LAFAYETTE DAY

In the prospectus of the memorial commission of the proposed Lafayette monument under the auspices of the commissioner-general of the United States to the Paris Exposition of 1900 the plan suggested for co-operation of schools in the raising of a fund is as follows:

The commission has decided upon October 19th, the anniversary of the surrender of Cornwallis at Yorktown, as the day on which the schools of the United States are to recognize as "La Fayette Day." On this date, it is hoped, by concerted effort ample funds will be secured to build the monument on a scale commensurate with the occasion.

In the universities and colleges of the land, the heads of the institutions are asked to arrange and carry out public exercises suited to the idea; embracing perhaps historic drama, patriotic orations, etc., etc.—charging an admission fee or collecting voluntary contributions as local conditions may suggest, and turning the proceeds over to the president of the college, who shall forward it to the treasurer of the memorial committee.

In the higher grades of the public and parochial schools the same general plan, so far as possible, should prevail in the universities and colleges.

In the primary grades and district schools, the children may be asked to solicit from their parents or acquaintances small contributions of from one cent to ten cents, to be given to their teacher and thence forwarded to the treasurer of the commission.

The dedication of this monument, secured and built through the efforts of our young people of America, will make, conspicuously resplendent our United States Day at the Paris Exposition of 1900. No other country will find such a basis for the celebration of its national day in Paris; but all the nations of the earth will unite with this republic in the dedication of this beautiful memorial, a tribute which shall forever mark the grave of La Fayette, whose memory is consecrated in the hearts of men.

It requires no argument to convince the liberty-loving people of America of the far-reaching value of this most fitting, opportune and significant movement. It will promote patriotism and implant in the minds of our young generation, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, a broader knowledge of their country's history.

Congratulations have been coming to this office all week on our fine jubilee number. Many extra copies were printed and disposed of readily. We have but a few copies left and if any one of our subscribers wish one they should order at once.

A beautiful picture of St. Anthony, an artistic aluminum medal, to all subscribers of the JOURNAL paying $1.00.

The attempt of the mine owners at Virden, Ill., to work their coal mines with imported negroes resulted in an awful battle in which both miners and negroes were slaughtered. The latest report states that the death roll is now fourteen.

A cablegram from Rome this week announces that the Pope had appointed Archbishop Chappelle of New Orleans as apostolic delegate to Cuba. He will retain his position at New Orleans, his new field being a special mission. Archbishop Chappelle is now in Rome.

The anniversary of the death of Charles Stewart Parnell was remembered by the citizens of Dublin, who wore sprigs of ivy last Sunday.

THE GOSPELS

GOSPEL: St. John iv. 46-53—At that time: "There was a certain ruler whose son was sick at Capernaum. He having heard that Jesus was come from Judea into Galilee, went to Him and prayed Him to come down and heal his son, for he was at the point of death. Jesus therefore said to him: Unless you see signs and wonders you believe not. The ruler saith to him: Lord, come down before that my son die. Jesus saith to him: Go thy way, thy son liveth. The man believed the word which Jesus said to him, and went his way. And as he was going down his servants met him; and they brought word, saying that his son lived. He asked therefore of them the hour wherein he grew better. And they said to him: Yesterday at the seventh hour the fever left him. The father therefore knew that it was at the same hour that Jesus said to him, Thy son liveth; and himself believed, and his whole house."

Some sacred interpreters recognize in this ruler, who left his home to seek Christ, the human mind as a queen in the midst of all things created, which naturally rises above all material things, and, leaving far behind what is subject to the senses, goes in search of the truth that comes from heaven. In the ruler's sick son they recognize the human will, weak and wavering in the midst of the seduction of the world; and in the fever they recognize the power of the passions, which corrupt the will and cause it to be almost without life in regard to doing good.

PICKINGS FOR THE GOOD OF THE C. M. B. A.

BY J. J. H., B. S. I.

THE GOLDEN RULE.

Hospitality is a golden rule, for it has its origin in the heart, and beautifies like the sunlight upon the cloud everything it touches, and never goes beyond the circle of generous impulses. Entertainment given with genuine hospitality means more than mere feeding of the body; it means royal interchange of the gifts of the soul. This is the highest compensation which the intelligent mind can bestow or receive; it is pre-eminently social in its manifestations and tendencies, and wherever it strews its fruitage there you will find happy homes.

A philosophical spirit at all times is another golden rule. Should a friend occasionally disappoint you and show countless faults and eccentricities of character, and perhaps do many a thing which you in your wisdom would have left undone, then you show a philosophical spirit and put up with that. If you are looking for a perfect friend in this world you may probably die friendless. Perhaps, on the other hand, you may disappoint your friends quite often. I say human nature being weak, and tempers uncertain, a little convenient blindness and deafness on both sides are not amiss; and still another golden rule is that it pays to keep up your assessments and dues in advance. A member of the C. M. B. A. who is always behind in his dues and assessments pays just as much money, if not more, as the brother who always pays in advance, the difference being that one is always protected and the others never.

FRATERNALLY, J. J. H., B. S. I.

Branch 81, C. M. B. A., held a most enjoyable concert and reception at Fitzhugh hall last Tuesday evening. The programme opened with a selection from Meyerling's orchestra, which was followed by the C. L. C. Glee club, which sang Vogel's "Waltz Song" in a pleasing manner.

