Elmira.

Attorney J. John Hassett was in Corning Tuesday, on legal business.

Miss Letitia Horgan is home from a visit to Buffalo.

Thomas J. Nealon of Scranton, was the guest of Elmira friends Sunday.

Miss Elizabeth McLeary of Corning, and guests, Herman Mutchler and Mrs. Richard Ford of Rochester, were entertained by Elmira friends, Saturday.

Edward J. O'Connor and Miss O'Connor spent Sunday with Corning friends.

Mrs. John F. Campbell of St. Mary's O. is spending some time with her parents Mr. and Mrs. John O. Day, of West Fourth street.

Joseph S. Welch of New York, is in the city, called here by the death of his mother.

The dramatic club of Ithaca Conservatory of Music presented "The Charity Ball" before a representative audience at the Lyceum last Saturday evening.

The Knights of Columbus indulged in a winter picnic at the conclusion of their weekly business session, Wednesday evening. During the progress of the game many cigars were reduced to ashes.

The Flag Festival given at Stancill hall, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings, under the Father Matthew Society's auspices, added another success to the already large number of delightful entertainments put forth by this popular and flourishing organization. The festival was given in aid of the club-house fund, and netted a neat sum to its promoters.

On Tuesday evening a minstrel show was the menu which attracted an immense audience, and each and all of the applicants for the "black-face" seats were accorded recognition. Wednesday evening's offering was a miscellaneous program by the famous "Brannigan Band" whose antics were received with howls of delight from an audience that vied with its predecessor in numbers and good nature.

The closing night was made memorable by a high-class musical and literary program, in which some of the city's best talent were heard. Informal dancing followed each evening's program, while a score of pretty girls dispensed iced and cooling drinks "between the scenes." Stancill hall was a mass of flags, bright bunting and ropes of red white and blue paper. Miss Alexey Donny furnished up-to-date piano music for the dancing.

The Forty Hours devotion services which began at St. Patrick's church Sunday morning were brought to a close Wednesday evening. Rev. Father Bustis of Corning, was blessed with rapt attention Sunday evening, in a scholarly sermon. The number of communicants during the devotion was a gratifyingly large. Elaborate music was rendered by the choir of St. Patrick's throughout the services. Miss M. Agnes Murphy presiding with her usual skill and sure discrimination.

The grim messenger of death invaded the home of John J. Howard of Walnut street, Tuesday morning, and claimed a dutiful wife and loving mother, Katherine Howard. She passed away at 50 years of age and survived by her husband, her children, Sarah, May, Alice and Mrs. Lester Collins, all of Elmira.

The funeral was held Thursday morning from St. Patrick's church, interment being in St. Peter and Paul's cemetery.

Hornellsville.

Rev. Bishop McQuaid of Rochester, will administer the sacrament of confirmation in St. Ann's church, this city on Friday, May 24th.

A member of Hornellsville's M. D.'s attended the annual meeting of the Seneca County Medical Society at Bath, Tuesday, of which Dr. Webster of this city is president.

Messrs. Drs. Leahy, E. M. Roman, D. J. Hagen, Jas. Mahoney and Fred Sherwood spent Sunday in Canastota.

Mrs. C. F. McGee and W. R. Callen visited in Buffalo during the week.

Miss Sullivan of Wellsville, spent Sunday the guest of friends in this city.

Congressman Gillett of Addison, spent Monday in this city, giving the different postmaster candidates and their friends a chance to present their arguments for the appointment.

Mrs. John Harden of Roxville, spent Wednesday in this city.

Mr. Felix Clessey of Canastota, visited this week in this city.

Corning.

The funeral of Michael Dailly was held from St. Mary's church on Saturday morning. Rev. J. M. Bustis celebrated a requiem high mass. The bearers were: James A. Sullivan, James Arthur, John Dusen, Chas. McCarthy Dennis Ryan and James Flynn.

At a recent meeting of the common council an appropriation of $2,500 was made for opening up and improving State street from the Fourth ward, between Second and Fifth streets. This is an important and comfortable action and is of interest to a large number of our Catholics who have been obliged heretofore to make their way to mass on Sundays over a trackless waste of mud and dirt through which the Monkey Run creek and the rubbish thereof hold high carnival in wet seasons. A bridge, it seems to be said where now it is chaos. It is an improvement that has been so long and so obviously needed that it will come with almost a shock of surprise to residents in that section.

