All Black Evening Gown the Most Useful.

IT IS SMART FOR ALL OCCASIONS.

Some Simple Little Things Which Every Well Dressed Woman Should Have—Striking Features of Winter Tailoring.

When winter comes, the fashion of the evening gown is a most important one. It is not only a matter of taste, but of utility. The most useful and the most stylish is the all-black evening gown. It is simple, yet striking, and it is suitable for all occasions. The features of winter tailoring are also of great importance. The most striking features are the long, flowing lines of the dress, the use of rich materials, and the attention to detail in the construction.

DINNER DRESS.

preparation of chignon, besides having no suitable hair-dressing. The hair is styled in a simple, elegant manner, and the dress is a simple, elegant dinner dress.

If a girl has a good head, a good face, and a good heart, she ought to be able to make a good dinner dress. The dinner dress is a simple, elegant dress, and it is suitable for all occasions.

The corset of today seems to consist of nothing but a few strands of ribbon, but there is more to it than meets the eye, and never was the garment more difficult to make. There are certain things which every woman who aspires to be well dressed must spend her money on, namely her corsets, her headgear and her boots. Once she has these important accessories correct, she will find it wonderfully easy to appear well dressed at a small cost.

brocades the softer fabrics are certainly the most popular, while the all lace dress is never really out of fashion. A great deal of oriental embroidery is used both for day and evening wear. Colored cloth embroideries are extremely useful on cloth frocks. In fact, with the exception of gold braid, they are the only permissible trimming. Nothing is smarter for the morning gown of utility than the practical blue or black chevrot or rough goods simply made, heavily stitched and pressed, with the slightest touch of harmonious color introduced into the waistcoat revers or cuffs.

quite a different matter in the days of tightly boned bodices, but now a graceful figure can wear the simplest stuffs and designs and look better in them than many do in a French model frock. Yet never was dress more magnificent. Witness the gorgeous fur garments and evening wraps.

Exquisite wraps are pretty, while not expensive, and therefore will prove well come to the girl with a small allowance. Pale pasted cloths are also being used for this purpose. These wraps should not be made of heavy materials, but of the lightest possible fabric, and they should be long enough to cover the feet with fur.

One of the most important features of the winter tailoring is the use of rich materials. The most striking features are the long, flowing lines of the dress, the use of rich materials, and the attention to detail in the construction.

FASHIONABLE COLORS.

of green, as the winter colors are, are the most popular. The most striking features are the long, flowing lines of the dress, the use of rich materials, and the attention to detail in the construction.

There is a new style of orange which runs into pink, and it is said that it is considered the most popular. This will be especially popular, and extremely becoming, when combined with black.

Soft laces, fine creases and crepe de chine are all pressed into service for evening wear. Despite the use of some beautiful satins and silks, the new tailoring is a simple, elegant dinner dress.

If the Heart be True
All things can never go badly wrong
If the heart be true and the love be strong
For the mist if it comes and the weeping rain
Will be changed by love into sun shine again

A Hint for Barbers
We present here with a picture showing an improved way to thread a needle. By this method you take the needle between the middle and third fingers of the left hand, and between the third and fourth fingers, instead of between the first finger and the thumb, as in the old way. This brings the thumb and first finger directly behind the eye of the needle, ready to grasp hold of the end of the thread as soon as it is through the eye. Any one who has had experience with threading needles knows how hard it is to manage thread that is a little too large for the needle, and how often a slight twitch or tremor of the hand may shake the thread out after it has been inserted in the eye, and before the position of the hand can be changed so as to grasp the thread. By the improved method any thread that can be pushed through the needle's eye can be readily grasped and pulled through without failure.

A Guess
"This is the laundry," said the agent who was showing them through the house. "Here, you see, are stationary washtubs."
"Ah! Why do you call them stationary?" inquired the bride to be. "Is it because colored goods won't run in them?"—Philadelphia Press.

The Responsibility That Rests Upon Those With Children.

THE privilege and glory of motherhood is a responsibility that rests upon those who have children. It is a responsibility that is not only a burden, but a privilege. The mother is the one who is responsible for the upbringing of her children, and she must do so with care and attention.
