, to agree to buy $2,000,000 a year of Guatemala fruits. The Guatemala Government gladly accepted the proposition in less than three months the deal was consummated at New Or-

He married a native young woman in Stapa in 1872, and the union has been a great help to his fortunes. About twenty years ago he induced New England capital to embark extensively in coffee growing in Guatemala, and he invested over $150,000 of his own capital in the industry. The Government gave him a very advantageous shipping concession for his efforts in bringing capital to the country Coffee growing proved wonderfully remunerative for a dozen years. At one time the annual shipments of coffee from the Knight fincas were the largest from any private estate in all Central America.

The negro planter branched out in other directions. He went to Philadelphia and contracted to furnish many thousands of feet of mahogany yearly for ten years. Then he bought up tracts of mahogany trees in Nicaragua and Guatemala. At one time he was the second largest dealer in mahogany logs in the world. Everything he touched he made a success.

He lives in royal style in the suburbs of Guatemala City. No one in that region except the Barrios ever entertain so lavishly as Don Knight and his wife. Their home is a large modern house of plate glass windows, polished woods, costly hangings-all furnished from New York and New Orleans. A small army of servants attends the wants of the family.

Ephesian Theatre Unearthed. At Ephesus, near Smyrna, a large theatre of the Roman period has been unearthed by German excavators. It is well preserved, three rows of seats, the orchestra and the stage being intact. Under the exchestra some brass musical instruments and some actors' costumes were found. In addition the aqueduct of the town, by which means water was conveyed to a height of nearly 300 feet; has been found, as well as a great statue of Nemesis.

There is a young man, just about of age, in this town, says the Washington Post, who doesn't live at home with his people because he can't get along with his father. The reason why he can't get along with his father is a Slenkowiczian story as to length, but, summed up, it is because the young man (who wears a 71/2 hat) knows that he knows a whole lot more than his father (who sports the same size in head-gear, and is a few years older, besides) ever knew or ever will know, and because his father is just as positive that his son doesn't know enough to dig bait for mud-eels-so that one roof is shrunk to too small an overspreading area to shield both of them from the tempests of the vernal equinox. "Come in!" shouted the young man There was some preliminary twisting of the doorknob, and then the landlady of the house, with the screwed-up expression on her countenance of a terrifically respectable beldame, stood partly within the door.

"Ah-er--how are you?" said the young man, rising with some embarrassment. The visitor, keeping to her rocking-chair, with her picture hat swinging in her right hand, regarded the landlady good-naturedly.

"My health is in excellent condition I thank you, sir," snapped the landlady. "But I did not come here to came here to inform you that I convacate your rooms at once."