The glass-cutters, too, employed by O. F. Eggleston and Hunt and Sullivan, will go on their way rejoicing for many a time and all here they experienced the hardships of the road they have to travel "through winter's snow and summer's glow."

The sweet plaintive strains of the viola and the soft, sobbing notes of the piano were so beautifully adapted for the ball room as the music here last night, particularly the waltzes and the waltzes. The dancing was very lively and the music was very fine. The ball was held at the Grand Hotel, Thursday night, which was a very successful and enjoyable evening.

There will be a meeting of the Holy Name Society on Sunday evening next, at St. Mary's church. All members and aspirants are expected to be present.

Rev. James Kennedy, C. M., of Baltimore, has been visiting at the residence of his parents Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Kennedy, of Second street.

A surprise party of a unique sort took place on Wednesday evening, when a number of friends of Mrs. Frank Carr, made their appearance at the Carrs' ice-cream parlour on Market street and enjoyed ice cream, cake and music, vocal and instrumental until a late hour.

Miss Lizzie Connors of Addison, visited in town, during the week.

An Elmira and Corning street railway seems destined to become an accomplished fact in the near future. This ought to cause enthusiasm. We cannot have too much of a good thing, and no one will deny that a ride to the Post is a "good thing" for tired and worn-out people on summer days.

Miss Martha Cullen of Watkins, is visiting at the residence of James Dunn.

John Mackin was home from Ithaca a few days the past week.

Miss Elizabeth Hanrahy and Martha Feehan are the owners of new Rambler bicycles.

Mrs. Margaret Rafferty of Poughkeepsie is visiting in town.

The Forty Hours devotion which commenced in the church of the Holy Cross last Sunday was brought to a close Wednesday morning at 8 o'clock with a solemn high mass. Rev. Wm. Harrington, of Waterloo, was celebrant of the mass. Rev. J. O'Brien, of Canandaigua, deacon and Rev. M. Wall of Seneca, sub-deacon. Rev. J. E. Kennedy was master of ceremonies. Rev. M. T. Madden of Trumansburg, and Rev. J. W. Hendrick were stated in the sanctuary. The sermon each evening were instructive and largely attended. Rev. M. U. Dwyer, of Seneca Falls, spoke on Sunday evening, Rev. Coleman O'Laughlin, of Phelps, Monday evening, and Very Rev. Wm. McDonald, of Geneva, Tuesday evening. The following prizes from out of town were in attendance: Rev. Wm. of Stanley; Madden, of Trumansburg; Harrington, of Waterloo; English and O'Brien of Canandaigua; Morrison, of Watkins; Dwyer of Seneca Falls; McDonald and McPadden, of Geneva; O'Laughlin, of Phelps; Gibbons, of Auburn; O'Hanlon, of Clinton Springs; Gleason of Clyde.

A shadow was cast over the entire community on Wednesday afternoon when the sad tidings of the death of Miss Bridget Rafferty were announced. She had been a patient sufferer for about a year and all during her illness her cheerful manner and sunny smile greeted those about her. A solemn mass of requiem was celebrated at 9 o'clock on Friday morning by Rev. Father Hendrick, with Rev. James Kennedy deacon; Rev. Coleman O'Laughlin, of Phelps, sub-deacon; Rev. J. Kelley of Ithaca, master of ceremonies. The last absolution was given by Rev. M. T. Madden.

In Memoriam.

At a meeting of Branch 496 L. O. B. A., of St. Monica's church held on the evening of May 9th, the following resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, It has pleased Almighty God to remove from our midst our sister, Mrs. Bridget Healy, and

Whereas, The members of this Branch, No. 496 of the L. O. B. A., thought it proper that we should place on record our appreciation of her merits as a Christian Catholic woman. Therefore be it

Resolved, That in the death of Mrs. Healy our branch loses a sister whose readiness to serve the needy and distressed and whose kindly and charitable disposition endeared her to all.

