IMMACULATE CONCEPTION

Mr. and Mrs. J. McMahon of 600 Plymouth avenue took the steamer "Albany" at New York Friday last, and viewed the Hudson by day light, as far as Albany, passing Grant's tomb, Fort Lee, West Point, "Treasure Hill," the home of Josiah Hett Smith, where Major Andre and Benedict Arnold formed their plan of treason to deliver the American army into the hands of the British. Lyn-denhurst, the home of Helen Gould, Peekskill and the Highlands of the Hudson. All these attractions and an orchestra and string quintette aboard, the day passed too quickly when we landed at 7 p. m. and took the "bus" for Stanwix Hall, Albany, where we passed the night. Saturday a. m. we visited the Capitol. A guide conducted us through this magnificent structure, which cost $24,000,000. It covers three acres of ground, the walls are 100 feet high from the water table. It is 300 feet north and south by 400 feet east and west. Our guide explained the stone carvings of the stair case, the senate gallery corridor, the elliptic arch, the senate, assembly and executive chambers, Washington cap, Jackson cap, all in stone carved fine as bracket work. We laid our hands on "Parson's chair," viewed the bust of Francis Willard on the Monroe County wall, so placed by George Aldridge. In the north-east corner of the rooms of the secretary of state, hangs a picture of our Fred Cook, on the assembly chamber wall one finds the portrait of our handsome James M. E. O'Grady.

The State Library offered tables and chairs to sit and read all the vast treasure of information, but at 11 a. m. we boarded the Empire State express for Rochester, reaching here at 5 p. m., after eight weeks of sight-seeing in New York and Brooklyn.

A mass was sung in the church Monday morning for the repose of the soul of Father O'Hare, by request of the choir. Tuesday morning another was sung.

Miss Lillian Jenkins of Grant Park, is spending the remainder of the summer in Troutburg.

Wednesday, a number of young people of this parish visited Niagara Falls. The party included Miss Margaret Powers, of Cohoes.

CORPUS CHRISTI

Miss Francis Irene Murray, daughter of William Murray, and John F. Dailey of Brockport, were married at 11 a. m. Tuesday at this church by Rev. Thomas Connors. John J. Carey of Rochester and William G. Dailey of Brockport were the ushers and Miss Monica Murray, the bride's sister, was bridesmaid. James Kirke Dailey was groomsmen.

The bride was gowned in white organdie over tulle silk; she wore a picture hat and carried a bouquet of white roses. Her maid wore white organdie, a picture hat in pink and white, and her flowers were pink roses.

Mrs. Vogt played the march from "Lohengrin" as the party entered, and Mendelssohn's march for the recessional. Immediately after the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served by Teall at the residence, 470 Alexander street, after which the young couple left for an extended eastern trip. After their return they will be at home in Brockport.

AMUSEMENTS

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

Beginning with a matinee Labor Day, the Academy of Music will present Frank G. Cambell's Semi-Military play, "Gettysburg." This play deals with the scenes and incidents of the late civil war. It is particularly appropriate at the present time, when the war spirit is rampant in the breast of every American citizen. While "Gettysburg" is a war play, it tells a pleasing love story of a Northern man, having found favor with a Virginian girl, and incidentally her cousin, a Northern girl, falling in love with an officer in the Confederate Army. The working out of these two stories is full of heart interest, and give numerous opportunities for introducing highly amusing situations, which are excellently taken advantage of by the principals of Mr. Cambell's company.

COOK'S

Beginning Monday, Sept. 5, at 2 o'clock, Manager Moore will start one of the best vaudeville bills ever given in Rochester, and Cook Opera House bids fair to see its banner week so far as show and big crowds are concerned. Miss Zelina Rawlston, a pretty little French woman but American by birth, is the bright particular star for the week, and her clever imitations and unique impersonations of up-to-date dudes are really bright and charming. There are six other high class acts, besides the Biograph, which offers a lot of new war pictures. Among them are several New York regiments of volunteers. Performances every afternoon and evening. Prices always 10, 15, 20c.

Our city collector will call on those subscribers in arrears, commencing next week and we hope they will be prepared to meet him.

BUILD BALCONIES

A Good Suggestion to Owners of Apartment Houses.

Why are not all apartment houses furnished with balconies? A man that owns or rents a house can sit on the doorstep and enjoy the cool of the evening; but what a boon a balcony would be to those that are now suffled in flats.

The poets are with you. When Tom Clinch rode stately through London streets to be hanged, The maids to the doors and balconies ran. And said, Lack-a-day! he's a proper young man.

The loving wife of Mr. John Gilpin spied him from a balcony. Byron compared Venetian dames "leaning over the balcony" to "Vespuses of Titian." There are instances galore. O balconies, guitars, serenades, the fall of a handkerchief or rose, stock incidents of operetta! And it is indeed a joy to smoke peacefully thus suspended in air after sundown, dropping matches or tobacco ash on those passing under. Then the close presence of the adored one in the dusk, with murmurous conversation, with the sense of isolation!

But there are coarse, prosaic men in petty authority who look askew at balconies save for purposes of revenue. Thus at Munster in Westphalia the town council has decided to put a tax on balconies—$50 for those which project beyond the walls, and $12.50 for those that are less ambitious. "The Council has decided that the balcony is frivolous, lends itself to idle gazing, a spirit of criticism, and a tendency to impractical flirtation." This sounds as though it came from the Connecticut of earlier years. But our friend the Classical Scholar assures us that the owner of the first balcony built in ancient Rome taxed personally his tenants. "Maenetus," a Roman citizen, let his house to the censors, Cato and Placius. He then built out a balcony and came into personal residence there, in order to keep an eye on them.

Smugglers Felled

Even Saxon courtesy may be carried a little too far. When about to return from a Bohemian village to a frontier town in Saxony, the occupants of a sledge had their foot-warmers carefully rinsed out and replenished with full-bodied Hungarian wine. Thus they passed the guard post without let or hindrance to the merry jingling of the sleigh bells. Laughing and joking at the success of their little dodge, they called at a wayside inn for refreshments. On resuming their seats one of the party exclaimed:

"Why, the foot-warmers are quite hot!" Then the boots of the inn stepped forward and said, with a friendly grin: "The foot-warmers were quite cold, gentlemen, so, just to oblige you, I emptied them and filled them again with hot water."

Jackson—"Well, what did your wife say to you when you got home so late last night? You knew you were afraid she'd scold."

Fairleigh—"My wife's a jewel. She didn't scold a bit. In fact, she didn't even ask me where I had been or what had delayed me; but, late as it was, she sat down at the piano and began to play and sing. I tell you she's one in ten thousand."

Jackson—"What did she sing?" Fairleigh—"Tell me the old, old story."