The president of the branch, J. J. Hetterich, then introduced as the first speaker of the evening Hon. J. M. E. O'Grady, who gave a history of the manner in which the various kinds of insurance originated. The speaker also explained the plan of mutual insurance which is used by the C. M. B. A.

Emma Haecker, the well-known soprano of this city, sang a selection from "Freischutz," in a manner which called for an enthusiastic encore. Later in the evening she rendered in a faultless manner Gastaldon's "Forbidden Music." The "Village Blacksmith," which was sung by W. Carl Engel was applauded, and "Jack's the Boy," from the "Geisha," was given as an encore.

The next and last speaker of the evening was A. J. Smith of Buffalo, who is a member of the organization in that city. He delivered an oration in regard to the many benefits derived from becoming a member of that order. A number of funny stories were related by Daniel Driscoll, and Sousa's "Stars and Stripes" was rendered by the orchestra as the conclusion of the programme. The floor was then cleared for dancing, which was enjoyed until a late hour.

Hibernian Rifles.

The company met at its headquarters in the city buildings, and after drill opened the fall and winter season by accepting from among the several invitations the following: The invitation of Division 1, A. O. H., to open its fair on Oct. 26th by an exhibition drill, and also the invitation of Auxiliary 1, Daughters of Erin, to be present in full uniform at their entertainment on Oct. 24th. The company will appear in uniform at the entertainment of Auxiliary 7 as a compliment and in return for the kindness of the ladies of this auxiliary and in appreciation of the help given them in their entertainments, as the company never fails to make a good showing it is not too much to say that the entertainment on Oct. 24th will be a grand success. On account of the company getting its new uniforms it will be a historical feature of the occasion that the company will appear for the last time in the Emmet Guards uniform on Oct. 24th and Oct. 26th in A. O. H. hall, as the company will give a grand reception to its friends in their new regulation uniforms on Nov. 28 in A. O. H. hall. It is gratifying to the friends and admirers of the old uniform that they will have one more chance to see the uniform of the hero of 1798 before the memorable year is passed, and to see the new regulation uniform a few weeks later on the boys at the opening of the company's own reception. Comrade N. Downs was reported sick, and the following committee was appointed to visit him: Lieutenant C. J. Dolan, Sergeant C. J. Connors, Secretary P. Fitzgerald and Privates L. Wilson and J. E. Sullivan. The company was sorry to hear of the illness of the sergeant, but hope for his speedy recovery and immediate return to his accustomed place.

The Knights of St. Boniface, commandery No. 25, affiliated Knights of St. John, Monday evening held their exhibition drill and social at Weider's hall on Grand street. The commandery repeated the prize drill which it executed at Detroit some months ago, in an admirable manner. All the staff officers and many members of other commanderies were present. All had a good time.

Knights of Columbus.

Buffalo Council will dedicate its handsome new quarters in the Catholic Institute Building, Main and Virginia streets, next Tuesday evening. Rochester Council will hold a business meeting next Wednesday evening. All members are requested to attend.

AMUSEMENTS.

COOK'S.

It is a dainty bit of acting that Miss Burkhart offers in the little play which she presents for the first time before a Rochester audience, at Cook Opera House the coming week. As a pretty widow who is anxious to rid herself of the attentions of a young army officer, who is not just the fellow she wants for a husband. Others on the programme are, George Evans, the artistic comedian, Howard and Bland who introduce a clever act; the Marinellas, expert ariel artists; Giguere and Boyer, a pair of funny entertainers and the Brannigans in their artistic dancing, all help along the general attractiveness of Manager Moore's bill. The Biograph becomes more popular every week and offers many new pictures, which include, Rosevelts Rough Riders, A Marine Corps, taken during the Peace Parade in Brooklyn Oct. 1st. The Maxim Gun, showing Prof. Maxim the inventor, firing it. Troops landing in Cuba, scene of Conway, England. (This is the third week of this wonderful picture.) This will make a thoroughly high-class vaudeville bill for week opening Monday, Oct. 17th, and as there is a matinee every day, those who are unable to get seats at night, can be well taken care of any afternoon.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.

The Ott Brothers in their new farce comedy, "All Aboard" which will be seen at the Academy of Music Monday Oct. 17th for three nights Tuesday and Wednesday matinees is said to be one of the funniest farce comedies that has been played in this city in years. The company is composed of exceptionally bright and prepossessing people, every one an artist in his way. The play has just thread enough of a plot to remind one of what was going on after some interpolation had been finished.

Theatrical at the Academy of Music for the last half of next week will be Mr. Joseph J. Dowling and Myra Davis supported by a strong Metropolitan cast in Charles E. Blaney's new American comedy drama "Tom Edson, The Electrician." The story of the Electrician is one of intense interest. It tells of the wonderful adventures of Tom Edson, who rises from the humble position of electrician to the exalted one of philanthropist and millionaire mine owner, known in the last act as Edwin Palmer the Gold King. Among the many scenes and incidents introduced in this great, realistic drama, may be mentioned: The belting, iron shafting, wheels, revolving cables, and immense dynamos running at full speed. The most stupendous and startling effects ever attempted.
