Our Mr. A. Herman will collect from subscribers in Spencerport, Brockport and Buffalo next week.

Auburn.

The closing exercises of the Holy Family school which took place Friday morning opened with a mass in honor of the Sacred Heart of Jesus to return thanks for the blessings of the school year now at its close, also to beg the strength necessary to spend well the approaching vacation. After mass the pupils assembled in their respective classrooms where they were visited by the pastor, Rev. J. J. Hickey, accompanied by Rev. George Heister who has had the care of the school for the past year. Father Hickey awarded beautiful prizes for scholarship, deportment, attendance, etc. In the advanced grades, gold medals were given for the first merits and handsome volumes for the next in rank of standing. In the primary classes pretty books, badges and statuettes were presented to the successful winners. After the distribution of prizes, Father Hickey gave a very interesting and useful instruction, also very encouraging words regarding the proximity of the greater number had attained during the past year. At the conclusion he warned the children to be very faithful in saying their morning and evening prayers, and he asked them when saying these prayers to remember their teachers, also to pray for Father Heister who had worked so faithfully for them, so to give him a little memento, after which he gave them his blessings and with good fare by the people departed for their homes well satisfied.

Friday evening three adults received baptism, Rev. George Heister administered the sacrament.

The Holy Name Society received holy communion in a holy Sunday morning. About two hundred members were in line. The society is growing rapidly to the great satisfaction of the spiritual advisor, Rev. Father Keenan.

Judge Murphy of Rochester, together with Messrs. John and Edward Keenan of the same city, were guests of Rev. J. B. Keenan last Sunday.

Mr. James Hennessy was at Brockport last Thursday attending the wedding of Mr. Robert Burns and Miss Margaret Harrison. Rev. J. J. Hickey was very busy inspecting and examining the work of renovating and painting of the parochial buildings. When the work is complete the property attached to Holy Family church will not be surpassed by any in the city.

At each of the masses Sunday, Father Hickey announced the picnic for the orphans which is to take place July the Fourth. Father Hickey asked each member of the parish to do his part in helping to make the picnic a great success. He requested all to go, and if every member of a family could not attend, at least to have every family represented. It is a day when all look for pleasure, and what greater pleasure can a person have than to know that he is giving not only the greatest pleasure, but also the noblest charity, because in assisting the orphans they are lending a helping hand to the good sisters who so faithfully and unflinchingly watch over and care for these hundred little ones who are left to their care and who are so helpless in their own regard. No one with any small amount of kind-hearted generosity would view these children who are left without the love of a kind and loving mother, coming Sunday after Sunday into the church in perfect order and seaweals, all the work of the good sisters with the little aid from outsiders, nor one should refuse to give at least the widow's mite as every little will help and will also be gratefully received. It is not too late to join the number of willing workers. It is never too late to do good.

Rev. Father Keenan and Father Heister are preparing a class of the hundred for confirmation. The night Rev. Bishop is expected at Auburn during the summer.

The requiem masses during the week were as follows: Monday morning for Mrs. Mary Nolan and Saturday morning for Mrs. Patrick Hanlon.

Ovid.

Thomas Carroll of St. Bernard's Seminary came home yesterday for the summer vacation.

Tuesday evening at Columbia's hall, a large and appreciative audience listened to the closing exercises of the Ovid high school. The platform was beautifully decorated with the national colors flowers and ferns. On the platform were seated the members of the school board, principal Birge, George F. Ditzman, Esq., and the seven graduates. The four young ladies were beautifully dressed in white, the three gentlemen in conventional black. The floral offerings were extensive and beautiful. Mr. Ditzman in behalf of the board of education presented the diplomas. After the close of the exercises, Mrs. Ephraim Kinne and Mrs. S. G. Van Vleet gave a reception. Refreshments were served and the pleasant social time which followed was a fitting close to a day of so much importance in the lives of these young people.

