An ordinary door can be enlarged by a little carpentering, but the folding door aperture is the most satisfactory for initial attempts. The doorway consists of three pieces, the crosspiece for the top and the two uprights for the sides. Sometimes a single piece is shaped in the triple form, especially in the metal, but in that case the doorway has to be manufactured to order, so that exact measurements may be adhered to. An artistic doorway is a delight to the eye and changes the whole appearance of an otherwise commonplace room with an expenditure of compara-