Resolved, That while we bow with humble submission to the will of our Heavenly Father that this branch under our heartfelt sympathy to the husband and daughter, who the most weak were bereft of a faithful wife and loving mother, who bore her sufferings with Christian fortitude, receiving the summons of her Divine Lord with Christian resignation.

Resolved, That these resolutions be entered upon the minutes of this Branch and that a copy of the same be sent to the family of our deceased sister and published in THE CATHOLIC JOURNAL.

A precious one from them is gone, A voice that loved is still, A place is vacant in their home, That never can be filled.

Committee, Mrs. Katherine A. Madden, Mrs. Mary E. O'Hara, Mrs. Mary Lee.

At the regular meeting of Auxiliary 5, of the A. O. H., the following resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, With due sorrow we are called upon to record the death of our esteemed sister, Mrs. M. McGraw, a beloved wife and a devoted mother, whom our dear Lord called to his reward on the 20th inst.

Resolved, That we extend our heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved family, beseeching God that He give them strength to bear their affliction with submission to His holy will.

Resolved, That as a past tribute to the memory of our late sister, we drap our charter for 30 days and that these resolutions be spread upon the minutes and a copy be sent to the sorrowing family and published in THE CATHOLIC JOURNAL.

The Origin of the Domino.

Two monks who had been committed to a lengthy seclusion contrived to beguile the dreary hours of their confinement, without breaking the rule of silence which had been imposed on them, by showing each other small flat stones marked with black dots, according to a story published in the Catholic Standard and Times. By a preconcerted arrangement the winner would inform the other player of his victory by repeating in an undertone the first line of the Vespers prayer. In process of time the two monks managed to complete the set of stones and to perfect the rules of the game, so that when the term of incarceration had expired the game was so interesting that it was generally adopted by all the inmates of the monastery as a lawful pastime. It very soon spread from town to town, and became popular throughout Italy, and the first line of the Vespers was reduced to the single word "Domino," by which name the game has ever since been known.

LET THE DOG DECIDE.

Steamboat, Called by the Man, Paid no Attention, But "Prancing Joyfully to Boy."

"That's my dog, your honor," said Charles Burnie, fifteen years old, of 248 West Nineteenth street, to Magistrate Meade in Jefferson Market Police Court yesterday afternoon, pointing to a small mottled dog held in the arms of Charles H. Witherbee thirty-two years old, of 332 West Nineteenth street, who was arrested for theft.

"This animal is my property," declared Witherbee, with firmness.

"Your honor," said the boy, "I was playing on the street last Friday with my dog Steamboat, when that man came along and stole it."

"This animal, may it please your honor, has been in my possession two years," said Witherbee.

"I've had Steamboat for a long time," said the boy. "I bought him for two dollars. Every boy knows Steamboat around where I live. Here, Steamboat, here!"

When the boy called the dog wagged its stump of a tail and tried to jump out of Witherbee's arms.

"I'll tell you what will do, Judge," spoke up Policeman Walsh; "we'll turn the dog loose and see who it will follow."

"All right," said Magistrate Meade. The policeman held the dog and told Witherbee to call him. Witherbee whistled and called, but when the dog was released he made a leap for the boy. This made Witherbee angry.

"Your honor," he said suavely, "I am the manager for the woolen house of George G. Benjamin, at 20 Broadway. I am related to Frederick S. Gibbs. I am also well acquainted with prominent men with whom doubtless you are well acquainted, and—"

"I don't care to know who you are or how important a man you may be," said Magistrate Meade; "the question here is, did you steal the dog?"

"The dog is mine," said Witherbee.

"No, Judge, the dog is mine," the boy declared. "This is my Steamboat, ain't you, old fellow?" The dog wagged its stump of a tail and licked the boy's face.

Both Witherbee and the boy said they could bring witnesses to prove to whom the dog belonged. On the man's promise to allow the boy to have the custody of the dog until to-day Magistrate Meade paroled Witherbee, and the boy went out of the court room with the dog. He was followed by Witherbee. Suddenly the screams of the boy were heard in the corridor. Several policemen rushed out and saw Witherbee making off with the dog. They arrested him and took him back to the magistrate.

