CYOME time ago we bought the entire stock of the famous Ritter Table Factory. Some of the best styles of these high grade goods were in large manitities and are still seiling at from 20 to 40 per cent. less than regular prices. Also special tutile bargains from other factories.

$2.98 Golden Quartered Oak RITTER TABLE,

H. B. GRAVES.

40 North Ave., near N.Y.CR.R.

78 State St., Cor. Market St.,

51.85

Por this

Choice Quar-

terrai Oak or

.n:itation Ma-

Fine Pullsh Finish

$4.85

Guartered

RITTER

TABLE.

High Polish Top,

Golden

Oak

Tel. 576. Rochester, N. Y

Forthis

Beautiful

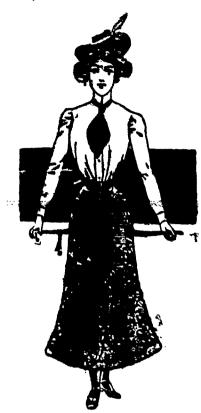

Table,

hogan,

ELBOW SLEEVES ARE SAID TO BE it knots with a brooch and no ands THE DECREE OF FASHION.

Shirt Waists Will Appear in Infinite Varicty-Fichues are Being Renewed-To Arrango the Scarf .- Back-hair Nets are the Style.

The very newest golf or rainy-day stitched. The ever-increasing vogue of these skirts renders new ideas in their creation much sought, so if you are getting a new Spring one a Victoria is the proper thing. New Shirt Waista.

The short waist this summer will be of little garments.

The use of Valenciennes as a trimming for a dimity frock is really lovely The dimity is a white one, having a design of large peacock feathers in their natural colors. So rich and unusual, in fact, is the design and coloring that it suggests a foulard more than a mouslin. The skirt is gathered about the waist with two vs of shirrings below the helt. the hem is trimmed with three insets of Valenciennes insertions of different widths, each band turning up the front | yet, the fancy being so recent it has but had met with ignominious failure. breadth, the six ending very near together at the waist line. This gives a little petticoat effect in front at the hem, which is filled in with plaited plain white lawn. The bodice has a high shaped girdle built of encircling insertions of Valenciennes sewed together with beadings, through which turquoise blue silk ribbons are run, three blue bows trimming the centre of the girdle front, one above the other. The dimity above is draped in surplice fashion, and has a choker and plastron of tucked white lawn. Tight, little pin at the nape of the neck af- schools. Even during the trying days. elbow sleeves of printed dimity have

The prettiest of all summer dresses will undoubtedly have elbow sleeves. as tight as possible to the very shoul der, and finished with deep flounces which fall down the outside of the arm almost to the wrist, writes the fashion authority. It is an enchanting arrangement, showing off a rounded arm and wrist to the best possible advantage, and lending grace to the simplest frock. A sprigged lawn frock has a line plaiting of the material for an elbow flounce, the outside very much longer than the inside. It is edged with Valenciennes, and a lace-edged ruche of the lawn makes a heading quite in character with the style of the sleeve. A little bow of ribbon on the inside of the elbow is characteristic, too, and some times the flounces are banished for a more severe arrangement of ribbon band and bow knot, under which ficha Revived. corded, something else had to be de-

The invisible hair net was vised. thought of. A new friend from an old one! And the special novelty in the method of using is through its adjustment with a jeweled stud in place of the familiar invisible hairpin, whose principal characteristic was not so much that of doing its work unseen as of getting lost. Of course, the hair net must be the color of hair over which it is worn, and one must be careful not to tear it with her sidecombs and ornamental it the least bit curled on an occasional No doubt much more would have the Afrikanders liven. And that is just what women been done for education if the threat, in the state themselves have chosen to do, companing attitude of the Ultlanders, back the promising with the mode, which would so up by England, had not forced the introduce short forchese curls aring. Fransysal government to stock the sums for military purposes. The first state of the sums for military purposes. The first state of the sums for military purposes. The first state of the sums for military purposes.

Not Popular.

BOER'S SIDE OF IT. truly like the Marie Antoinette Schu. A little black velvet bow fastens it squarely on each side of the bust, and in the centre. This is used to best advantage with a square cut decolletage.

