WEIS & FISHER CO.,

Rich Rookwood.

Our west window display of Rookwood Ware is particularly timely. People are now re-arranging their home interiors, and the prevalence of weddings creates a brisk demand for bridal gifts. The artistic beauty of Rookwood, its individuality and the wide range of prices at which it is furnished have united to give it a wide and growing popularity.

There are no duplicates in Rookwood, and imitations have utterly failed. To varied artistic intention are to be added all the artistic accidents of firing, so that one cannot strictly classify this ware with its ever-changing decorative motives, color harmonies and glazes. Our present assortment is the largest we have ever shown (we have the exclusive sale in Rochester), and contains many specimens of the newest effects obtained by the conscientious artists to whose efforts the fame of Rookwood Ware is due.

GLENNY'S

Wilton Carpets.

We are showing nearly two hundred patterns of these goods in various designs, many of them copied from Oriental rugs, in dark, rich colorings, for libraries, dining rooms, halls and stairs, others in medium colorings, with many in light colors, in pink and other delicate shades, for reception rooms and chambers. No other house in America can show so large and choice a line of these fine goods. For fine furnishings they are now, and have been for many years, the most desirable carpets in the market. Prices at the bottom. Carpets cleaned and relaid on short notice.
