Writing With Diamonds.

"Don't write there," said a father to his son, who was writing with a diamond on the window. "Why not?" "Because you can't rub it out."

Did it ever occur to you, fathers and mothers, that in every word you utter to your little ones you are writing with a diamond lines that can never be rubbed out? Remember the words of Froebel that the first seven years of a child's life determine its character.—Exchange.

Religion.

Reason knows that man becomes dwarfed the moment he loses hold of God, and that the bond between him and God—religion—ceases to be religious if it discards its sovereign attributes. If it declines from doctrinal truth and becomes but literature, philosophy or art, it can do nothing more for man.

Our Refuge.

Oh, blessed, beautiful ideal of the perfect! The lowest can look up to thee; the fallen are not turned away. Looking at thy face, our weary world is becoming slowly transfigured, changed from the false to the true, from oppression to justice, from bondage to liberty, from war to peace, from hatred to love.

Archbishop Ireland recently wrote to a friend: "My chosen friend when I have the time to be amused is Horace. He is the poet of the Augustan age who best suits our own."

Cardinal Gibbons has gone abroad. His eminence will be away three or four months. On his present trip Cardinal Gibbons will make his annual visit to Rome and pay his homage to the pope.

Father Rooker, secretary of the papal legation in Washington, has been designated chamberlain to the pope. The appointment carries with it the title of monsignore, and makes its bearer a member of the pontifical household, but it will not have the effect of taking Father Rooker from Washington.

NEW DIocese OF ALTOONA.

NEW DIocese OF ALTOONA.

Vicar-General Garvey, of the Scranton Diocese Will Be Its First Bishop.

The Rt. Rev. E. A. Garvey, Vicar-General of the Scranton diocese, Monsignor of the Papal Household, and pastor of St. John's parish, Pittston, Pa., received the official bull from Rome last Tuesday afternoon appointing him Bishop of the newly created diocese of Altoona, Pa.

The document was accompanied by no information in regard to the territory to be included in the new diocese, but the Monsignor says this is no doubt in the hands of Cardinal Gibbons. The investiture will take place in St. Peter's Cathedral, Scranton, in the early part of September, the date being set as early as possible in order that the new Bishop may assist in the arrangements of details in the formation of the diocese.

Bishop Garvey is one of the best-known clergymen of Pennsylvania. His name on three previous occasions has been suggested for Bishopric appointments in the State. During his two years pastorate in Pittston he has accomplished the erection of two chapels in suburban portions of the parish and has been a hard worker for the temperance cause, including over 700 members of his parish to take the pledge.

JEW CONVERT AND JESUITS.

A Law in the Constitutions Directed By St. Ignatius Loyola.

St. Ignatius of Loyola, who had intimate knowledge of the Jews and Mohammedans in Spain, directed in his constitutions that no Jew convert in the third or fourth generation should be admitted to the Society of Jesus, writes James R. Randall in The Catholic Columbian. Two or three times in reference to papal authority, the society has suspended this rule, but always disastrously, manifesting that the saint made no mistake.

A Jesuit Father gave a remarkable illustration drawn from his own experience. He said: "When I was at one of our houses in Austria, there came to us from the Orient a missionary priest of our order who bore an English name, but had changed it from a Hebrew one. He was of an illustrious family. At the period I treat of he was about 50 years old, a man of imposing presence, great erudition and singularly gifted as a linguist. He had been long in Asia and, from habit, did not ordinarily use a chair, but sat on the floor, cross-legged like an Ottoman. His lectures to the novices were so full of zeal, unction and eloquence that our young men were fired with enthusiasm to go forth into pagan or heretical lands to win back souls to Christ and His Church. Yet this apostolic priest met a great while afterward abandoned the society, broke his vows, married and became a diplomatic officer of a European government. This was a dreadful fall, but before he died he was sincerely penitent and passed away in the peace of God, but not a Jesuit."

A CATHOLIC JOURNAL MAKES ITS APPEARANCE IN FAR OFF ALASKA.

Among the very latest additions to the ranks of Catholic journalism is the Yukon Catholic. The first issue has made its appearance at Dawson. It will begin in a modest but very sensible way as a monthly and as soon as the encouragement and conditions warrant, it will appear as a weekly. This certainly shows the best of judgment on the part of the publisher, Rev. P. E. Gendreau, O. M. I., who has already accomplished great results for the Church in the Yukon. The initial number is quite neat in its make-up and full of interesting matter, and all that any Catholic needs.

RECTOR OF THE IRISH COLLEGE.

The rectorship of the Irish College, Rome, has been filled by the appointment of the Very Rev. W. H. Murphy, D. D., of the University Church St. Stephen's-green, Dublin. Mr. Kelly, the late rector, who has been chosen by the Holy See for the position of Coadjutor to Cardinal Moran, Archbishop of Sydney, is to be consecrated in the Church of St. Joachim, Rome, on Sunday, August 18th.

MGR. MERRY DEL VAL.

The Probable Successor of Cardinal Martinelli as Apostolic Delegate

Mgr. Merry Del Val, who has gone from Rome to London on a special mission for the Pope, has been all along considered by those who are supposed to know the most likely candidate for the succession to Cardinal Martinelli as Delegate Apostolic to the United States when the Cardinal leaves here for Rome.