For day dresses, a gauzy fichu frilled with lace is charming when knotted

on the bust, after being passed tightly across the arms below the shoulders, its ends hanging quite to the knees and ankles, broadening and ruffled all about. This verges upon the realm of the Directoire scart, which is also a feature of the summer fashions. A variation of the fichu are bolero scart ends arranged on the front of a summer bodice, knotting waist line. It is trimmed with face frills, and is, curiously enough, to be seen upon dainty shirt waists, as well

Hair Ornaments.

The serpentine comb, that is the ornament from shell with a gliding snake along the front, is having surprising vogue. Used as a basis for the crown coil, it has a rather startling appearance over a fresh young face.

More than ever are we wearing simple shell pins in our hair in place of the old kind made from steel. And whether the chances of being struck by nghtning are lessened, as some insist, certainly the weight is much decreased. Two or three pins from shell, or of a substance which looks like it, do as much work as half a handful of metal ones. And they are

Variety in hair ornaments increases. One almost feels not dressed without something ornamental in her hair when she goes to the theatre. And we are beginning to wear becoming little decorations in our hair at all hours of the day. With some women the black velvet bowknot is as much a part of their coiffure as is their hairpins. Many times one is able to make her headdress more symmetrical by just the proper placing of the velvet

Other women are matching their hair in whatever color it may be, and using velvet knots of that shade. It is coming natural to us, too, to slip

a jeweled brooch into our arranged locks in some becoming way above

Tulle wings make a charming finish to an evening toilet. Cut full and out-is made with a bunch of artificial vio-

ribbon simply serves to hold the flow-

a jaunty appearance to the little orna-

Well-dressed French women are responsible for the cachet. In weariness off and back knot begins.

far more mightly, too.

as upon whole frocks.

moment.

the face.

fers.

ideas.

colffure.

softly in the centre, and with short, pointed ends hanging just below the CONDITIONS OF LIFE AND GOVERN-MENT IN COM PAUL'S REPUBLIC

Boers Interest in Education-Fine and Well Arranged I ablic Buildings-Vast Cont . the Military-Good Government and Good

It was in Pretoria, the first Sunday after the Jameson raid. The Dopper Church was crowded to its utmost, and the congregation sang the classic battle hymn of the Huguenots, Psaim 68:1: "Let God arise, let his enemies be scattered; let them also that hate him flee before him." Com Paul was sitting in his chair, to the right of the pulpit, holding the Bible in front of his face, so that his faithful burghers could not see his emotion and his eyes, filled with tears. Did he think of the sore trials through which his people had passed, of their "trokking" into the wilderness to escape from English rule. Possibly visions of years gone loomed before him, when he himself. And it is the ingenue who especially a boy, formed part of that gallant affects the enery ornaments of the band of men who went forth to found a new state in the unknown interior of South Africa, after having sacrifined with finest ribbon wire, they are fixed their homes. Perhaps in his worn just where the pompadour leaves mind he reviewed all those thrilling events connected with the early his-One of the simplest hair ornaments tory of the Transvani, the almost unsurmountable difficulties which beset lets and a narrow violet ribbon. The the path of the brave pioneers, which were only overcome by their childlike ers together, while the short ends give faith in Him, whom the Boers, call "their Great General." But their new ment, which is worn at the side of the fatherland did not prove a haven of head or primly in front, as one pre- rest, and their independence was again taken from them, to be regained Back-hair nets are in again, though now, once more, an attempt had been not much on this side of the water made to rob his people of their liberty, not had time to thrive even among Small wonder, therefore, that the those who lead in the adoption of new venerable President of the Transval could not restrain his tears. The Boors.

