THE BISHOP'S LETTER.

Circular Letter Relating to the Grant of Degrees by the Holy Father.

The annual letter addressed by Bishop McQuaid to the clergy and laity of the Rochester diocese was read last Sunday in all the churches. The letter calls attention to the needs of St. Bernard's seminary, and will be read in the churches again on the first Sunday in October, when the annual collection for the seminary will be taken throughout the diocese.

A most interesting announcement is made by the bishop relative to the grant made by the Pope to confer degrees. Says the bishop in his letter on this point:

"The second great event in the history of St. Bernard's is the pontifical brief, granting to the bishop of Rochester and to his successors in perpetuity, the power of conferring academic degrees in philosophy and theology on talented and studious students of this seminary. This extraordinary favor came from the Holy Father through the Sacred Congregation of the Propaganda after careful examination of the merits of the claim put forth by ourselves on the occasion of our visit ad limina last summer.

"Our Holy Father, Pope Leo XIII., received our request with sympathetic attention, the Sacred Congregation of the Propaganda after making diligent inquiries from many persons and from places, and finally reported favorably to the Holy Father. It is particularly gratifying to be able to say that our present apostolic delegate, Cardinal Martinelli, had good words to say of St. Bernard's when questioned by the Propaganda.

"Two facts helped our case. It became known in Rome that the cause of Catholic education for Catholic children stood well in the diocese of Rochester; that everywhere, as far as possible, our children were gathered into schools distinctively Catholic. This was fact one. Fact two was that the diocese of Rochester, neither numerous in population, nor rich in financial resources, had built, equipped and put in good working order such a seminary as St. Bernard's; that many of its professors had been prepared in advance in the best theological schools in Europe and were ready for their work when the time came for the opening of its classes. Ecclesiastical authorities thought that such zeal, generosity and loyalty to the principles of Catholic education on the part of the priests and people ought to meet with recognition; that in their unflagging zeal and active support there was a sure guarantee of stability for the seminary, and a laudable ambition for high studies on the part of its students. We frankly confess that we almost feared to receive so distinguished a privilege, being deeply conscious of the obligations incurred, of the serious responsibilities entailed, and of the necessity of answering the exalted expectations of our friends throughout the country. The trust reposed in us by the Holy Father and the Propaganda will spur us on to do our best, and demonstrate this trust was not misplaced.

"It is not in our mind to distribute degrees liberally, or to ordinary students. Such a method would deprive degrees of value and make their holder a laughing stock. They will be granted only to students of St. Bernard's who shall have maintained a high standard in all their classes and after full, and exacting oral and written examinations. What we contended for in Rome was that, when we had in our seminary's singularly gifted student, whose ability and studiousness marked him for rewards, it should be in our power to bestow academic honors and rewards without having to go great distances, or into other countries to obtain them.

"The special advantage to be gained by the possession of this privilege will be found in the stimulation on the part of students and professors to more strenuous exertion to attain the high standard they may be called upon to reach. We have students of much more than average intellectual capacity needing for the full development of their capacity for work the incentive now placed before them."

The Pan American Pedro club and friends, numbering about fifty, held their annual picnic on the beautiful grounds of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Friedman's home on the Ridge road in Greece. Tables were set on the lawn, sports and games indulged in, and a very enjoyable time was had by all.

Try the Central's New Train to the Pan-American Exposition.
