Character in Umbrellas. One's character is said to be revealed with infallible accuracy by the way he holds and carries an umbrella. One enthusiast, who has made a study of the public's umbrella manners, has announced that he would want no better guide in choosing his wife than to watch her furl and carry her umbrella.

Butterflies and Birds. Of all the "children of the air" that gladden a June day the monarch butterfly is one of the most noticeable. Its wings shimmer like gold alloyed with copper as it pursues its lazy flight in the sunshine.

Speed of Dogs. Greyhounds are the swiftest dogs known, and scientists say that they are the swiftest of all four footed animals. Trained hounds can travel at the rate of eighteen to twenty-three yards a second, which is about the speed attained by a carrier pigeon.

He Waited. "What were you doing at the time of your arrest?" asked the magistrate of the prisoner. "I was waiting." "Waiting for whom?" "Just waiting." "What were you waiting for?" "To get my money."

When the Day Went to Sleep. Once upon a time from behind the curtain of darkness came smiling day and, wrapped in the gray dawn, took its bath in the sparkling dew. Then its morning garment was changed to cloth of gold, new made by the sun.

A Little Different. A clergyman, proceeding along a country lane a few miles from Glasgow, met a lad and in the course of some conversation asked him if he had ever been confirmed. "What be that, mister?" asked the lad, whereupon the gentleman said: "Has the bishop ever laid his hand upon you?"

Sun Spots. "And what is to be the subject of our lecture tomorrow night, professor?" "Well, my dear young lady, I can hardly hope it will have much interest for you. I shall lecture on 'sun spots.'"

WAYS OF THE SHAD.

Their Migrations and How They Live at Spawning Time. Shad fishing is hard and precarious work. The fisherman must count on having his clothes always soaked with icy April water. Often, too, the nets come in empty, and then there is nothing to do but to make another cast and hope for better luck.

WOMAN'S INFLUENCE.

The Average Mother is Serious, Unselfish and Loving. While it is a common theory that no matter what the father and husband may be, the mother and wife must rise superior to her environments, the fact remains that the home is as much the man's as the woman's, and he is relieved of none of his responsibilities because society assigns it to her as her special province.

The Parent of Wheat. The most remarkable fact concerning the queer plant, the goats-eye, is that it has been proved by experiment to be the parent of cultivated wheat. This fact was accidentally discovered by a French agriculturist. He wished to determine what effect cultivation would have upon the goats-eye and planted remote from any fields of grass that might mingle with it a few of the seeds.
