When the business -commenced Mr. Peter Regan unfolded an aniendid green fing with uncrowned Barp, and raising the top window of wine building, fastened it to the window. The Court House was densely emowded at the time, and the floating and the fire was greeted with ringing sequere. It being market day, the the police observed the flag and tried who get possession of it. A body of posiles made a rush up the stairs of the want house and into the court, and made for the window, but Mr. Regar imas too quick for them, and took posmesion of the flag. Gaelic classes were held in the Mon-extery, N. S., on Sundays from 5 to 7 m. As most of the young people have returned from the harvest in · Breat Britain, attendance is most sumetual, all being eager to learn to wead and write Irish. The Rev. J. P. connolly, president, at a recent meetfing, and the Rev. C. J. White, C. C.: wice-president, superintended the clasees, which progress rapidly under Rev.
