The New York Times tells of an incident that shows how large ocean steamships have become: "Once a little immigrant boy, about 7 years old, was lost for four days on the voyage over. He left his mother and started in quest of adventure about the big ship, but upon growing tired was unable to find his way back to her. Instead of asking some one to show him where to go, or telling that he was lost, the young truant decided to continue his explorations indefinitely. When found he was sleeping in an empty box down among the engines. One of the crew took him to the captain, who detailed six stewards to search for his mother. They found her with some difficulty, and discovered that she, too, had been lost, having started alone to get to her own part of the ship again."

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have such faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address, F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. We mortals sometimes cut a pitiable figure in our attempts at display, yet fatally ignorant of the point of view from which we are regarded by our neighbor. Our fine patterns in tailoring may be far from throwing him into a swoon of admiration, though we turn ourselves all around to show them.

Every man will have the power he earns, and the power that he has will tell, not because people like it or like him, but because it is power, and as such can keep itself erect without having a crick in the neck, and keep itself dry without having an umbrella spread over its head.

A mind in the grasp of a terrible anxiety is not credulous of easy solutions. The one stay that bears up our hopes is sure to appear frail, and if looked at long will seem to totter.

Bravery may be cultivated. Showing spirit of courage in the minor affairs of life trains us to be strong in the great crises.

He who neglects himself is to that extent weak. If he exhaust his energies they diminish; if he strains them still more by continued endeavor, they grow yet feebler. Discouragement follows, difficulties surround him, and he has no adequate strength to cope with them; still less has he any reserve of power for active enjoyment, or to promote the happiness of others. Perhaps he began by a sense of obligation to others and a willingness to sacrifice much for their sakes; but he has mistaken the road, and has involved in his own misery those for whom he toiled.
