ROSCOMMON.

Roscommon County, in common with the rest of Ireland, has suffered very grave loss of crops by the recent extraordinary storm of wind and rain. Up to early in August the prospects for a most abundant harvest were , numerous; but then the weather changed, and the outlook is now ex-, tremely gloomy. It will be impossia his for farmers to meet their engagements to the landlords this year.

The United Irish League is increasand the number of its branches in this country. It will soon be as strong as the Land League was in the days of | of the Bakers' Association "Buckshot" Foster. Roscommon was a siways well to the front in all the s struggles for the improvement of the conditions of the people, and will not be behind in the present great fight for "The land for the People."

KILDARE.

At the meeting of the Athy District Council on August 1 a report was read, from Dr. Darby, Monasterevan, stating that fifteen human skeletons had been taken out of a gravel pit on the lands of Mr. Denis Fitzpatrick, Rickardstown. The skeletons were found in a space of two square perches, and the bones were from fourteen to eighteen inches below the surface. Men who work in the pit aver that it contains many more.

Died .- July 31, at Killyguire House, Rathangan, Stephen Murphy, aged 50 years. Funeral on Aug. 2, immediately after Solemn Requiem Mass. At Allenwood, Patrick Callen, aged 81 years. Interment at Allen. Funeral numerously attended.

A large tract of turf bank about 40 perches by 30, situated at Kilberry, on the property of Mr. Arthur Robert Verschoyle, on Aug. 2 was separated from the main bog and split into immense blocks. The face of the bank, which was 18 or 20 feet deep, has moved down some distance, while the level, or cutaway bog, on which an immense quantity of newly cut torr was placed to dry, was raised up a distance of six, eight and ten feet. In places there are large natural channels, through which water is flowing in strong volume. A very large quantity of turf in process of being saved has been destroyed. A number of persons were working on the bank on Thursday, and had the collapse taken place then lives would have been lost. The people living in the vicinity are greatly alarmed, fearing a greater movement of the miles of bog between Athy and Kildare railway stations.

set in. The Desecration of Tara .-- On Aug. 8 the members of the Royal Archeological Society of England, holding their annual gathering in Dublin, went to Trim and the Hill of Tara. The time allotted to the visit to Tara was very short, and was devoted to examining the excavations recently made there. Mr. Robert Cochrane read a description of the hill from a pamphlet prepared by the Antiquarian Society for Anglo-Free Mason, stated that by the traditions of Anglo Free Masonry the Ark of the Covenant was deposited on the hill of Tara. He claimed to be guided by Anglo Israelites. Mr. Cochrane proceeded to discuss the claims of the person in question, and said the only place discovered was a stone chamber which apparently looked to be a kitchen. Sir Henry Howorth, the president of the institute, proposed a vote of thanks to Mr. Cochrane.
