Flanagan presiding, Mr. Chartres said he had observed in the newspapers Mr. Daly, member for South Monaghan, had asked a question in the House of Commons with the view of getting the government to heat the national schools during the winter. If they are going to compel the children to attend school, the school rooms shold be properly heated and the least those having control of the money obtained from the Irish people should do was to pay for the heating of them. The Lisnaskea Rural Council would be appointing a committee under the compulsory education act and they should pass a resolution and forward a copy to the other unions in Ireland, demanding that the government heat the national schools of our country during the winter months. MONAGHAN.

The Monaghan post office.-In the British House of Commons, April 12, Mr. McAleese asked the secretary to the treasury if the tender of a suitable site for the erection of the new postoffice in Monaghan had been received by the department; and, if so, will it be accepted; and when may the erection of the new building commence. Mr. Hanbury-Several offers of sites bodies were brought to Schull Coast though born in Ballinamore, Bally- have been received and are under canmoney, he was descended from the sideration, but it is not likely that a decision can be arrived at for some