Mgr. Del Val is not yet 40 and is one of the Pope's special and personal favorites. He is a titular Archbishop and President of the Academy of Nobles, where the Vatican diplomatists are trained. He has already served the Pope in several important trusts, notably in the work in connection with the decision on the validity of the Anglican orders and in the adjustment of the very difficult issues of the school question in Canada several years ago.

His appointment to Washington would no doubt be the first step to his reward of the red hat of a Cardinal, as the office of Apostolic Delegate to the United States has now come to be regarded as equal in rank with the Cardinalatial Nunciatures of Continental Europe, although not yet formally instituted as such.

Mgr. Del Val was born in England during the residence of his father there as Spain's representative. His mother was the daughter of the Count Torre Diaz, and he is on both sides related to the grandees of Spain. He was educated by the Jesuits at their famous college at Stonyhurst, England. He was admitted to the priesthood soon after the transfer of his father to Rome as the Spanish Ambassador to the Vatican, and was almost immediately made one of the private secretaries of the Pope, who made him reside with him in the Vatican.

In Rome he is regarded as one of the cleverest and most promising of the younger diplomatists. His familiarity with the English language and with Spanish, Italian and French, his life in England and in Canada would specially qualify him. It is thought, to succeed in Washington just at this time, when the question of the relations of the government with our new Spanish possessions have to be adjusted.

FRIEND OF CHRIST'S POOR.

A Pen Picture of a Saintry Puerto Rican Priest.

Writing from Puerto Rico to the New Orleans Picayune, a correspondent describes one of those awful Spanish priests, of whom the American press dispatches have implied so many nameless iniquities. Father Barrios is in charge of a church at Arecibo.

"In his parish," says the correspondent "are very many poor people. The good father holds a levee twice a week for the poor people of his parish, when they assemble in large numbers in front of his church doors to receive such alms as may be given them. Father Barrios, having supplied himself with small change, gives it out to them, until the last cent is gone, when he retires and the crowd disperses. He has also been known to give the clothes off his back to supply a poor, ragged being. He has also been known to take a book from his library and give it to a beggar, telling him to whom to go and dispose of it for a little money."

Father Barrios lives in a little room in the rear of his church, in order to save expenses, and of the 100 per month allowance he gets he is said to give at least 80 per cent. to the cause of charity. He is very unostentatious in his good works in all directions, and is universally beloved by every one in this parish."

FROM COURT TO CLOISTER.

Princess Becomes a Nun and Asks to Be Sent to China.

Donna Alfonsina Orsini, the beautiful daughter of Prince Don Filippo Orsini and Countess Julia Hoyos, solemnly abjured the world and all its vanities and entered the Convent of the Franciscan Missionary Sisters, in the Via Machiavelli, Rome, one of the poorest of the orders. Her parents having refused to give their consent, the determined young lady waited for her twenty-first birthday, which she celebrated by taking the veil. Roman society is deprived of one of the most lovely, gifted and noble of its members.

Don Filippo Orsini is one of the two Princes Assistant at the Papal Throne (the other being Prince Colonna), and as such had even implored the Pope to dissuade his daughter from putting her plans into execution.

Leo XIII., in fact, summoned Donna Alfonsina to the Vatican and had a long interview with the young princess and her mother, but failed to shake the former's resolution. After the usual probationary period the noble young nun will be sent, at her own request, to one of the order's missions in China.

REMAINS REMOVED TO ENGLAND FROM FRANCE.

The remains of King Edward the Martyr, the last king of the East Angles, who reigned from 855 to 870, have been returned to England after a sojourn in France of more than seven hundred years.

They reached Arundel last night in charge of Mgr. Del Val, Archbishop of Nicaea, Asia Minor, and were placed in the private chapel of the Duke of Norfolk pending final interment in the shrine being prepared for their reception in the new Catholic Cathedral in Westminster.

The body, after burial at Hoxne, was re-interred at Bury St. Edmund, from which place it was carried off to France by Louis VII. Through the good offices and personal intervention of the Pope, the relics are now returned to England.

HAIL MARY.

Hail, Mary, full of grace!
The south sea human tongue can trace;
Not even heaven's noblest saint
Thy virtues bright can truly paint
Nor cherub in the court above
Can comprehend the boundless love
The Man God does on these bestow
Who imitate thee here below.

Hail, Mary, full of grace!
Far from my path the tempter chases
Teach me thy subtle ways to shun,
Teach me to love and serve thy Son
And keep inviolate his law;
From earth to heaven my thoughts withdraw
That I may serve the Lord alone
And for offenses past atone.

Hail, Mary, full of grace!
Thou art my heart my place;
So, thou defend me dare assail;
Beneath thy glance the demons quail.
Then, gracious Mother, lend thine aid
So when my words and acts are weighed
I may be judged by power divine
Not quite a worthless child of thine.

Hail, Mary, full of grace!
Not worthy to behold thy face,
My soul by many crimes is filled,
But from henceforth thy faithful child,
To grace and virtue newly born,
The virtues which my queen adorn
I'll practice, treading constantly
The path that leads to heaven and thee.

—John McDonald in Weekly Bouquet.
