LOOK OUT FOR HIM.

Reports have been coming to this office for the past week that a person representing himself to be an advertising solicitor for the "The Journal" has been swindling business people in this city. We have repeatedly warned our patrons against the alleged practice of paying money to strange strangers who, when asked to give a receipt for money, invariably produce an ordinary receipt that can be purchased at any book store. Our receipts and bill heads are in a printed form and if you are approached by a person who does not produce either, don't pay him until you find out whether he is authorized to collect or not. You can do this immediately by calling up Rochester Telephone 2353 or addressing a letter to this office.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL C. M. B. A.

The regular monthly meeting of this organization was held at the rooms of Council 27 Cathedral hall, on Thursday evening. There was a very large attendance, doubtless due to the new rule that five delegates be sent from each council, and when the roll was called the quarters of Council 27 were completely filled. Considerable business was transacted and several important motions acted upon that will be presented at the next Supreme Convention. Members of the Council were requested to prepare any amendments to the constitution that they may have in mind and present them in writing at the sessions of the Central Board. Supreme Trustees J. P. Henry was present and spoke eloquently of several good points that the C. M. B. A. hold over other associations. It was 10.30 before adjournment and take it altogether it was the liveliest meeting held by the Board in some time.

BRANCH 139, C. M. B. A.

The following resolutions were adopted by Branch 139, C. M. B. A. on the death of Brother Patrick McCall. The uncertainty of life and manner of death are brought to our notice in a most impressive manner by the sudden and tragic death of Brother Patrick McCall. In the full vigor of health and the enjoyment of a contented life he was instantly hurled into eternity.

As a member of our order he was not aggressive, but quiet, peaceful and submissive; always agreeable and ever thoughtful of the feelings of others; no selfish act or unkind word ever marred his record here. He loved his fellow men and the whole tenor of his life was in perfect accord with the spirit of fraternalism.

To us the loss occasioned by his death is that of a true and representative member; in his home the loss is that of a devoted husband, a kind and affectionate father; there his kindness was best known and appreciated; there his unfortunate death is a calamity difficult to endure. To the surviving members of his family we tender our sincere sympathy in this time of sorrow.
