It is melancholy to note the contingents comprising young men and women in the bloom and vigor, literally the bone and sinew of the land."

He wanted to frighten Power, that was all.

The members of the Lismore branch of the Gaelic League celebrated the first anniversary of its existence by a grand Irish concert, which was held in the Courthouse on Oct. 9, and was an unqualified success. The committee spared no expense in securing the best Irish talent money could provide. The audience was large and appreciative, and the courthouse was tastefully decorated, while the stage and all the surroundings were thoroughly suggestive of Ireland. The programme opened with a chorus, "Muirín ní Chuilleanain," which was sung in a faultless manner by the convent school children, which reflected the highest credit on the good nuns of the Presentation Convent. "The Dear Little Shamrock" was sung by Mr. William Parker sang "The Green Isle of Erin" was sung with much taste by Miss Doyle. Mr. C. P. Hynes gave a beautiful violin solo, accompanied on the piano by Miss May O'Brien. Mr. "Jack" Rice, Tipperary, gave a recitation entitled "We are Not Conquered Yet," and he had to pay the usual penalty of reappearing when he sang a song of his own composition entitled "God Save Kruger," to the air of "God Save Ireland." An Irish hornpipe was excellently danced by Messrs Murphy and Morley, Cork, and was loudly and deservedly applauded. Mr. Patrick O'Shea's singing of "An Mairdin Ruadh" was so intensely good he had to respond to an imperative encore, when he sang "Come Back to Erin" in his usual good style. This concluded the first part of the programme and the interval was filled up by an address on the language revival by the Rev. Father O'Connell, Professor of Irish, St. Columba's College, Fermoy, which was most attentively listened to and frequently applauded. The second part was opened by the convent school girls singing the chorus "An Chruil," after which Mr. Purtil sang "When Shall the Day Break in Erin," and was loudly encored. A double Irish jig was danced in a graceful style by the boys of the Christian Brothers' school, whose careful training in the art of Irish dancing reflects the greatest credit on the courteous and erudite Superior of the schools and college, the Rev. Brother Walsh. "Druimíthíonn Donn Dillís" was sung by Miss Clancy after which Mr. Hynes gave another violin solo, which was well received. Miss Katie Parker sang "She is Far From the Land," Miss Doyle sang "The Old Maid Shawl," Mr. Patrick O'Shea sang "Caoin Chille Chais," and an Irish reel and jig were danced by Messrs Murphy and Morley, all of which items were warmly enjoyed after which Mr. Pat O'Shea sang "My Mary of the Curling Hair." Other items having been given, the singing of the splendid chorus, "Ban Chluic Eirinn Ogh," by the convent school girls brought a remarkably successful and enjoyable Irish concert to a close.