It has often been asserted that the of the straggling locks which have Boers are opposed to civilizing influmarked the epoch of the pompadour, ences and scorn education. If the the Paris woman thinks nothing more boys know how to shoot and handle important now than an entirely tidy a horse their education is completed. Nothing, however, warrants this ac-Finding it impossible to produce the cusation. The history of the Transdesired effect, retaining her Marcel vasi shows that the Boers have always waves, without further aid than the evinced great solicitude for good of the "Greek Trek" education was not lost sight of. When the Boers formed a "lasger" and remained in one spot for some months instruction was given to the children by a minister or other person qualified to do so. Of course, in a country so thinly settled as the Transvani, where the people, except in a few cities, live spread over a vast area and wide apart it is sometimes extremely difficult to send the children to school; on account of the long distances they would have to travel. In order to give their children the advantages of advocation the Boers, who live too far from school, offen take a feacher in the house, giving him board and lodging and a salary. Quite a number of Boers, who can afford it, send their children to universities in Cape Colony or Europe, and, though only a minority is able to do this, it goes to show that the Boers. as a people, are aware of the advantages of good education, even if they have not enjoyed those advantages

> Their Education. In the cities and villages much has been done for education. Take, for instance, the Girls' High, School in Pretoria, a fine and well arranged building, surrounded by a beautiful garden. The instruction given there is very good, and that the Boers up-preciate that institution is shown by the large attendance. Then there is the State Model School, intended, as the name indicates, to serve as model for schools yet to be built, and That Dutch is being taught in the

There seems to be small disposition but it holds a place second to the lan-served reputation and are intelligently conducted. The something else, the government ing establishment at Pretoris is didly arranged and dose good a When it is considered that all—the has been accomplished by a people small, in number, and who sixty will ago, were but a lot of termers, who had sold their possessions in Cape Cotony for next to nothing, and were, in consequence, almost rulned, wilel ordit should be given to the man who led the destines of the Trasvail, and who, never losing faith in the future of their country, realized that when the time came for the younger generation to take their places education would be assential for them in order to bring their country to prosperity and greatness. There are no military schools in the Transvaal, but judging by recent events, the Transvaal needs none. Generalship seems to come natural to them.

These facts and fine public buildings are particularly interesting, because almost every word published in Am erica about the Boers comes from English sources or from Americans whose interests are fled up with English interests in the Transvani.

It is asserted that the Boors are uncouth, unprogressive, illiterate, cruel to the blacks, narrow and bigoted. We hear much of 'progress' so-called, and 'manifest destiny,' and the grievous necessity which England in-bors under in her unselfish desire to bors under in her unselfish desire to civilize the world. Americans and English, in discussing slavery in the Transvast, are prope to forget that slavery existed in this free country until forty years ago, and that the slaves of the world were stolen in Africa by British sallors and carried to America in British ships. The Poers are descended from "the most Protestant nation in Europe," and the rigidity of their spines is naturally obnoxious to an arrogant and over-bearing people. That the Boers are obstinate is proven by their stubborn defense of their country, when all the world cried out that they had met a ghost of a show against Bugland.

Government and Laws. Long before the Uitlanders came into the country the Boers had a good government and laws. The country was divided into thirteen districts, each with an almost independent aseach with an almost independent administration. There were many prosperous villages, the Transvaal being then entirely a farming community.
There was no aristocratic land swaersite, as in England, and R. Compbell Johnston who visited its Bosins Adrican Republic in 1873 or 1874. Said that, in his opinion, it would be a blessing if the Transvani system of recording should be adopted in England. cording should be adopted in England The laws were well administered there were judges for each district and the constitution adopted in A opened the country to every soretains, guaranteeing him freedom or religious and appears and the right of assessed to provided that he respected the laws of the country. Freedom of the prescales provided, although the number of newspapers was very small.

Only during recent years when the Uitlander press openly incited to rebellion and never ceased to abbase the government and the people of the country where they enjoyed hospitality in the most immeasurable taken have steps been taken to restrict the liberties guaranteed in the constitution. This may be considered as an unwise move on the part of the Taken year government, but it must also be yaal government, but it must also be admitted that they acted under great provocation

Signt should not be lost of the great that the Usinghers, in their diragges for wealth, have rendered the Transvall great services, but neither therefore it be forgotten that the Dutch are therefore true colonists of South Africa, and have made the country what it is grow Table bay to the Zambezi rises even if he British have developed the mines. The Uitlanders have made tips mistake, by their arrogance, of settinging that portion of the Energy-phasion which desired reforms; cased in progressive and conservative Heart ing progressive and conservative Boer to stand shoulder to shoulder agains to again shoulder to shoulder the loveler intermeddling and aggression. When it is considered how long it cook Brigiand to regulate suffrage. But when even to day the herselling. House of Lords can block it so mission all legislation in every of the same which is being faithfully copied all ple of England it was es many over the Transvest. This building suit and unwise of the Utuanders would be a credit to any country. That Dutch is being taught in the schools is only natural, and no reasons of the many advantages they support that score. English is also taught, brought about good results.

