well known merchant of Du'lli, occurred May 5. He was married to a Loughrea lady, Miss Macklin, a member of one of the oldest and most respected Galway families. Two of her uncles were priests in the Diocese of Clonfert. Her sister is a nun in the Dominican Convent of Galway.

Peter Corcoran, C. C., were interred in the Tully Catholic Church after the celebration of Solemn Requiem Mass, at which the clergy of the deanery assisted. The chief mourners were: Dr. Corcoran, Mr. Corcoran, brothers, and Miss Corcoran, sister.

The people of Loughrea sustained a very serious loss in the death of Mother Mary Gonzaga Smith of the Convent of Mercy, Loughrea, which occurred on April 27. She was a sister of Capt. Smith, of Masonbrook, and aunt of Mr. Edward Martyn, of Tillyre Castle. She became a Sister of Mercy forty-six years ago, during which she raised a magnificent building in Loufhrea, founded a convent at Portumna, and had just commenced the founding Most Rev Dr water.

Each family, as a rule, consists of four or five boys and an equal number of girls. They are healthy, intelligent, energetic, ambitious. Will you advise them to remain as old maids and old batchelors, huddled together on those scanty gatches of land until they begin to pick the eyes out of each other when they have crossed the meridian of life? No sir; some alternative must be given them, and the only aletrnative is to divide the large farms and make *homes for them. Once they are plant- | Chas. DOWN. William MacDonald, mate of the steamer Macnab, was drowned recently in Carrickfergus. It is said deceased lived in Ballywalter, County Down. Deceased was 40 or 45 years of age.

May 1 marked an epoch in the Catholic history of Down, which will be a bright retrospect for the lovers of the faith wh reside in the historic county. The occasion was the laying of the foundation stone of the Church of St. Joseph at Ballymartin, a solemn and impressive ceremony, which was performed by the Most Rev. Dr. Henry. A brilliant day of sunshine prevailed, and its pleasant rays were never poured upon a more solemn scene beneath the shadov of the lofty Slieve Donard. The people of the parish were present from many miles, and their ardor for the welfare of the work was at once apparent.

DONEGAL. Very Rev. Canon McCartan, Donaghmore, preached in St. Patrick's Church Ballyshannon, May 13. He made a powerful appeal on behalf of Armagh Cathedral Fund, and took up a collection, which amounted to £300. After Mass the Very Reverend Canon announced the result and thanked the congregation for its liberality. Mr. Samuel Donaldson, Justice of the peace for Donegal, died at his hime. Glenafton, Welchtown, May 17. To his efforts the district owes in great part the extension of the Donegal Railway to Glenties. To his arbitration the people intrusted the setlement of their differences and disputes.
