An interesting L. H. Military Department

By Dr. Father John O'Brien, a noble man, came to Lowell, Mass., to do the Master's work in St. Patrick's parish. In 1924, Father John as he was fondly known to his people, was attacked with a serious cold which developed into a stubborn cough and affliction of the lungs, caused the greatest alarm for the health of the beloved clergyman. Medical skill seemed unable to stay the progress of the disease. Finally an Eminent Specialist was consulted, who gave Father John a prescription to cure the cold and remove the lung trouble, as well as to build up and strengthen the body. The clergyman took the prescription in the old drug store of Carleton & Hovey, Lowell, Mass. the firmly whom Father John's Medicine is prepared. The cough soon disappeared and his people rejoiced when he declared that he had been made as well and strong as ever.

Father John recommended the medicine to his parishioners and friends, and thousands were made well and strong by taking it. In putting this prescription they always called for "Father John's Medicine," and so it was named by the people, and advertised all with the approval and sanction of Reverend Father O'Brien, because he knew of its merit and desired that all who were afflicted might benefit by its power to cure.

This old-fashioned, wholesome remedy is unequalled as a body builder and tonic. It restores health and strength to all run-down systems. Its gentle laxative effect strengthens the stomach and corrects the digestion. It drives out all impurities. It is a food medicine and contains only pure nourishment. It is not a patent medicine, and it is free from opium, morphine or poisonous drugs. In any form, which are found in the majority of patent preparations.

While it is not a "cough-syrup" or "balm" nothing equals this prescription for coughs, colds, bronchitis, asthma, consumption and all throat and lung troubles. It has a most soothing and healing effect, and at the same time builds up the body and makes strength. We have permitted to refer to the Sisters Superior at the following Homes and Hospitals, where Father John's Medicine is in use: Sisters of Charity, St. John's Hospital, Lowell, Mass.; Notre Dame de Lourdes Hospital, Manchester, N. H.; Sisters of Mercy, St. Patrick's Orphanage, Manchester, N. H.; and many others, the names of which we shall be pleased to furnish upon application. When you ask your druggist for Father John's Medicine, remember that the 31 bottles contain three times the quantity of the 50 cent size.

Father John's Medicine is for sale by the following Rochester druggists. Any druggist can get it for you: Bryan Drug House; Duke Drug Co.; H. B. Newman, 160 Jefferson Ave.; G. W. Jones, 199 Central Ave.; The Robbs Pharmacy, Clinton Ave.; and Andrew St. Clair, 173 Plymouth Ave.; F. W. Bennett, 689 Lake Ave.; Geo. Hehn, 561 Glen St.; A. C. Dempsey, 159 East Ave. If your druggist does not have it send $1 for a large bottle, express prepaid, Carleton & Hovey Co., Lowell, Mass. For Sale in Geneva by Dr. A. L. Swett, druggist, 60 Seneca St., and W. H. Partridge, 13 Seneca St.

There is a very intimate connection between the brain and the stomach. They must work harmoniously together. If the best results of both are to be obtained, brain action and continuous digestive emotions, such as worry and anxiety, almost always cause derangement of digestion by retarding the secretion of the fluids upon which digestion depends. On the other hand, food in insufficient or excessive quantities or the injudicious selection of indigestible food is frequently reflected upon the brain and shows itself by sluggishness of thought and diminution of mental vigor. The brain and the stomach cannot perform their functions to the best advantage at the same time.

During the process of digestion the stomach requires more blood than it does at other times, and a certain proportion of this extra supply is drawn from the brain. If, however, the brain is forced to work during the period of active digestion, the plasma will be deprived of a certain proportion of the blood it requires. Activity of the mind necessitates an increased flow of blood to the brain, and as the power of thought is to a certain extent controlled by the will, while the process of digestion is not, it naturally follows that when thought and digestion are carried on simultaneously the brain will always take the blood needed by the stomach. If this is a habitual occurrence, it soon leads to pronounced nervous and chronic dyspepsia. It is caused by irritation of the nervous system, incapacitates even an abnormally vigorous brain from accomplishing its best work.

"Like silly sheep"
"It takes a rancher to appreciate the expression 'Like silly sheep,'" declared a western cattleman. "I had several thousand sheep on my ranch at one time, but I was tired of raising them by their own stupid dummies. One time we were driving a flock to market when one of the leaders leaped into the air, and after the habit of sheep every one made a similar leap when it came to that spot. This is such a common trick with sheep that we thought nothing of it until we noticed that the sheep disappeared after dark. By quick work we stopped the performance and found that the