There seems to be small disposition to initate the headqress of Mrs. Langtry try, who once so controlled the fashion in hairdressing that the Langtry knot low in the neck was the universal colf-fure for those who thought to dress at all in the mode. The pompadour does not coincide with the Langtry knot, and women's hats, gowns, all are made with the chief idea—that of sienderness and height. The high hairdressing contributes not a little to this impression.

The pompadour front now is parted usually at one side and the hair arranged loosely to fall over one temple more than the other. "Bangs" have not come back precisely: but you would not have a woman's short hair would you? Indeed, you would prefer it the least bit curied on an occasional front. And that is just what women themselves have chosen to do, com-arise attended of the little and the least bit curied on an occasional the much more would have a wonan's short hair would you? Indeed, you would prefer it the least bit curied on an occasional themselves have chosen to do, com-arise attended to little and the least bit curied on an occasional the little and t The Dis Cast.

Manufacturer of Sash, Doors, Blinds and Moulding Window and Door Frames. Scroll Sawing and Turning. Cor. Allen and Platt Sts. Telephone 3013 SEND US ONE DOLLAR

LEWIS EDELMAN,

Dealer in D. L. & W. COALS,

G. H. STALKER,

On this set, our and send to co with $1.00, and we will send you this MW IMPROVED ACRE QUEEN PARILON ORMAN, by freight C. D. p., subject to examination. You can examine it at your nearest freight depot, and if you find it exactly as represented, equal to organs that retail at $75.00 to $100.00, the greatest value you ever saw and far botter than organs advertised by others at more money, pay the freight agent our special $0 days' offer prior, $31.70; ion the $100, or $32.75, and freight charges. $31.75 IS OUR SPECIAL 90 DAYS' PRICE s31, 75 IS OUR SPECIAL SO DAYS' PRICE see half the price charged by others. Such as offer was never made before. THE ACME OUVERN is one of the most BI Rakill and SWESTEST TORKS instruments ever made. From the illustration shown, which is engraved direct from a photography on can forr come idea of its benatiful appearance. Made from soild quarter assessed, and quantiful appearance. Made from soild quarter assessed, inches hands omely decorated and ornamented, intent 1899 style. Fill ACME QUEEN is a feet b inches high, if inches long, in inches wide and weighs 1869 pounds. Ountains 5 octaves, it stops, as Tollows. Bluspassa, Principal, Budiana, Roledia, Calesta Crosseas, Rase Coupler, Trabbo Despier, Dispasses Forte and Van Hammans 1 Toltare Complex, Dispasses Forte and Van Hammans 1 Toltare Complex, playances Forte and State of 54 Finaling Soft Revolution of the collaration of the OUR RELIABILITY IS ESTABLISHED IT 700 not dealt with us ask your neighbor about us write the publisher of this paper or Astropolitan National Bank, or Corn Kichange Nat Bank (Chicago or German Exchange Bank, New York, or any railroad or express Bank, or Corn Kichange Nat Bank (Chicago or German Exchange Bank, New York, or any railroad or express Bank, or Corn Kichange, Ne have a capital of ever $100.00.00, occupy entire one of the largest business blocks in Chicago, and emply y nearly $100 people in our own building. WE SELL ORANGE AT $22.00 and apply thing in most sat instruments at invest wholesale prices. Write for free special rivan, plane and musical instrument on taxogue. Address. (Bears, Besbach & Ca. are thereaghly reliable. Estars.

SEARS, ROEBUCK & CO. (Inc.), Fuston Desolators and Wayman Sta. CHICAGO, ELL.

NEW-YORK TRI-WEEKLY TRIBUNE.

A Daily, 3 Days of the Week.

Covers the News of the other 3.

A Striking Success in Journalism. A Half More Issues than the Semi-Weekly, for Half a Dollar Less a Year.