On Sunday evening, June 24, our mission closed. An appropriate service was preached by Father Burke, his subject being "Why I am a Catholic." It was one of the finest sermons ever preached in Ovid and the church was crowded to standing room. Father Burke made a great impression on the Ovid people when he preached a fine sermon on the same text last June, and the people were so much interested that it was announced that Father Burke was to preach.

On Wednesday and Thursday evenings of this week, Parish hall was the scene of the annual closing exercises of the Immaculate Conception school. An Indian drama was given, in which former members of the school took part. Songs, recitations, and drills were given by the different grades. They were assisted by the Alumnae choral. All the children showed the result of hard and faithful practice and careful drilling on the part of the sisters to whom great credit is due. At the close of the program, Rev. Father Evans presented the graduates, thirty in number, with diplomas and gave them a few well-chosen words of advice.

On Monday morning the pupils of the parochial school received their certificates of promotion from Father Evans.

Corning.

Sergeant John Egan, who served in the United States army in the Philippines, is visiting his cousin, the Misses Egan of West Second street. He has many curious treasures including a genuine machete which is a most formidable looking weapon. He says in regard to the much-talked-of looting and desecration of Catholic churches by soldiers, this soldier of the sort same soldier, he notes at any time. This statement is of value as coming from one who was in a position to know and see personally. Sergeant Egan intends to sail for Europe shortly.

Thomas W. Clark, left early in the week for Springfield, Mass., where he will play with the National base ball club, Eastern League.

At Maynooth College, County Kildare, Ireland, James F. Austin, nephew of James H. Austin of this city, was ordained to the priesthood, on Sunday, June 17th. Rev. James Austin has visited in Corning several times and has many friends here who will rejoice at the new dignity conferred upon him.

There was a large crowd in attendance and addresses were made by United States Marshal W. R. Compton, Mr. Judson A. Gilson, of Elmira and others, evoking much applause.

John O'Brien of Toledo, O., is visiting relatives in this city.

There are almost a sufficient number of cases of diphtheria in this city to cause alarm. This is a dreadful disease that proves frequently fatal and every precaution should be used by those who can, to prevent it from spreading. It is said that eating onions renders the contraction of the disease almost impossible. Perhaps the game of "on on, onion, who bit the onion," will now become popular, owing to the desperation of the situation.

O. Leo Egginton was in Elmira, during the week.

On Wednesday morning at St. Mary's rectory occurred the marriage of Miss Margaret Reilly to Frederick Shane of Toledo, O. Miss Clara Clancy of Elmira, was the bridesmaid and the best man was George Shane of Toledo. The bride was attired in a gown of white with white hat and the bridesmaid wore pink with a black picture hat. Mr. and Mrs. Shane will make a tour of the lakes and will then take up their residence in Toledo, where Mr. Shane is employed.

A pretty wedding occurred at St. Mary's church on Wednesday morning when Michael Moore and Miss Agnes Shea were united in matrimony. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. M. Bustin who celebrated the nuptial mass. The happy couple then left on a wedding trip.

Elmira.

The commencement exercises of St. Mary's parochial school took place in parish hall on Wednesday and Thursday evenings of last week. On both occasions the spacious hall was inadequate to accommodate those who sought admission. Both entertainments were of a very high order. Each number was admirably chosen and excellently rendered. The graceful movements and salutatory power displayed by the little ones were characteristic features of both performances. In the operetta the children showed wonderful training. The singing in the words of a distinguished Elmira journal all deserved unqualified praise. Another pleasant feature of the exercises was the presentation of the thirty-three graduates and the announcement of their averages which were very high. The Sisters of St. Joseph's deserve great credit for the splendid work they have done for parochial schools in this city. The present staff of teachers came here three years ago. Their school is now among the best in the country. The people of St. Mary's appreciate their efforts and are proud to have them remain to continue their good work.

