CONNAUGHT.

GALWAY.

Mr. Patrick Jenings, principal teacher, Craughwell, Male School, has been promoted to the First Divis on . of First Class. This is the highest grade of a National teacher. The examination lasted a week, and embraced sixteen subjects. Mr. Jennings scored high marks, particularly in Trigonometry, light and sound, magnetism and electricity and mechanics. On Sept. 23 the residence of Mr. James McDonnell. Waterslade House. Tuam, was the scene of an interesting function. The occasion was the presentation of an illuminated address and a massive silver epergne to Mr. McDonnell on the occasion of his re-_cent marriage.

The Most Rev. John MacEvilly. archbishop of Tuam, was the oldest Archbishop at the recent Synod of Maynooth, at which he celebrated the closing Mass. He was the only one . of the assembled ecclesiastics who attended the Synod of Thurles and the Vatican Council. Dr. MacEvilly was porn at Louisburgh in 1817. He was student of the Dunboyne Establishment for three years. He was professor and president of the Diocesan College, and in 1857 Bishop of Galway. He was elected coadjutor Arch-Molshop of Tuam in 1876. He has written an English commentary on the New Testament.

Most Rev. Dr. Healy, Bishop of Clonfert, Sept. 23 solemnly laid the solundation of the new convent and schools of the Sisters of Mercy at Woodford. The site upon which the convent buildings are to be erected is a picturesque one. High Mass was celebrated at 12 o'clock at which Rev. Mother Stanislaus, Sister Mary Vincent, superioress, and other members sof the community were present, and at which a large congregation assist d. The Most Rev. Dr. Healy, Bishop of Clonfert, pontificated. Very Rev. Mgr. Madden assisted at the throne.

We deeply regret to chronele the death of Mr. Peter Sweeney, County Councillor, Loughrea, which occurred en Sept. 13 from injuries sustained by fall off his bicycle. On Thursday evening the funeral took place from the Pro-Cathedral, where the remains reposed on a catafalque before the High Altar since the evening before. Lang before the hour fixed for the fumeral the streets adjacent to the Pro-Cathedral were packed with people. and when the sad procession slowly wended its day to the Garrybreeda exemetery, one could not help being impressed with the mighty come rse and the air of sadnes: that prevaled. LIt was then one could realize the great loss sustained in the death of the great Irishman, and how keenly rich and poor felt the loss. Ever slove he and accident great gloom prevailed in the town and country, and on all sides nothing was spoken of but the terrible accident that deprived the secople of one of the ablest and most devoted champions that Galway ever ave to the National e. At 11 o'clock Solemn Requir igh Mass was charted, at which the Rev Fath-Bowes, St. Brendan's Seminary, irwas celebrant; Rev. Father Egan, Dunity, deacon: Hev. Fatner Bryan,

MAYO We regret to chronicle the death of TMr. Patrick McNally, aged 58 years, et Knockboy, Kilmeena, which Occurred Oct.1. The funeral was one of the largest seen in the district for years, and bore testimony to the esteem in which he was held. Rev. Father Walsh, C. C., Kilmeena, officiated at the grave. Mr. George Orme Malley, Queen's Councillor, who died recently in Dub. in at an advanced age, was a Mayo man, and father of the Connaught Bar. He held the offices of senior crown prosecutor for the counties of Galway and Sligo. Educated at T. C. D., he was called to the Bar in Dublin in 1843. In 1868 he took silk, and continued to enjoy an expensive practice. His one venture in political life was in 1985 when he contested, as a Unionist, a Mayo divsion against Mr. J. F. X. O'Brien. He got 75 votes, while Mr. O'Brien received 5,000, a state of inflairs which is eloquent of the feelings of that part of Mavo.

On Oct. 4 a wedding took place at Westport church. Mr. James King, en of Mr. Edward King, Octagon, Westport, was married to Miss Maria neven Rosbeg Villa, Westport. Mr. ty. King is well and favorably known in Westport from his childhood, and a very large number of the young men and women witnessed the marriage peremony. Nuptial Mass was celebrated by Father McCarthy. The bridesmaids were Miss B. A. Gavan, sister of the bride, and Miss H. King, wister of the bridegroom. The bride was wiven away: by her cousin, Mr. P. J. Kally Octagon, Westport, and Mr. codward King, brother of the bride-groom acted as best man. After the weakle and a large circle of friends
