It is sincerely to be hoped that the tastes of the American public will soon turn from the nauseating plays and the nasty books that are all the "go" nowadays.

A writer in the New York Herald admits that the most successful missionary church in China has been the Catholic, the native converts of which number more than those of all other denominations combined.

Readers will remember the trial of Theodore Durrant, who was hanged in California a few years ago for the murder of two young women.

Right Rev. Bishop-elect Moeller has given notice of his acceptance of the Bishopric of Columbus, and the date has been set for his consecration.

Persons who wish to make the nine consecutive First Fridays are reminded that as the first Friday in April, 1901, is Good Friday, they can not make this devotion without interruption until after that date, unless they began yesterday.

CATHOLIC CHURCH NEVER CLOSED.

Several Boston clergymen answered the question proposed in the Sunday Globe, "Are the Churches Closed Too Much?"

To a Catholic who believes that the Catholic Church is the true Church of Christ, and that it is charged with the mission of eternal salvation to all mankind, there can be no cessation of the labor of the priests of Christ and the salvation of the flock.

The eternal cry comes forth from heaven, "Watchman, what of the Night?" And the priest of God is bound, in season and out of season, to give answer to the call, for the call is of a soul.

Whether this call come in the brightness of the day or the darkness of midnight, the priest of the Catholic church hears the call of the soul which is about to depart from this life to meet its eternal Lord and Judge.

The command of Christ, "Watch and pray, for ye know not the hour," knows no time or season, circumstance or person, and must be attended to as strictly in the morning as the evening, summer or winter, while the world shall last.

Why? Because it is the salvation of a soul for whom Christ died. For Christ has said, "I will come as a thief in the night, and at what hour you do not think the Son of Man shall come."

THE GOSPELS

GOSPEL.—July 8.—Fifth Sunday after Pentecost, St. Matt. v. 20-24.—At that time, Jesus said to his disciples: "For I tell you, that unless your justice abound more than that of the scribes and Pharisees you shall not enter into the kingdom of heaven."

You have heard that it was said to them of old: Thou shalt not kill, and whosoever shall kill shall be in danger of the judgment. But I say to you, that whosoever is angry with his brother shall be in danger of the judgment.

What are we to learn from this gospel? We are to learn that to enter into the kingdom of heaven we must be really and not apparently good; that is, we must have an upright heart animated by charity and subject in all things to the holy law of God.

Mr. W. W. Barnard, whose advertisement appears in another column of THE JOURNAL, and who is well and favorably known to the citizens of Rochester and vicinity, has recently purchased the store at 148 State street, formerly conducted for so many years by James O. Howard.

The New York Central will run one of their popular $2 excursions to the Thousand Islands on Sunday, July 8th. A fast special train will leave State street station at 8.30 a. m., and from Brinker place at 8.32.

Use Allen's Foot-Powder in Your Gloves. A lady writes: "I shake Allen's Foot-Powder into my gloves and rub a little on my hands. It saves my gloves by absorbing perspiration. It is a most dainty toilet powder."

THE A. O. H.

STATE CONVENTION TO BE HELD AT SYRACUSE

State Secretary Patrick J. Enright has issued his official call to the delegates who are to attend the state convention of the Ancient Order of Hibernians to be held in Syracuse, commencing on Tuesday, July 17, and continuing until the 20th.

We hail with sincere pleasure the splendid growth and development of the Ladies' Auxiliaries, and desire to impress upon all delegates the need of giving these earnest assistants in our great work the benefit of their matured experience, so that the society of our sisters in the cause of faith and motherland may be helped and encouraged to further good results.

The county president, W. H. McDonald, and the officers of the county board attended our last meeting, as did also P. Cullen, president of Division 1. Capt. Quilivan and Lieut. Dollen of the Hibernian Rifles were present, and added greatly to the pleasures of the evening.

Two propositions for membership were received, and over 150 tickets were sold to those who are going to the state convention, and it will be no fault of Division 2 if their county president is not the next state president, and the convention a grand success, as they are determined to act as a unit in securing the election of Bro. McDonald.

Some men will look at the above title and laugh at what they term presumption and vanity. But the fact is, some women, too, are not a little proud of their own. They are proud of their own, and they are proud of their own, and they are proud of their own.

The Rochester delegates are: Division No. 1, J. P. Hayden; division No. 2, Martin B. O'Neil; division No. 3, Stephen J. McLaughlin; division No. 4, Thomas J. Sommers; division No. 5, John S. Burns; division No. 6, Joseph P. Redding; division No. 8, James Burns; Hibernian Rifles, Charles J. Dollen; Hibernian Knights, Thomas P. Loughney.

The Hibernian Rifles and the Hibernian Knights, the local uniformed bodies, accompanied by the members of the eight local divisions will go to Syracuse on the second day of the convention to take part in the parade. They will march to the New York Central Station in a body, taking the 8.30 a. m. train for Syracuse.

The regular monthly business meeting of the company was held at headquarters, and previous to the meeting the company held a short drill, and the members themselves were surprised at the large attendance, there being so many of the young men in line that it was almost impossible to crowd them all into the large drill hall.

prise and carry off the honors of the day at the Saline city on July 18th. A delegation of ladies from Auxiliary 3, D. of E., were present and witnessed the drill, expressing themselves as highly pleased with the evolutions, and extending an invitation to Capt. Quilivan and the company to attend a lawn fete to be given by them on July 9th, which was accepted, and all the members assured the lady visitors that they would be there without fail.

First Lieutenant J. Cullen was able to visit headquarters, and we hope he will soon be able to take command again; we were all pleased to see that the accident he met with will not prevent him from assuming command of the company at the convention.

appears had a legal bent, and this bearing is evidenced in so many places that a book has been published under the title of "Shakespeare as a Lawyer."

Even now I have gone deeper in my first paper than I originally intended, for to begin well according to all rules, I should have generalized.

I was speaking of the trial I attended only a week ago. Many of you perhaps heard of it in the papers, many of you perhaps did not read it because you would not stoop. Well, all I can say is that if you had heard those men argue, one for the protection of the laws, and the other for the life, or rather against the life imprisonment of his client, you would have sighed just as I did, and asked how soon there would be more.

When I think of all these poor lawyers expected to know, it reminded me of Cyrano's description of Copernicus: "Philosopher, metaphysician, "Rhymer, brawler and musician."
