A word on Catholic education to the Catholics of Auburn may not be out of evening Father Wallof Stanley. Our pastor place. Why do some people send their children to public schools and still expect Their children to become practical Catholics? Our good Sisters devote their lives to the aducation of their pupils. Catholic young men of to-day hold responsible and renumerative positions in reputable business houses who have received their education in our parochial schools. Is this not proof enough to the most skeptical? Religious educa p sloa is ommitted in our public sekeols, and the parents who insist on sending their guest of relatives here the first of the week. children to the public schools will reap a bitter harvest. Will Catholis parents be convinced by practical examples. Of course she Sistere cannet supply brains, but they can, and do, instruct the children with pasience and fortitute that can only be done by those who sacrifice their lives to their

In his remarks at St. Mary's church, recontly, the paster, Rev. William Mulheren. called to account Division No. 2, A. O. H., See ungentlemanly conduct, in their rooms on Genesee street.

The natural supportion would be that these remarks applied to all members of the Division but they did not. While perhaps a certain few have been guilty of beisterousmess and slight indiscretions, the whole membership was not at fault. Some of our best Cathelic young men, Catholics in the grassense of the word are members of this organisation and these men are above the conduct mentioned. The thoughtless and mageatlemanly fellows should be weeded out and the society kept on a plane with the commendable and lofty aims and requirements of the constitution of the A. O. H.
The disgrace, for such it is, brought upon The society, by a few, should not be associated with the better element in its ranks. While the remarks of the reverend pastor of St. Mary's were well taken, it is individuals and not the whole membership, who are to
