It is hand to speak too strongly of "Tess" as por-trayed by Mrs. Fishe. Those of us who have not seen Bernhardt or Duse or Ellen Terry, can at least boast that we have seen a woman who as Herdy's "Tess" is a genius. Her scenes with Angel Clare, her pitiful attempts to gasp into her lover's car the atory which she feared would rob her of his respect were so heart-breaking that women - cried in the audience, and her fearful screams when, under the mocking, insulting jibes of Alec D'Uberville, her mental lunguish became uncontrollable, made some of those in the audience hysterical. The company was very good and the staging of the play elab-orate and Manager Sternberg deserves the thanks of all lovers of real dramatic excellence for securing "Tess."

A TRIBUTE

To the Memory of Cornelius J. Hickey, Supreme Becorder, From the Central Commeil, C. M. B A of Rochester, N Y

The telegraph wires never conveyed a message to the C. M. B. A. in Rechester that affected them so deep v as when the word came that our Supreme Recorder, C J. Hickey was dead

To the thousands of its membership, it meant the loss of the corner stone of the organization, the severing of a tie most dear to all his friends the ending of alife devoted o not selfish aims nor personal acquire ments or gain, but lo a life that in the few years allotted to him had been passed in doing what laid in his power to help his fellow. man Genial, bli-hearted, broad minded, he was in every sense a man. Upright in his dealings, liberal in his ideas, he worked for the organization that was as dear to him as his own family.

The twenty years of his service as Su. preme Recorder resulted in placing the O-M B. A. where it stands to-day. He died hand amputated and has failed gradually as he had lived, an honest, conscientious was true to his God fellow man, faithful to the trust and confidence reposed in him

> To those who had the pleasure of personally knowing Brother Hickey the memory of his earnestness sincerity and perseverance of purpose, will alway be with them. The C. M. B. A of Rochester, through > the Central Council. desire to record in these few lines, a tribute to the memory of one they loved as a brother, honored as a man, and respected for those traits of characters that made him what he was, God's moblest work. His memory will be ever dear to those who are left to mourn his loss, and we can truth fully proclaim as with one voice, "Well done. good and faithial servant.