The annual exercises of the Academy of Our Lady of Angels were held Thursday evening, the 21st inst., four young ladies completing the four year course, receiving academic diplomas and the gold medal awarded graduates of the institution. The exercises were held in the auditorium of the Academy, the spacious hall being crowded to the doors, with friends of the pupils. The program rendered was varied and of an excellent character, reflecting much credit on the good nuns in charge. An operetta entitled "Miss Doremasia" was delightfully interpreted by a number of the young ladies. The elegantly decorated seats of honor and crowned the fair young graduates with wreaths. The class of 1900 was composed of Miss Carolyn E. Mogenhan, Miss M. Elizabeth Cleary, Miss Mary Camille O'Connor and Miss Mary A. Riffe. As a finishing school for young women the Academy of Our Lady of Angels enjoys a reputation for its thoroughness, the same branches being taught there as at the Elmira Free Academy, with the addition of many others not taught at the latter institution. The Academy will resume the first Monday in September.

The marriage of Miss Margaret Ford, daughter of Mrs. Catherine Ford, and Thos. McKel of Scranton, Pa., was celebrated at St. Patrick's church, Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock, in the presence of a large number of friends. Rev. Father Long performed the ceremony, which was followed by a reception, at the home of the bride's mother on East church street. The lawn festival given for the benefit of St. Peter and Paul's church, Wednesday and Thursday evenings was a splendid success, the spacious grounds being crowded with people both evenings. Refreshments and other refreshments were dispensed at several booths by the ladies, and the grounds were brilliantly illuminated. An orchestra discoursed music for dancing, and it is expected a good sum will be realized from the affair.

The handsome new club rooms of Elmira Council Knights of Columbus in the Connelly block have been taken possession of by the Knights. Complete lodge and society rooms have been laid out, with beautiful furnishings, making them as fine as any in the city. Degree work will be held for the first time in the new quarters, next Wednesday evening.

The first circus of the season visited Elmira on Monday last, when Wallace Bros. gave one of the best canvas performances ever witnessed in this city. A careful estimate of the attendance at the combined afternoon and evening performances places the number at 20,000 people.

Aurora.

A pretty wedding occurred at 9:30 o'clock Wednesday morning at St. Patrick's church, Aurora, when Henry L. Hickey, and Miss Ella Mullaley of Aurora, were united in holy matrimony, by the Rev. John Neilligan, pastor of the church. At the hour appointed for the ceremony the church was filled with many friends of the young couple. The bride was becomingly gowned in white. Thomas Tierney, cousin of the groom, acted as best man, and Miss Bessie Mullaley, sister of the bride, acted as bridesmaid. The ushers were Chas. McDowell of Auburn, and Thomas Quinn of Aurora. Nuptial mass was celebrated, during the services Miss Julia Neilligan of Cayuga, rendered a vocal solo in a delightful manner. The church was decorated with exquisite taste for the occasion. At 2 o'clock a reception was held at the home of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Hickey left on the late train for a short wedding journey. They will take up their residence at Union Springs after July 1st.

THE FASHES

"What!" cried the labor leader, as he entered the house. "No supper yet?" "No," replied his wife calmly. "You will recall that I began work at 6 o'clock this morning. What has that to do with it?" he demanded. "My eight-hour watch expired at 2 o'clock this afternoon," she answered. —Chicago Post.

"Yes," said Mrs. Minningcamp; "I induced my husband to go to Monte Carlo, and he lost half his fortune. I'm very thankful." "Thankful?" "Yes. He was bent on having himself elected senator. Why he wouldn't have had a dollar left!" —Puck.

"People generally haven't much sense." "What do you mean?" "Why when I was too sick to eat, all my friends sent me lots of fruit and other delicacies, but by the time I could eat, they all quit." —Chicago Record.

Mrs. Wiggles—I noticed that your husband put ten dollars on the plate at church Sunday. Mrs. Waggle's—Yes. I noticed it, too. He must have done an awful mean thing in business to somebody last week. —Somerville Journal.

"Servant—shall I leave the hall lamp burning?" Mrs. Jaggsby—No. Mr. Jaggsby won't be home until daylight. He kissed me five times before he left this morning, and gave me $20 for a new bonnet. —Chicago News.

"They say the cheap magazines may have to be discontinued, because the price of paper has gone up." "Indeed? Who is responsible for the rise?" "Oh, I suppose some philanthropist." —Life.

