Her Grace of Sutherland, the Dowager, Left Jewel Case in Car.

ABOUT TO LEAVE PARIS.

Stepped from Compartment Only a Moment to Speak With Friends in Station.

An Adroit Thief Watched Her Movements—The Loss Was Not Discovered Until the Train Was Bowling Along Toward the Steamer at Calais—The Duchess Went Back to Paris.

London, Oct. 19.—The Daily Mail's Paris correspondent writes:

"A case of jewels valued at $150,000, belonging to the Dowager Duchess of Sutherland, was stolen at Calais on the morning of the 19th. The robbery was cleverly and boldly effected, and it was not immediately discovered that the jewels had been stolen."

The Duchess who was proceeding with her brother-in-law and accompanied by a servant from Paris to Calais, en route for London, took an unoccupied carriage, in which she placed a leather bag and a box containing her jewels. The couple was conducted by a corridor with another, but the Duchess did not take notice of the fact.

She stepped out of the carriage for a moment on the platform to see her friends, and it is surmised by the Commissioner of Police that that was the moment selected by the thief to pass from one compartment to the other, take the bag and the box and retire by the way he came.

Immediately afterward the Duchess re-entered the carriage, and the train moved off. She had not gone far from Paris when wishing to obtain something from her bag, she found both bag and box had disappeared.

The express, however, did not stop until it reached Amiens, where she alighted and to take the first train back to Paris.

Many Perish in a Wreck

London, Oct. 17.—The British steamer Molehgan, lately the Cleopatra, Captain Griffiths, from London, Oct. 13 for New York, ran ashore between the Mannes and Lizard Point on the coast of Cornwall.

An easterly gale blowing and a high sea running, which makes it impossible for the tugs that have been dispatched to the scene to get near the wrecked vessel to render aid.

Many bodies are being washed ashore. The steamer is a total loss. She lies in the neighborhood of several previous wrecks.

The Molehgan had 160 passengers and her crew numbered fifty. It is believed that those who arrived at Falmouth are the only survivors.

He made no attempt to resist the officers, and was spirited away and hidden so securely that no trace of him has yet been found.

New Emperor for China.

London, Oct. 19.—The Empress Dowager of China and the Imperial Court, according to a special despatch from Shanghai.

The ceremony, which was performed in Peking last evening, was very private. It was said that the only relative of the empress dowager who was present was the mother of the bride. None of Mr. Gould's brothers or sisters were there to grace the banquet.

It has long been known that the Goulds opposed the attention which Howard Gould had paid to the actress, and that they refused the family consent to the marriage. In this connection it is interesting to remember the conditions of the will of the late Jay Gould as far as they affect the fortune of a member of the family who marries without the express consent of the other heirs.

The marriage without the consent of the others has cost him exactly $6,000,000, which will now be divided among the other heirs.

George and Edwin Gould, their wives and Helen Gould were inflexibly opposed to Miss Clemmons. It is noteworthy that the women were far more obstinate in the matter than the men of the family. The two brothers and Helen made a majority of the heirs and it was their vote that cost Howard the five millions.

In all his recent public appearances Howard Gould has defied the wishes of his family by invariably having Miss Clemmons with him. Last February when his new yacht, the Niagara, was launched at Wilmington, Del., she accompanied him there. They travelled on a special train, and Miss Clemmons was the most conspicuous figure at the launching.

YOUNG GOULD'S ROMANCE

Marries Katherine Clemmons the Actress and Forfeits $5,000,000.

THE FAMILY IS OPPOSED.

The Father's Will Stipulates That His Heirs Must Have Consent of Family to Their Union.

The Wives of George and Edwin Were Inflexibly Opposed to Miss Clemmons. More Obstinate Than the Men of the Family—Honey-moon to be spent on Bridegroom's Yacht, Niagara.

New York, Oct. 18.—Howard Gould, a son of the late Jay Gould, and Miss Katherine Clemmons, the young actress with whom his name has been associated for the last two years, were married at the Holland house.

HOWARD GOULD

The ceremony, which was performed in Peking last evening, was very private. It was said that the only relative of the empress dowager who was present was the mother of the bride. None of Mr. Gould's brothers or sisters were there to grace the banquet.

