The fair young girl, with just a slight flush, extended her hand. "The name of Protheroe is a household word with us," she said with a emile that Jim Protheroe thought the eweetest he had ever seen. Then she presented him to Fraulein Mayer, and made him acquainted with Mr. Hcsmer and Mr. Barrington. "You've surely heard of Mr. Bar-

"No. I didn't know," said Ethel. The big hamper turned out to be most bountifully loaded Then they rolled into Bevington, and, leaving the ladies in charge of the two Eastern men. James Norcross took the Kansas lad and started to keep his engagement with the local townsman. It was not a long engagement, and at 1 O'clock they were back in the car, and the capitalist signalled the motorman to go ahead on the return trap.

"We should be able to run the t'irty-two miles back to Cleveland nicely in two hours," he said to Jim. "I must be there at 3 o'clock and we have a clear track all the way They were out of earshot of the oth

It might have been ten minutes ater when he noticed that the speed was increasing to a really dangerous rate. Looking ahead he saw-a mile or so away-a sharp curve. He knew that it was highly hazardous to attempt to strike it at that high rate of speed. He reached forward and caught the motorman by the arm. The latter turned with an oath, and, unsteadily rising to his feet, struck at him blindly. Jim flung him aside, -hut off the power and put on the air brake. The car slackened speed reluctantly but finally came to a standstill half