THE NEW-YORK TRIBUNE announces, with pleasure, the extraordinary success of its new TRI-WEEKLY edition, established in November last. It took the place of the Semi-Weekly, is a far better newspaper in every respect, and, meeting an actual want for more news and oftener, the circulation has more than trebled in three months, and is advancing every day.

THE TRI-WEEKLY is printed before daylight on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, and mailed at the same time as the Daily. It has regularly the freshest news of the night, as early as the Daily of the same date, including THE TRIBUNE'S unequalled

SPECIAL WAR CABLES FROM EUROPE.

THE TRI-WEEKLY is, in fact, a spirited, complete and handsome Daily, three days of the week, and covers the news of the other three. Its typographical appearance is strikingly attractive.

Literary, pictorial and humorous features are added in profusion. Its numerous half-tones are specially well done, many contemporaries declaring that they give THE TRIBUNE the leadership in this style of illustration in America. The news is condensed and breezy; the market and financial reports are what every country merchant wants; it contains the special features which have given THE WEEKLY TRIBUNE its great hold; and its general character exactly suits the family. This admirable edition combines, in fact, the best qualities of a decent and enterprising modern Daily, a pictorial weekly, and a popular monthly magazine.

Giving one-half more issues a week than the former Semi-Weekly, it is mailed for half a dollar less a year.

THE TRI-WEEKLY TRIBUNE furnishes, for the first time, to the

REPUBLICANS OF NEW-YORK STATE

what they have long desired and what no one except THE TRIBUNE has had the enterprise to supply. It has also multitudes of Democratic readers, who admire its accuracy, fairness and general high character. Enthusiastic comments reach us daily, not only from new readers but from old time sub scribers to the Semi-Weekly.

None of the old time "short term" campaign offers need be looked for this year. The high quality and low price prevent that. Order at once, and vous year will cover the eight months until election and the early part of next W. ter's sessions of Congress and the Legislature.

THE TRI-WEEKLY TRIBUNE, $1.50 a you

Remittances should be made in check, draft or registered letter

ADDRESS ALWAYS

The Tribune, New-Va

OUR FASHION LETTER months over the cornege, it is more skirt, shown in the accompanying illustration, has been named the Victoria. It laps over in front from right to left, with a round corner at the bot-

Golf or Rainy-Day Skirt.

tom, where it is universally tailor-anything but the severely starched affair usually called up by that name. To be sure, there are still man-made shirts of cambric and madras and cheviot, with the regulation shirt sleeve, stock collar, box plaited front band—this season with a yokeless back—but the truly adorable ones for everything but sporting wear are the softest, the frilliest, the most feminine a very deep flounce of the same, inset with three insertions and hemmed on the edge, an inner plaiting of white lawn adding to the grace of the drap-

the long glove is to be tucked.

It is inevitable that with such a sleeve to the fore, the gathered skirt and the simple fichu should be resuscitated as well. The fichu, indeed, has been worn with success all winter with evening gowns, and bids fair to be the smartest trimming for the summer bodice. It may be called a "simple fichu," because of its air of demure purity, but it is, in reality, about the most difficult bit of drapery possible. Unless one has the taste of an artist and the time of a lady of leisure, one should wear only that fichu that is cut en forme and attached fixedly to the bodice. The knack of throwing the three-confered scarf of gauze about the shoulders with a result at once graceful and becoming and permanent, is acquired only after long practice. It may look well a moment low in the neck was the universal coifafter it is arranged, but the slightest fure for those who thought to dress at tendent of the Department of Educaexertion or lightest breeze will make havor of it at once. Having proved the necessity of relying for its success only upon a skilled gown maker. and firm but invisible tackings, let us come to the manner of wearing it.

To Arrange the Scarf.

If arranged high about the throat behind and drawn down in front to the waist line, the deep flounces falling over the shoulders almost to the elbows it has an air of demureness which should not be allowed to verge upon the sedate or old womanish. When drawn closely about the arms below the shoulders and knotted on the bust, it is more decidedly smart, especially when bordered with deep linen fringe.

In a square effect, the muslin folded narrowly and the double ruffles falling