It has long been known that the Goulds opposed the attention which Howard Gould had paid to the actress, and that they refused the family consent to the marriage. In this connection it is interesting to remember the conditions of the will of the late Jay Gould as far as they affect the fortune of a member of the family who marries without the express consent of the other heirs.

The marriage without the consent of the others has cost him exactly $6,000,000, which will now be divided among the other heirs.

George and Edwin Gould, their wives and Helen Gould were inflexibly opposed to Miss Clemmons. It is noteworthy that the women were far more obstinate in the matter than the men of the family. The two brothers and Helen made a majority of the heirs and it was their vote that cost Howard the five millions.

In all his recent public appearances Howard Gould has defied the wishes of his family by invariably having Miss Clemmons with him. Last February when his new yacht, the Niagara, was launched at Wilmington, Del., she accompanied him there. They travelled on a special train, and Miss Clemmons was the most conspicuous figure at the launching.

MRS. HOWARD GOULD.

The same had been true only a few weeks before that at a dinner and Christmas celebration which Mr. Gould gave at the Holland House, where Miss Clemmons lived. The dinner was really given in her honor. Mr. Gould's devotion to the fair actress had at that time been long continued, and he made no attempt to conceal it.

Even when he was taken to task by his oldest brother George, he resented the interference and made it very plain that he would not brook any criticism of his actions. Howard Gould believed that George was largely responsible for the insertion of the clause in their father's will that made it so expensive for him to choose his own bride.

TIOGA NAT'L BANK CLOSED.

Ell W. Stone, the Assistant Cashier Is An Embezzler.

Oswego, N. Y., Oct. 19.—The sudden death of Ell W. Stone, is the only reason why he is so under arrest on a charge of embezzlement. Mr. Stone was taken ill last week, and his son, Dr. Wm. M. Stone of New York, who is visiting at home, advised him to stay in the house a few days, as his temperature was too high (103) to do steady work in the bank. During his absence from the bank a Bank Examiner made his official visit to the bank and found a false entry in the books of which Mr. Stone had charge. He notified certain bank officials and they made a visit to Mr. Stone at his residence, and when confronted with the fact of the discovery, he acknowledged the truth. It is further said that he told them that the exact amount of his embezzlement was $40,000, and that they had to wait over twenty years. That Mr. Stone died in a chaff or convulsion.

THE SURRENDER OF CUBA.

The Spaniards Are Unwilling to Give Up Authority By December 1st.

SITUATION VERY SERIOUS

Claim the Right to Determine What Is Movable Property and to Send It Back to Spain.

If the Spanish Persist in Their Refusal a Demand Will Be Made Similar to That in the Case of Porto Rico—Claim That the Evacuation Committee Has Nothing to Do With the Matter.

Washington, Oct. 17.—Although Secretary Aguirre and the War Department officials express confidence that the Spaniards will consent to the proposition of the American Commissioners at Havana that Cuba shall be surrendered to the Government by Dec. 1, there is no doubt that the situation at Havana is very serious. The Spanish Commissioners are rigorously opposing the claims of the American representatives to possession of the island and, in fact, it is understood that they have positively refused to accept the American proposition.

The American Commissioners did not make an express demand for the surrender of the island by Dec. 1, but submitted a statement to the Spanish Commissioners, expressing the desire of the United States Government that the control of custom houses and public buildings in Cuba should be turned over to the United States forces by the date named. This statement was made under orders from the War Department. The instructions to the Porto Rico Evacuation Commissioners, the War Department directed, were to demand the evacuation of the island and the surrender of authority by Oct. 18. The Cuban Commissioners have not become so positive yet, but if the Spanish persist in their refusal to surrender authority by Dec. 1, the statement will be changed to a direct demand, similar to that made by the Porto Rico Commissioners.

Another case of friction between the opposing commissions at Havana is the insistence of the Spanish authorities that they have the right to determine what is movable property in Cuba, and to send it back to Spain. The American Commissioners protested against any property being removed until the port commission has agreed on what is movable property. To this the Spaniards responded that the Evacuation Commission had nothing whatever to do with the matter, and that it was a subject of adjustment by the Peace Commission in Paris. With characteristic inconsistency the Spanish authorities, in the face of this statement, are going ahead preparing matter for shipment to Spain.
