COOK OPERA HOUSE.

As there is nothing just as good as the best, we will be allowed to call the coming week's show at the Cook, the very pest combination of vaudeville ever offered on one bill in any theatre in this city. First of all there is Miss Pauline Hall, known far and wide as the "Queen of Comic Opera;" who will be the headliner, and she has the biggest following of any woman on the stage to-day. Who is it that don't know Pauline Hall ? Who is it that has not been charmed beyond expression, by her chic manner and sweet voice? In the days when the Casino was at its best in New York, and we were thrilled by its magnificent productions and tuneful operas, 'Dainty'' Pauline Hall was the bright particular star of the whole affair. She is doing the same thing in vaudeville theatres to day so that is why we are counting on a banner bill next week. A bright sketch will be offered by Mr. Eugene O'Rourk, who was the principal comedian with Della Fox at the Lyceum last season. He will be assisted in his sketch by Miss Katherine Lingard. The act that will be a laughing att is that of Mr. and Mrs. Jummie Barry, called "Mrs. Wilkin's Boy" Montrell, the noted French comedy juggler, who will make his first appearance in America at this house. Others on the bill are the Kleist Bros, a clown comedy musical act; Josephine Harvey, a splendid girl trombone soloist, and the Rexus, in their wonderful akating act.

Removing Paint from Glass.-Both paint and putty on glass make trouble for the housekeeper moving into a new house where the painters have been careless. The best way is not to scratch it, for this may injure the appearance of the glass. Make a strong solution of soda and soak the paint or putty spots with it. Repeat the operation sintil the emots are soft and can be easily rubbed off. This will remove the most obstinate spots. Then clean with clear water and polish the blass with alcohol.

Fruit Stones are Useful -A good deal of the odor of fruits is concentrated in the stones or pits. These are now used in a novel way in Winter. They are saved and dried after the fruits have been eaten, and then put in a large jar. | a storm. In the Winter time they are thrown on the log or grate fire to give a perfume to the room. They burn brightly for a time and gradually fill the room with a delicate nutty aroma that is very pleasing to the senses They are far better and more healthful than the cheap Chinese incense that so many Lemon Juice for the Toilet.-Lemon juice can be used externally as well as internally with good results. Every housekeeper knows the value of the juice for removing stains and dirt from the hands when warm water and soan fail to make any impression. Another good use the juice is put to is to cleanse the teeth. Put half a teaspoonful of lemon juice in a glass of water for cleaning the teeth. The juice being a good germicide, will destroy many fungus growths that attack the teeth, It is also a good manicure acid. A teaspoonful of the juice in a cup of tepid water makes the best sort of tollet wash. It not only removes dirt and future president was still a mere child stains from the ends of the fingers, but it whitens the skin and loosens the cuticle much better than acissors do. A lemon should be a part of the toilet necessities in every woman's room.

Brightening Copper Utensia.-ine best way to clean and polish copper utensils and door-plates is to rub hard with a woolen cloth dipped in a strong solution of oxalic acid. This will clean the copper of all tarnish, and remove spots that have been there a long time. Then ruff of with a dry cloth. Finally polish briskly with silver powder, rubbing it until the copper stands out clear and bright. The polishing should reported for the eighth Sunday evening be done before the oxalic acid solution has a chance to dry on the copper. Using Flour Sacks.—The value of old flour sacks in every household is well appreciated. They make excellent towels and various other essential articles. The printed letters and trademarks on most sacks are an eye-sore to the careful housewife. It may not be generally known that these disfigurements can be removed by soaking the sacks in buttermilk overnight before they are put in the washtub. Washing them first sets the ink, and care should be taken to soak them in the buttermilk first.