"Have you a family tree?" they asked. She laughed in a calm, supercilious way. "A family tree?" she exclaimed. "One family tree! Why, we have just bought a plantation that has no fewer than eight orchards!" —Chicago Evening Post.

Mr. Dopps—Mrs. Dopps your new frock is trailing on the ground. Mrs. Dopps—I don't care if it is. I'm not going to hold it up until I get a silk petticoat. —Indianapolis Journal.

"How did you finally break your husband of smoking in the parlor?" "I threatened to make a smoking jacket for him myself if he didn't quit." —Hartford Courant.

First Chicken—Me father came from Shanghai. Second Chicken—Hub! that's nothing. Me mother was an oil stove from Paris. —Frank Leslie.

To the individual worth $250,000, one fifth of 25 cent piece is a quarter of a million. If you do not see the point immediately, think it over—it's there. —Chicago News.

Friend—They say that our campaign material is a pack of malicious lies. Politician—Not exactly. It's a mixture of malicious lies and malicious truth. —Puck.

"Do you believe that the meek shall inherit the earth?" "Well, it stands to reason they never can get it unless by inheritance." —Town Topic.

LITTLE CLASSICS.

The man who does immortal work, develops himself. Here have I, living in Norway, been trying to grow a palm tree because I saw that African palms were good. And each new frost cut down afresh my poor, puny sprout. My wretched seedling had to contend with a great, strong, frost-defying pine that kept springing up. It has only recently dawned on me that I must grow my own pine. It is the timber for my soul. What a tree I might have had now had I realized this ten years ago! This is, then, my theory. I have something which no one else in the world has. It may be a little thing, but it is mine. It is my pine tree, and I must grow it. It will, at least, be always a living thing. —Ernest Seton-Thompson.

Every good act is charity. Giving water to the thirsty is charity; removing stones and thorns from the road is charity; exhorting your fellow men to virtuous deeds is charity; smiling in your brother's face is charity; putting a wanderer in the right path is charity. A man's true wealth is the good he does in this world. When he dies, mortals will ask, "What property has he left behind him?" But angels will inquire, "What good deeds hast thou sent before thee?" —Mohammed.

The community has no bribe that will tempt a wise man. You may raise money enough to tunnel a mountain, but you cannot raise money enough to hire a man who is minding his own business. An efficient and valuable man does what he can, whether the community pay him for it or not. The inefficient offer their inefficiency to the highest bidder and are forever expecting to be put into office. —Henry David Thoreau.

If in youth the universe is malestically unrelenting, and everywhere heaven revealing itself on earth, nowhere to the young man does this heaven on earth so immediately reveal itself as in the young maiden. —Thomas Carlyle.

With every exertion the best of men can do but a moderate amount of good; but it seems in the power of the most contemptible individual to do incalculable mischief. —Washington Irving.

Be frank and explicit. That is the right line to take when you wish to conceal your own mind and to confuse the mind of others. —Beaconfield.

For thy life is our way, and by the path of holy patience we walk toward thee, who are our crown. —Thomas a Kempis.

Women, like men, may be persuaded to confess their faults; but their follies, never. —Alfred de Musset.

Courage consists not in blindly overlooking danger, but in seeing it, and conquering it. —Jean Paul Richter.

God is so great that he communicates greatness to the least thing that is done for his service. —John Wesley.

Why all this toil for triumphs of an hour? What though we wade in wealth or soar in fame, Earth's highest station ends in "Here he lies." And "Dust to dust" concludes her ne plus est song. —Young.

ABOUT VICE PRESIDENTS

Before the expiration of John Adams' term, 1801, there was no ex-president living, Washington having died in December, 1799.

During Jefferson's administration Adams was the ex-president. Both died on the same day, July 4, 1826. Both were ex-presidents during the administration of Madison and Monroe and a part of the administration of J. Q. Adams.

When Monroe was president the three ex-presidents were Adams, Jefferson and Madison.