Magistrate Meade grew angry and committed Witherbee to jail. The dog was returned to the boy, who had reported the loss of his dog to the police last Friday.

The White Ink Fad.

The latest daintiness to be assumed in connection with her correspondence is the use of a delicate white ink, to correspond with the white crest or monogram. This is used only with the most delicate tints of paper or the deepest. For instance, the deep Russian blue or the Sultan red shows to good advantage under white ink. The prettiest of them all, however, are the Wedgwood effects in blues of several shades, the blue gray being the most effective.

The monograms and crests used with the Wedgwood blue papers are of the finest, to carry out the Wedgwood effect in its entirety. Of course, nothing but pure white wax must be used with this combination.

When the Wedgwood letter is all ready to start on its way it certainly seems as if the whole should be carefully wrapped up in white tissue paper and tied with white ribbon and sent by special messenger to avoid contact with the commoner letters which make up the mail.

The British soldier is the best fed individual of his class in Europe. He receives for his daily rations 16 ounces of bread, 12 ounces of meat, 2 ounces of rice, 8 ounces of dried vegetables, 16 ounces of potatoes and once a week he receives 2 ounces of salt, 4 ounces of coffee and 3 ounces of sugar.

THE TAILOR MADE GIRL.

She Has Quite as Many Tantalizing Things to Contend With as Men Experience.

The average man would laugh to scorn the assertion that the tailor-made girl has quite as many tantalizing things to contend with in dressing herself for that "simple smartness" characterizing her as he himself has in arranging his own faultless linen. He doesn't dream how well groomed femininity has many times a week to suppress wrath akin to that which so freely bubbles between his own lips because of the same aggravating caprices of an inoffensive looking collar button. It never enters his mind that the fetching Assot has perhaps caused her to storm up and down before her mirrors, calling on the gods to come down and help her tie the thing. He knows well enough the myriad offenses of his own neckwear and the wrath with which he has pounced upon his laundry king, but the shy thing at his side—why, of course, she does not know what trouble it is.

The tailor-made girl has to avoid the least suggestion of "fluffiness." Her hair should not look fluffy, nor the feathers on her hat. Her shirt waist is hopeless if not thoroughly severe, and her tie must receive just the right twist.

I have known a girl to spend a solid hour wrestling desperately with stiff collars that simply refused to button, first one, then another. Her arms ached, and her neck was scratched with the trying. When at last, a tractable buttonhole was discovered the tiny gold button disappeared and she thought it had rolled under the rug or behind the corner. Then a search for that began, for it happened that she had no other button. It was simply that one or none.

I shall not dwell upon the detail of that search, but the button was discovered at last in a hat box.

What tailor made girl has not stood before her mirror hopelessly entangled in the meshes of an Assot tie—that twisting itself into an "old maid's knot" or wriggling the wrong side out?

The tailor made girl's boot string takes advantage of her dependence upon it and breaks just as she is making a hurried toilet. Not another pair to her name, and just twenty minutes to keep her engagement.

Her hair positively refuses sometimes to part straight and one persistent tress makes her a half hour late at the play.

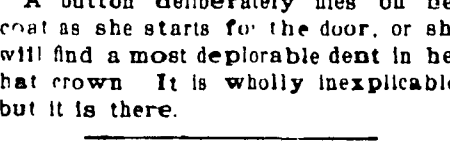

A button deliberately flies off her coat as she starts for the door, or she will find a most deplorable dent in her hat crown. It is wholly inexplicable, but it is there.

History Told in Knots.

Tying knots in the handkerchiefs to jog one's memory had its origin in China thousands of years ago. Before writing was invented in that country, which did not happen until 3,000 B. C., memorable and important events were recorded by long knotted cords. The most ancient history of China is still preserved as told by these knots.

When Emperor Tschang KI invented writing the entire system of "knotting" was abandoned. And to-day the memory knots made by us in handkerchiefs of that ancient custom.

The sailor is well known for his skill in tying a knot and has few equals in this line. A wag commenting on this subject once remarked: "The sailor has two qualities, one his knot tying and the other his yarn spinning; in his not tying he cannot be equaled, not even by the minister."
